TENANTS IN COURT WIN YEAR'S STAY UNDER NEW LAWS

Justice Robitzek Also Limits Rent Increases to 20 and 25 Per Cent.

A BLOW TO SPECULATORS

CHEERS GREET DECISIONS

Chairman Hilly of Mayor's Committee Explains Provisions of Law on Advances.

Justice Harry Robitzek, in the Bronx Municipal Court yesterday, invoked the full powers vested in the court by the new anti-rent profiteering laws when he granted stays of a year in eviction cases pending before him. He also fixed rents, allowing in some cases 20 per cent., and in other cases 25 per cent., over the rents of March, 1919.

The fixing of rents was a drastic blow to the landlords, who complained that their business was being taken out of their hands. It was a greater blow at the lessees, for in basing the increases on the rent of March, 1919, they found that in many cases no increases could be in order, as the rents had already gone up 25 per cent. and more in a year.

The decisions were said to be the first complete victories of tenants under the new laws, and it is expected that the other Justices will follow the example of Justice Robitzek.

In the cases before him Justice Robitzek said it was his purpose to grant reasonable increases over reasonable old rents, but no increases above the present inflated rents, and, in fact, reductions where they were possible. Lessees of tenement properties who have been buying houses, raising rents and then selling to fellow lessees who took similar action were dismayed when the decisions were announced. It was predicted that if the other Justices made similar rulings the tribe of "shoestring leasters" would quickly vanish, and the legitimate real estate interests would not be hampered by speculators who bid property up to fictitious values, while tenants would be fully protected from profiteering.

Tenants Cheer Court's Decisions.

There were 400 tenants before Justice Robitzek yesterday. He disposed of 90 per cent. of the cases. The tenants cheered when he granted stays of a year in some eviction cases, and there was another demonstration when the court, after a close examination of the landlord's books, fixed what he deemed were reasonable rent increases.

In the case of tenants in a Beaumont Avenue house, where it was brought out that no improvements had been made, an increase of 20 per cent. over the rent of March, 1919, was allowed. In the case of a house on East 141st Street, whose tenants complained of an excessive increase, 25 per cent. was permitted after it appeared that the landlord had spent a substantial amount of money in improvements. But while increases were allowed theoretically, it actually turned out that in some cases the decisions by the court meant reductions from the present rents.

Justice Robitzek also ruled that landlords desiring to evict tenants alleged to be "undesirable" would have to present facts to support the charge, and landlords who assert that they desire apartments for their personal use will have to prove that they really intend to occupy the rooms. Landlords who desire to oust tenants on the ground that they wish to remodel the apartments will have to produce architect's plans, contracts and permits from the Building Department or other evidence to show that they have actually taken steps toward making the changes.

Arthur W. J. Hilly, chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering, announced yesterday the organization of Municipal Court District Committees to meet at night as often as necessary in the various Municipal Court buildings in order to adjust cases before they reached the courts and to settle cases already in the courts.

Each committee will consist of lawyers, owners of real estate, tenants and political leaders of both parties. Lawyers especially are asked to volunteer their services. The first District Rent Committee meeting will take place next Wednesday night at the 5th District Court, Broadway and Ninety-sixth Street. Tenants will be asked to apply to the local committees in their own districts rather than to the headquarters in the Municipal Building.

Hilly Explains 25 Per Cent. Law.

In order to clear up misconceptions regarding the so-called "25 per cent. law," Mr. Hilly yesterday warned tenants that landlords, acting under the impression that the new legislation authorizes them to increase their rents 25 per cent., are demanding that tenants sign leases with the additional increases to become operative on Oct. 1. Many have already increased their rents 25 per cent. in the past year, he said, and if the tenants appeal to the courts against further increases the burden of proof will fall on the landlord, who will have to show that the increase is reasonable.

"A number of these cases have been called to the attention of the committee

Clemenceau in Failing Health; Has to Give Up Trip to Athens

LONDON, April 7.—Owing to failing health ex-Premier Clemenceau has abandoned his projected trip to Athens, according to a Cairo dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. He will embark at Alexandria on April 17 for Marseilles.

CAIRO, April 7.—Ex-Premier Clemenceau, since his return here from Luxor, has been suffering from bronchitis, but is now somewhat better. The aged statesman went out for the first time since his illness on Tuesday. He is still very feeble, and his breathing causes some anxiety.

M. Clemenceau is 79 years old.

CRASH SINKS TUG WITH 100 WORKERS

MEN TOSSED INTO RIVER

The sixty-foot motor tug Tyron, in charge of Captain Robert P. Ellis, took aboard just after 5 o'clock last evening from Pier 20, Hudson River, adjacent to the Lackawanna Railroad ferry slip, at Barclay Street, about 100 strikebreakers, mostly negroes, who had been at work all day on the Lackawanna pier and the Erie pier just below. The men were to be taken to Pier A, the Battery, where the police could supervise their dispersal to their homes and picketing longshoremen strikers waiting outside the railroad piers could be avoided.

The Tyron bumped against a float as she backed out into the river and then tried to swing her stem down stream. A heavy tide caught her, a stiff wind veered in under her stern and Captain Ellis at the helm seemed unable to control her.

Before she was fully straightened out, the Lackawanna ferryboat Scandinavia, which had backed out of the Barclay Street slip and swung around, her nose pointing for her Hoboken slip, crashed into the tug. There was a rattle of glass, the crackle of splinters, cries and shouts of warning from hundreds of commuters gathered in the bow of the ferryboat who started back in an almost panic-stricken rush when they saw the collision was inevitable.

The Tyron's pilot house toppled into the water, a big hole was stove in her amidships below the water line, and she filled rapidly. Several of her passengers were flung into the river and others lined her docks ready to jump as she settled in the river.

Captain Thomas Nevelli of the Scandinavia directed his crew to assure his passengers the ferryboat was unharmed—as afterward proved true—and told his engineer to keep just enough way to hold the Scandinavia alongside the sinking tug. The Scandinavia's boats were lowered and manned while thousands from her decks watched the exciting panorama.

A few of those on the Tyron accomplished the difficult scramble to the ferryboat, aided by boathooks and lines quickly flung to them, but in another moment, with a great gurgle, the sixty-foot motor boat went churning to the bottom, and the water all about was dotted with swimming figures and with others clinging to bits of flotsam from the sunken craft.

By the time police launches had arrived in response to a telephoned alarm every one of the crew and the strike-breaking passengers had been rescued so far as any one knew, with the exception of one man who, when a rescuer approached him, spluttered something uncomplimentary about the prospective trip to New Jersey on the ferryboat, and swam in the cold water about 350 feet back to the Manhattan shore. There he clambered out, shook himself and started uptown afoot for a change of clothing.

When all the shipwrecked men had been rescued the ferryboat put on all speed to its Hoboken slip, where a telephone message had brought ambulances from St. Mary's hospital. About thirty of the strikebreakers were taken to that institution, but, after treatment for minor hurts, all but one, who was found to have three broken ribs, were able to leave.

A police launch rescued the pilot house of the Tyron and towed it to

RAIL STRIKES HIT TWENTY-FIVE ROADS; TIE UP STOCKYARDS

BUFFALO SWITCHMEN OUT

UNIONMEN STRIKEBREAKERS

CHICAGO, April 7.—An unauthorized strike of railroad employes, which started a week ago in the Chicago switching district over the discharge of a yard conductor, tonight had spread until it had affected twenty-five railroads, and in Chicago had thrown more than 50,000 men out of work, either directly or indirectly.

More than 10,000 union railroad men in Chicago and several hundred at Buffalo and at Champaign, Ill., were on strike.

Many hundreds of men in Chicago packing houses were thrown out of work for lack of livestock, and Armour & Co. announce that they will probably close their plant tomorrow.

"Outlaw" organizations, branded by the established Brotherhoods as "rump" unions, had sprung up to challenge the right of the labor heads to lead their men.

In the face of this opposition from within the Brotherhoods of Engineers, Railway Trainmen, Firemen and Enginemen, and the Switchmen's Union of North America pledged their support to railroad officers in breaking the walkout, and to that end union railroad men throughout the country have been urged to report to Chicago to serve as strike-breakers.

Managers of twenty-five railroads in the Chicago district affected by the strike today agreed to give Brotherhood officers at least another day in which to restore normal conditions, and declared themselves confident that the unions would succeed.

Some union leaders voiced the same confidence, but others declared the strike fever was "in the air," that even the most conservative men were quitting, and that the task of keeping the trains moving appeared difficult.

Estimate 17,000 Men Out.

Wide differences of opinion existed as to how many men were out. Charles Riley, Vice President of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, which called the original strike, said 14,000 switchmen and 3,000 engineers were idle, but railroad officers and brotherhood heads scouted his figures as too large. They admitted, however, that they had no figures on which to base counter-claims.

W. J. Trost, Vice President of the Switchmen's Union of North America, said approximately 2,000 of that organization's members had struck, and that the Soo Line was the only railroad entering Chicago that the union had been able to open.

Secretary Snyder of the Railroad Managers' Association announced after a conference of road heads today that between 40 and 50 per cent. of normal freight traffic was being handled by loyal employes, union men imported from other divisions and office clerks pressed into service as switch-tenders. Sufficient crews to operate about 300 locomotives had been recruited in the Chicago area, he said.

The Brotherhood of Engineers and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen entered into the struggle today as a result of the walkout of engineers and firemen on the Chicago & Northwestern, and several other railroads.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen declared in a statement that the railroad could not grant wage increases demanded by the strikers, because the Cummins-Esch Transportation act prohibits increased compensation to employes without approval of the Railroad Board, to be appointed by President Wilson.

B. B. Greer, operating Vice President of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, delivered an ultimatum to the strikers, notifying them that unless they returned to work by Thursday their places would be filled.

One of today's developments was the

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 7.—The Evening News states that J. Pierpont Morgan and Henry Ford are members of a syndicate that made an offer to the British Government for the purchase for £6,000,000 of the great Slough motor works.

These cover 600 acres adjoining the Great Western main line, twenty miles from London. They were started to meet military requirements during the war and their completion cost £2,000,000. Since the armistice they have been one of the chief points in the economy campaign against the Government.

The Ministry of Munitions admits that an offer for the works has been made, but denies that a bargain has been struck. Morgan, Grenfell & Co. told THE NEW YORK TIMES tonight that they knew nothing of the matter.

WOMEN NOW PICKET STATE DEPARTMENT

NOT MOLESTED BY POLICE

WASHINGTON, April 8. — Bearing banners inscribed with quotations said to be taken from a recent speech by Secretary Colby, the Irish pickets today transferred their activities from the British Embassy to the State Department.

During the busiest hour of the afternoon the pickets presented to the gaze of homeward bound workers banners bearing the quoted inscriptions which follow:

"There is not even a scintilla of legality in England's claim to rule Ireland."

"The death of your martyrs has called into existence millions of Irish by principle."

"I cannot stand by mute and passionless while these votive offerings are laid upon the altar of patriotism."

The banner bearers said the statements attributed to Secretary Colby were taken from his address at Carnegie Hall, New York, May 14, 1916.

At the end of an hour the pickets withdrew to their headquarters. A squad of police appeared on the scene as soon as the banners were erected, but no effort was made to interfere with the picketing.

Resumption of the patrol in front of the British Embassy has been definitely postponed until after the trial Monday of the four pickets now under arrest. Arraigned before United States Commissioner Richardson, the quartet were released on $1,000 bail each, after pleading not guilty to a violation of Section 4062, Revised Statutes, in having "feloniously menaced bodily and by violence the person of his Excellency, the Counselor of the Embassy and Chargé d'Affaires of Great Britain, the Hon. Ronald C. Lindsay."

None of the women offered any complaint against the food and lodging afforded them at the House of Detention. Plenty of Irish potatoes, they said, were offered them, besides Hungarian goulash and New England dinners.

The State Department refused to comment upon the new situation resulting from the transfer of the patrol from the Embassy to the doors of the department.

FIND EVIDENCE OF IRISH PLOT

Dublin Police Say That the Sinn Feiners Were to Get Arms from Germany.

LONDON, April 7.—Recent reports of a Sinn Fein plot for an armed uprising in Ireland were based on fact, according to the Irish police. They state that they are in possession of information indicating that not only was a rising intended but that certain Germans in Berlin had engaged to furnish war material.

In this connection, Thomas J. Loughlin, a Dublin business man and a member of the Sinn Fein, has been arrested under the Defense of the Realm Act. No definite charge has as yet been preferred against him, but the Irish police state that his arrest was effected after they had learned that he was a party to a treaty with the Germans for arms and ammunition.

With Loughlin's name the police linked that of Baron Lewis von Horst, a former resident of the United States who is now in Berlin, with whom it is alleged Loughlin was negotiating.

Loughlin recently returned to Ireland from a visit to Germany. A letter addressed to Baron Lewis von Horst at Berlin on March 2, and signed with Loughlin's name, has come to the notice of the Irish police, who interpret the letter as proof of a projected uprising and of German implication. This letter, which is couched in the language of an ordinary business communication, contains the following:

FRENCH KILL 7 IN FRANKFORT RIOT; PARIS NOW DIVIDED ON OCCUPATION; PREMIER REQUESTS ALLIES' VIEWS

FRANC AT LOWEST POINT

TALK OF A GERMAN TRAP

Berlin Has Contrived to Separate France from Her Allies, Critics Are Now Asserting.

PARIS, April 7 (Associated Press.)—Considerable reaction was noticeable today in French public opinion, which was unanimously favorable yesterday regarding the advisedness of the occupation of the Rhine cities. Official circles are silent.

The failure of the American Ambassador, Hugh C. Wallace; the British Ambassador, the Earl of Derby; Baron Matsui, representing Japan, and Count Bonin-Longare, Italy, to express an opinion concerning Premier Millerand's note is not interpreted as unfavorable, but as merely pointing to the fact that none of them has yet received instructions concerning the attitude of their respective Governments on the situation.

The attitude of the Government officials, however, is one of expectancy, and there is even some anxiety regarding the probable course to be adopted by the Allies' Governments. Great interest is displayed in the meeting of the British Cabinet tomorrow, and there is much speculation as to Washington's official expression.

Banking, financial and business circles are more outspoken. The opinion is freely expressed that intervention was untimely and detrimental to French interests.

At the Stock Exchange today the comment indicated a belief in some quarters that the French Government fell into a trap cleverly laid by the German Government to separate France from her allies by asking for individual French authorization to enter the Ruhr district and putting it up to France alone to refuse Germany permission to take military measures.

The dollar rose today to the highest point ever known—16.35 (francs for $1) —and the pound sterling to 61.10. The Belgian franc even rose to 3.09. On the other hand, French francs decreased on all markets, both allied and neutral, which caused the brokers to say: "France is going it alone—apparently the wrong way."

Marks Rise in Berlin Market.

BERLIN, April 7.—Trading on the Stock Exchange today was firm and animated and marks rose on extensive provincial buying orders, says the Nordeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung.

The newspaper adds that this was chiefly due to the recapture of Essen and a more satisfactory situation in the Ruhr region, and also to reports "that France's latest action is not wholly approved by the Allies."

MILITARISTS DUPED BERLIN GOVERNMENT

Gave Chancellor False Information That Ruhr Invasion Was Assented To.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 7.—The news of the advance of the French troops into the neutral zone makes a first-class sensation for the evening papers here today. Of course the Pan-German press howls with rage. "This is an unparalleled piece of violence against Germany," declares the Post, the extreme Junker organ, and others of like mind shout in unison.

Scarcely less angry is the democratic press. The Majority Socialist organ Vorwärts argues that the action of the French will encourage those who stirred up the Ruhr trouble and fill them with the hope of being able to indulge in further action against the German Government, whose authority and strength are weakened by what has happened in the Mayence zone. Vorwärts ascribes the whole trouble to "that legend of a military Germany which is the Fatherland's worst enemy."

Only one paper, the Freiheit, the journal of the Independent Socialists, faces the situation openly. "I have pointed out before this how clumsy and stupid has been the whole attitude of the Government toward the problem presented by the Ruhr troubles. There was one thing which this Government of all Governments should not have done: it was to employ troops and officers so many of whom were implicated in the Kapp gamble for the purpose of restoring tran-

German Labor and Radicals Demand Withdrawal Of Regular Troops From the Neutral Zone

BERLIN, April 7.—The labor organizations which participated in the general strike during the Kapp revolt and the representatives of the Right Socialist and Independent Socialist parties held a meeting yesterday and decided to present certain demands to the Government. The demands are as follows:

(1) The withdrawal of regular troops from the neutral zone and the maintenance of public order by local defense bodies.

(2) No advance to be made by regular troops south of the Ruhr region.

(3) The formation of a defense body in the area outside the neutral zone occupied by regulars, whereupon the regulars are to be withdrawn.

(4) Punishment of untrustworthy officers and the stoppage of supplies of ammunition to counter-revolutionary formations like General Erhardt's Baltic brigade.

(5) The present Government to reorganize the Security Guard by means of organized workers.

The resolutions were signed by Richard Molkenbuhr of the Workmen's and Soldiers' Executive Council, Carl Rudolph Legien, President of the German Federation of Trade Unions and others.

It is thought not unlikely that the Cabinet is facing a crisis by reason of the concerted action of organized labor and both wings of the Social Democracy. The ultimatum to the Government, which is supposed to have been inspired by Herr Legien, came as a great surprise.

PREMIER APPEALS TO ALL ALLIES

NO WORD OF SUPPORT YET

Millerand Reveals France Asked Assistance on April 2 and Proposed Occupation March 23.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 7.—Up to tonight no word of support or encouragement for her bold step on the Rhine has come to France. Having taken what she regarded as a necessary move to enforce the treaty of Versailles, France waits to see what her allies will do.

It was expected that Lord Derby, the British Ambassador, who arrived from London today, would bring some word from Lloyd George. But he did not. England's course is regarded as all important, for as England goes so will Italy go, and probably Belgium as well.

France is confident her allies will back her. In an issue between France and Germany, France believes her old allies will not side against her. For, however the rest of the world may see the situation, France sees but two sides—hers and Germany's.

Millerand Asks Open Statements.

At a meeting of the Committee of Ambassadors late today M. Millerand read Germany's formal protest against French occupation of Frankfort, Darmstadt, Hanau and Homburg and made his reply. He asked the Ambassadors to transmit both documents to their Governments and to ask for open statements from them. These two statements are being sent to Rome, Tokio, London and Washington, and replies are asked by Friday afternoon.

The Berlin protest in which the German Government states it will not discuss whether it broke the treaty, but accuses France of abusing her power, and suggests that the League of Nations should have been called in to play is received by the French press tonight as an insult. The German argument that Berlin should virtually rule whether or not the treaty is violated is deeply resented. It is contended here that in refusing to discuss whether Article 43 was violated, the Germans confess misrepresentation when they said their troops in the Ruhr basin did not exceed the number permitted, and that Marshal Foch was entirely right in ordering French troops to advance.

The whole treaty is at stake, as the French see the situation. As soon as France wins her point of getting the German troops out of the neutral zone —if she does—she is going to set about forcing Germany to disarm, and, that done, she intends to force Germany to pay the reparation. France hopes the Allies will choose to remain by her side. Germany naturally hopes for the opposite.

Text of the French Statement.

Here is the statement of France's case sent tonight to the allied capitals, to Washington and to Berlin:

"Before occupying the cities of Frankfort, Darmstadt, Homburg, Hanau and Dieburg, the French Government took great care, as it had promised, to notify and consult with the Allies. On many occasions since the treaty came into force, France has proved her wish to maintain a clear understanding with the Allies and to shape her point of view in accord with theirs. She was forced to act when she found herself in the presence not only of the violation of the general stipulation of the treaty which affects all the Allies, and which the geographical situation of France makes especially important for

PLOTTED TO MAKE LUDENDORFF RULER

Munich Branch of Kappists Aimed to Set Up General as Dictator of All Germany.

REDS LOOT IN RUHR REGION

BERLIN, April 7.—According to revelations published by the Munich Post, Kapp's friends have been running a branch conspiracy in Munich. The chiefs were found to be in touch with Captain Pabst and Major Bischof of the Baltic troops, who supplied the brains in the Kapp conspiracy. The principle arranged between Berlin and Munich was common action under the title "Anti-Bolshevist League."

The immediate aim was to make Ludendorff dictator of all Germany. A detailed plan of the revolt in Munich was discovered, including names of many officers and officials who volunteered to serve the new Government. General Kraft von Delmenfingen was appointed military leader for South Germany and commander of three Bavarian Army Corps, the higher officers of which all are implicated. All the other conspirators are known to the Government. Still they go about unmolested.

AIX LA CHAPELLE, Rhenish Prussia, April 7.—German Government troops are marching on Düsseldorf. Occupation of the town is expected late this evening or tomorrow morning.

Looting and Atrocities in Essen.

ESSEN, April 7 (Associated Press.)—The last important Red centre fell into the hands of the Government troops yesterday afternoon after severe fighting in the suburbs. The Reds made their last stand on the canal, but when the Reichswehr charged on both flanks the Reds broke and fled. Some of them surrendered their arms at the City Hall during the retreat, while others threw them away.

Desultory fighting is still in progress in the rural communities near Essen, where the material damage is said to be considerable.

More details now are available of the earlier atrocities notably the cold-blooded murder of a Lieutenant and twenty men who hoisted a white flag after tenaciously defending the pumping station.

The losses of the Reichswehr up to Sunday are given as 170 killed, 340 wounded and 123 missing.

According to Die Freiheit, the workingmen at Elberfeld have organized armed guards against the marauding Red bands. Hundreds of the disintegrating Red army, fearing the "white terror," took refuge in the British occupied zone, where they were disarmed.

Die Freiheit also complains that executions by the Reichswehr still continue, notwithstanding the agreement to the contrary.

Seek Refugee in British Territory.

COBLENZ, April 7.—Two thousand Communists have crossed the Rhine into the British zone of occupation and have been immediately interned. Twelve hundred more are expected to arrive today.

Flight of large numbers of the Communists into occupied territory is considered an indication that the revolt in the Ruhr region is near an end.

The situation in the Ruhr valley is bad, and living conditions are almost unbearable.

FRANKFORT, April 7.—Three men, three women and a boy were killed and several were wounded this afternoon when colored French troops were forced to shoot into a crowd on Schillerplatz which was menacing the Imperial Hotel, the headquarters of the French force here.

A German reserve officer entered the lobby of the hotel at 4 o'clock and is alleged to have remarked that French officers beat him with riding crops.

Crowds massed outside and all day long pressed excitedly forward against the cordon of Moroccan troops, armed with automatic rifles and machine guns.

The French ordered the mob to stand back, and when they continued their menacing attitude they opened fire, which resulted in the killing of the seven persons.

Since then the atmosphere has been tense. Mobs are marading through the streets. French armored cars and tanks are patroling the principal thoroughfares and making rounds of the strong points, where groups of troops with machine guns are placed.

An unconfirmed report says that several of the soldiers who took part in the shooting were lynched this evening. It is also rumored that two dead French soldiers were found in the Mains River.

Burgomaster Voigt states that he requested the French to permit the issuance of a proclamation urging the people to be calm, but that the French refused.

General Demetz, in command of the French troops here, said this afternoon that the Imperial Hotel affray was caused by anti-French propagandists inciting the crowd jeering and insulting the officers. A firm hand was necessary under the circumstances, he said. "We endeavored to fire in the air."

An order issued tonight directs the French troops to shoot the populace if they resist the soldiers or show delay in obedience to orders.

The principal streets and squares of Frankfort were occupied today by the German police trying to restrain the crowds.

In the downtown section squads of Moroccans with automatic rifles and light machine guns were posted outside the public buildings, forcing back the crowds with their rifle butts.

On Bahnhofplatz at 6 o'clock this evening a motor car load of French troops was attempting to force a passage through a mass of jeering, hooting people. One French soldier tried to push back the crowd with his rifle butt, only to have the Germans shout back angrily. The soldiers then leveled their rifles in all directions and the crowd fell back and melted away.

In front of the railway stations tanks and machine guns from turrets command the streets, ready to sweep in any direction from the square.

On Schillerplatz, in front of the Imperial Hotel, machine-gun position remained exactly where they were this afternoon during the affray.

French Colonial officers are sitting in the square in front of the hotel with legs crossed and smoking cigarettes. They occupy little red chairs, commandeered from near by cafés. Ten feet from them Moroccans and Algerians with baggy pants and helmets with fezes mount guard.

A hundred feet away stands a tank with an alert Sergeant in the turret, manning a 37-millimeter gun ready to fire in any direction.

Students Harangued the Crowds.

FRANKFORT, April 7.—Affrays with French troops occurred at different points in the city this afternoon.

At 6 o'clock this evening order was restored in the city streets, which were frequently patroled by troops. At 9 o'clock Frankfort was absolutely tranquil, by reason of the rule prohibiting the inhabitants to be abroad after that hour.

The trouble this afternoon had its origin in a rumor which had spread about the city that as a result of pressure on the part of the Allies the French troops had received orders to evacuate Frankfort. The feelings were heightened when students in automobiles harangued the crowds and excited them against the French troops.

La Follette Ticket Wins in Wisconsin; He May Have Entire State Delegation

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, April 7.—Although returns are slow, it seems certain that LaFollette has captured Wisconsin delegates to the Republican convention. His strongest centres are still to be heard from, and he has swept Milwaukee County, which heretofore has aligned itself with the conservative wing of the party. I. E. Gettle, Secretary of the LaFollette Campaign Committee, claims the election of the entire LaFollette delegation by 75,000.

James Thompson, who will be the LaFollette candidate against Senator Lenroot next Fall, is leading the delegates at large, with Blaine, Attorney General of the State, running second. Governor Philipp is leading the unistructed group, but he is far behind the last LaFollette candidate. It is doubtful whether the uninstructed faction will get more than three district delegates.

In the Fourth and Fifth districts, which are located in Milwaukee County, the LaFollette candidate was chosen by nearly two to one. He has a plurality of nearly 10,000 in this county.

Definite reports of the results in the up-State districts are not expected until tomorrow.

Daniel W. Hoan, Socialist Mayor of Milwaukee, according to unofficial tabulations of returns from 184 out of 199 precincts, has a lead of 3,005 votes over his Non-Partisan opponent, Clifton Williams.

Frankfort disturbances today and thirty-five wounded.

It is reported that the manifestations which gave rise to these incidents were due to an order originating in Berlin.

"The first day of the occupation of Frankfort passed without incident. The reception by the population was almost cordial," said General Degoutte, the French commander, on his return from a tour of inspection. "Then suddenly, on orders from Berlin, a certain ferment seized the population. This ferment degenerated into aggression and our soldiers in self-defense were obliged to use their arms. So far as I know we had no losses.

"The incident shows how we must watch proceedings in Berlin, and that is why the events in the Ruhr demand my whole attention. You cannot consider what is going on in the Ruhr and here apart. There is a close relationship between the events we are witnessing today. The aggressions at Frankfort and events in the Ruhr are attributable to the same military reaction. Of that we have absolute proof.

De Geotte Calls Ruhr Peril Invented.

"The Berlin Government allowed the Reichswehr to invade the Ruhr district unnecessarily because it was the desire of Kapp, von Lüttwitz and their like. The coup d'état having failed only through the general strike, the military party sought revenge on the working classes and invented the Bolshevist peril in the Ruhr. It ought to be known in France and elsewhere that there never was any Bolshevist peril in the Ruhr. It was simply a case of a population of workers, which hates Prussian militarism, asking only to be allowed to work in peace. That population was still at work in Essen yesterday. What is happening now is the result of the Reichswehr occupation."

General Degoutte was asked if he did not think Berlin would withdraw the troops from the Ruhr after the French occupation of Frankfort, and he replied: "Most certainly not."

Speaking of the economic effects of the movement, General Degoutte declared:

Colored Troops Fired, Berlin Says.

BERLIN, April 7 (Associated Press).—A private telephone message reaching Berlin late this afternoon reports a serious clash between colored French troops and crowds of civilians in front of the main Post Office in Frankfort.

The troops are said to have been annoyed by the crowds, which continuously jeered at them.

Many rumors are current in Berlin to the effect that the United States is addressing a note to France demanding the withdrawal of the French forces from Frankfort.

Other dispatches from Frankfort report an uninterrupted arrival of French troops in that city and at Hanau, Offenbach, Darmstadt and Koenigstein. It is estimated that the troops on the ground already aggregate 30,000.

A completely equipped French division of war strength proportions, say dispatches, has been assigned to Frankfort alone. Its arrival necessitated a cessation of street traffic for hours.

A dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung reports that Marshal Foch was expected in Frankfort Wednesday. With the exception of the Frankfurter Zeitung, the newspapers in Frankfort have been permitted to reappear, although censorship is imposed.

A dispatch to the Tägliche Rundschau says the interruption of rail traffic between Frankfort and other South German cities is proving a great hardship.

The National Assembly members, belonging to the coalition bloc, who are resident in Frankfort, have protested to General Degoutte against the occupation of Frankfort.

A proclamation addressed by the German Government to the inhabitants of the towns occupied by the French was issued today. It says:

"Less than 14,000 troops have been collected in the Ruhr district, or almost the exact number permitted by the agreement with the Entente. France has regarded it as reconcilable with the state of peace to occupy flourishing German towns as a reprisal. The world's peace has never been more monstrously played with than it has been just now by France.

"It is that hard-hearted opponent which alone is responsible for making you the victim of this shylock policy. The Imperial Government will do everything it can to shorten your period of suffering. It will not let Germany be shattered in this cunningly devised fashion."

GERMANY'S PROTEST ON FRENCH ADVANCE

Note Handed to Paris Government Condemns Troop Movement in Strong Terms.

BERLIN, April 8. — The German Charge d'Affaires in Paris was instructed today to hand to the French Government a note protesting against the French occupation of Frankfort and other territory on the right bank of the Rhine. The note, after referring to the contents of the French note of April 5 notifying Germany that the occupation had been ordered, asserts that the occupation of the towns mentioned in the French communication occurred before the note was presented to the German Government.

"We must, in the name of justice, reason and humanity," the German note continues, "make the sharpest protest against the action of the French Army. It cannot possibly have been the intention of the Treaty of Versailles to prevent Germany from restoring order as quickly as possible in the part of its territory most seriously disturbed by bands of robbers.

"The movement in the Ruhr region, if it had not been quickly opposed, would have shaken the republic to its foundations, both politically and economically. The German Government would have acted inexcusably if it had waited longer in the optimistic hope that the insurgent movement in the Ruhr district would end without military intervention, and events so far have shown that it was right.

"Everywhere that the troops arrived the movement quickly collapsed, and the peace expressed by the Allies that the very entry of the troops would make the disturbances worse and lead to the destruction of most important industrial works has up to the present not proved justified."

The note points out that alleged violations of the treaty must, under the terms of that instrument, be referred by all the signatories on the allied side, and not by a single one, acting independently.

"The idea that the dispatch of troops to the region could in any way involve a menace to France is so absurd that it does not require to be refuted," the note continues, "and it may therefore be maintained with the fullest conviction on Germany's part that there is here no intentional violation of the Peace Treaty which would make the German Government responsible in the meaning of the Peace Treaty. Even if such a violation had been committed, the military act of violence now committed by the French Government would not be justified."

The note then refers to the terms of the Allies' note of December, and says that the French Government's present action is in the sharpest contradiction to it.

The note further contends that, under the League of Nations, which is an integral part of the Peace Treaty, the attempt ought first to have been made to solve such a dispute by interallied arbitration.

NOW RECOGNIZES ALBANIA.

Italy's Move May Be Step Toward Adriatic Settlement.

ROME, April 7.—Official recognition of the Government and autonomous constitution of Albania has been extended by the Italian Government, according to the Epoca.

Italy's reported intention to recognize "the Government and autonomous constitution of Albania" may be a step of the Nitta Government toward a settlement of the Adriatic question.

RHINE REPUBLIC EXPECTED

BERLIN, April 7.—"Le jour de gloire est arrivé," sneers Theodor Wolff in the Tageblatt, writing of the French occupation.

"All alone," he says, "Foch and Millerand accomplished this glorious military feat," and these few words epitomize the view of the whole German press, except the Independent Socialist and Communist organs, which characterize the German procedure in the Ruhr district as "stupid and irresponsible."

Theodor Wolff says further:

"Everywhere in public offices and diplomatic salons the question how to fight Bolshevism and the Red terror is being seriously discussed. While Germany is battling with anarchy and outlawry and trying to save from destruction the one district that can save her herself and leave her able to carry out the Peace Treaty, along comes Millerand and blesses the Bolshevists."

"Anarchy owes Millerand and Foch," continues Wolff, "hearty thanks and a laurel wreath. Even common outlaws have now found a protector in France."

The newspapers print a report of a mass meeting of Christian workmen at Bochum, Westphalia, where proof was furnished that the Communists had actually been in communication with the French Government, and the Communist leader, Karl Mipefnor, addressed several messages to Millerand asking that French troops be sent into the Ruhr district, which news was received by the Bochum meeting with cries of "Shame!"

Though the Government pretends to believe the French troops will be withdrawn as soon as German military action in the Ruhr district is finished, there are many warning voices. Millerand, they insist, will ask other guarantees before French soldiers will leave Frankfurt, Hanau and Darmstadt.

Vorwärts thinks the occupation is to demonstrate to the Rhenish provinces how much better one lives under a French protection than under military Prussianism, and, through the Rhenish provinces may be loath to accept the former, they display a decided inclination toward breaking away from Prussia and forming an independent federal state. Vorwärts, indeed, claims positive information that the proclamation of a Rhenish republic is only a question of a few days, the chairman of the Rhenish Centrist Party being leader of the movement. It is very doubtful, however, that this movement will be successful, as the majority of the working people are decidedly against it.

To add to Chancellor Müller's many difficulties, his own partisans of both parties and all the trades unions have just made a number of demands which evidently originate from the feeling Germany's military forces are not in safe hands while so many reactionary officers are still in commanding positions.

According to the Lokal-Anzeiger, all the notorious Bolshevist chieftains who escaped from Munich a year ago, including Levien and the terrible Marcuse, both Russians, are on the theatre of Bolshevist operation and on Sunday partook in a war council at Dortmund, presided over by Radeck, who insisted the war be continued, which eventually was decided upon. The same night Marcuse, who is mainly responsible for the massacre of hostages in Munich, went directing the plundering and destruction in that town, which he said should be wiped off the earth. But one of the first bullets fired from the rifles of the approaching Government forces killed Marcuse. Government forces with the aid of armed civilians soon overpowered the Red army here, of which many captives were shot for murder and looting.

her, but also of the breaking of the word which had been personally given by the German Government in a conversation between the two Governments.

On March 28 last, the French Premier declared from the tribune of the Chamber of Deputies that France, who still is hoping for the beginning of the payment of the most urgent reparations, could not wait indefinitely for decisions to be made.

"On March 29, Dr. Göppert declared to the French Government that his Government did not see, in any circumstance, the possibility of sending into the Ruhr basin supplementary troops without the authorization of the French Government.

"On April 2 M. Millerand confirmed to the German Charge d'Affaires at Paris the declaration which he had made to him on March 28, that the French Government could not, so far as it was concerned, give this authorization unless French troops were authorized to occupy simultaneously the cities of Frankfort, Darmstadt, Homburg, Hanau and Dieburg.

"On the evening of April 3, M. Göppert, recognizing that the troops of the Reichswehr, exceeding the effectives authorized by the decision of Aug. 9, 1919, had penetrated into the Ruhr Basin, demanded in the name of the German Government that the necessary formal authorization should be given in the presence of a fait accompli.

"The same day at Berlin, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs von Haniel declared to General Bartholemy, who was replacing General Nollet, that the German Government had given entire liberty of action to Commissioner Severing to employ the troops concentrated with a view to operations in the Ruhr region, and he assumed the responsibility for their action in the neutral zone.

"The French Government immediately informed the Allies of this communication which was confirmed by its own informants. In notifying them that the German Government was in this way infringing Article 44 of the Versailles Treaty, violation of which constitutes a casus belli, the French Government expressed the hope that allied governments would recognize, like itself, the necessity of immediate reprisal and would give their effective aid in the execution of the military measures which from that moment could not be avoided or deferred.

Suggested Occupation March 22.

"This was not the first time the French Government had revealed to the allies this necessity. On March 23 the French Government had proposed the occupation of Frankfort and Darmstadt to the Council of London, which expressed the opinion on March 25 that the moment was inopportune. The German Government addressed itself directly to the French Government in order to obtain the authorization for the entry of troops into the Ruhr basin. The French Government had no reason for lending itself to this infringement of the treaty, as all its information agreed with that of the Allies and led to the unanimous conclusion that military occupation of the Ruhr basin was useless and dangerous.

"On the other hand all the facts tend to show that the initiative for this operation ought to be attributed to the German Military Party. It was the Military Government of Kapp which had taken the decision. It was the Military Party which, in spite of the strong objections which had been presented in the Government itself against the projected intervention, declared the impossibility of reestablishing order without increasing the forces in the Ruhr Basin.

"France, therefore, found herself face to face with a measure which, in the unanimous opinion of the Allies could not be executed without an authorization which was not justified by any of the circumstances and which the German Government had formally undertaken to France never to execute without her authorization.

"This measure acquired a singular gravity from the fact that the Allies have not been able thus far to obtain, in spite of their insistence, the execution of the clauses of the treaty relating to the disarmament of Germany.

"The French Government has therefore acted in the general interest of all the Allies, at the same time in particular interest of France. It was necessary that she should take in conformity with the Versailles Treaty, indispensable measures for her own security.

"It is not necessary to recall that the French Government intends to evacuate the occupied towns as soon as the German troops shall have completely evacuated the neutral zone.

"The attitude of the French Government, justified by the action of the German Government, does not modify her attitude with regard to Germany, with whom she hopes to enter into commercial relations on the basis of economic co-operation, from which situation Europe must benefit.

"On March 26 the French Premier said in Parliament: 'I do not exclude, for my part, the idea of economic collaboration. I already plan certain steps. But on the prior condition which dominates everything, that the German Government, with which I repeat I am ready to collaborate tomorrow on economic grounds, gives proof of its good faith in the executing of her engagements.' On March 29 M. Millerand confirmed to M. Mayer his intention of opening an era of new relations with Germany by means of economic co-operation.

"On April 4 the Government of the Republic in announcing to its representatives abroad the decision which it had taken asked them to let it be known that in adopting this attitude it had no hostile thought toward Germany. It reiterated the assurance that France desires to renew as soon as possible with Germany normal relations on the basis of economic accord. It added that serious efforts to be made in this direction would be certain to find with it a favorable reception and that it would even consider in certain circumstances that the initiative should come from France."

Millerand Meets Envoys.

PARIS, April 7.—Premier Millerand, at the conference of Ambassadors this evening explained the French attitude toward Germany. He reviewed the events that led up to the occupation of Frankfort and the other German cities.

The Premier made no reference to France's future policy beyond reiterating that the occupied cities would be evacuated as soon as the German troops "were completely withdrawn from the Ruhr district."

The Earl of Derby, British Ambassador to France; Hugh C. Wallace, the American Ambassador, and Baron Matsui, the Japanese Ambassador, were present at the conference, as was also the Italian Ambassador. None of them made any remarks which might be construed as either approving or disapproving the French attitude on behalf of the Governments they represent.

RUHR QUESTION BEFORE ALLIED COUNCIL TODAY

British Accord with France Is Expected to be Announced Afterward.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 7.—The conference of Foreign Ministers and Ambassadors sat at the Foreign Office for two hours this evening under Lord Curzon's chairmanship, the French, Italian and Japanese Ambassadors and several of their colleagues being present.

The Turkish treaty received further consideration with a view to its completion at the plenary sessions of the Supreme Council, which it is proposed to hold week after next at San Remo. The plan is that these meetings should open April 19, and if other imperative business does not interfere Premier Lloyd George will travel to the Italian Riviera to attend them. The arrangements for the San Remo conference, however, cannot yet be regarded as more than provisional.

A special Ambassadorial conference took place simultaneously this evening in Paris, and Premier Millerand placed before it the text of the German note protesting against the French occupation of Frankfort and other towns, together with the draft of his proposed reply. These documents and other information from Paris will be available for the meeting of the Supreme Council which will be held in London tomorrow, when the whole question of the situation in the Ruhr region and the enlargement of the French zone of occupation will be reviewed.

An announcement of British policy is expected to be made after that, and this THE NEW YORK TIMES understands, will in all probability emphasize the unity between England and France and the former's approval of the forward move. At the same time, it is not anticipated here that British troops will have to take part in the advance.

Meanwhile official reports from both Berlin and the Rhineland are reassuring and support the hope now entertained in Paris as well as London that the whole episode may soon be terminated by a double retirement.

G. H. Perris, pointing out in The Chronicle that the semi-official Paris Temps has expressed pleasure at the attitude of the British press, says:

"It may be remarked that Englishmen of all kinds of opinion are irritated by the stream of malicious criticism which is poured out unfailingly against this country in one notorious center in Paris journalism whenever the writer in question can find a pretext. It is surprising that our friends should tolerate this sort of offense to the spirit of the Entente."

DENIES SECRET TREATY TALE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 7.—The full text of Viscount Grey's letter to Ambassador Davis denying the rumor of a secret treaty between Great Britain and Turkey was handed to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent today.

The letter was dated Jan. 24, and returned to the Ambassador a memorandum concerning the alleged agreement, which he had forwarded to Viscount Grey. It reads:

"My dear Mr. Davis, I showed the enclosed memorandum to Lord Curzon. He says there is not a word of truth in any of it. I should be very glad if you would let Mr. Polk know that this is so. It is difficult to understand how false statements, so circumstantial, in which there is no vestige of truth, get circulated. But the East is particularly full of mischief makers.

"Yours sincerely,

tor lorries and on foot, passed through Elberfeld on Tuesday. Most of them surrendered their arms at Elberfeld. Others marched into the occupied territory, chiefly to Solinger, where they were disarmed by the British. Other insurgent bands, still armed, are wandering about the mountains.

Five hundred of the insurgents were transferred by the British to a camp near Cologne.

Railway traffic in the Essen region probably will be resumed today.

Work was resumed fully Tuesday in all the mines and works in the Dochum district. The members of the Red army who were arrested at Duisburg have mostly been sent for trial by an extraordinary court-martial at Wesel.

Fierce fighting took place in the Town Hall Square at Bochum when, as the Reichswehr approached, the citizens took the executives of the Red Guard prisoner, says a dispatch to the Mittag am Zeitung.

The Red Guards attempted to liberate their leaders, and in the fighting which ensued seven Reds were shot.

Spartacides plundered the farms in the vicinity of Bochum, slaughtered cattle and invaded Castle Besterholz, where the Countess of that name was alone. She was ill treated and forced to cook and serve meals to the invaders, among whom were several low-class women, who are described as having been "veritable furies" and are said to have demolished furniture and art works.

Before quitting Dortmund the Reds, according to the same source, took from the branch of the Reichsbank 1,000,000 marks. They also appropriated 750,000 marks from private persons, and also took fifty foreign passports.

German on Trial List a Suicide.

quillity in a region where the trouble was largely caused by the militarist coup.

As the Freiheit points out, not only did the Government do this, after it had been demonstrated that matters could be settled by peaceful means, but it proceeded on an erratic course which was bound to lead to serious trouble. After the conclusion of the Bielefeld agreement, which had a very large measure of popular consent behind it, order began to resume its sway; but the tone and contents of the Government's subsequent ultimatum and the provocation of General von Watter, commander of the Reichswehr troops, undid much of the good achieved.

Still the workers' parties resumed their endeavors to arrive at a peaceful settlement, unsupported by the Berlin Cabinet. Then came the Münster agreement, the terms of which were not adhered to by the central authorities. The Government knew perfectly well what would happen if troops were marched into the region, but then came the Chancellor's curious statement that the French had nothing against a military movement on the part of the German Government. It is still a riddle how he came by that information, but the Freiheit suspects—right, I think, as the militarists were determined to march—belief in allied opposition was disposed of by the manufacture of the false information on which the Chancellor based his statement that allied action would not follow.

It is the same old story again of reactionary Generals and officials deluding themselves and winning over a weak Government. The Government's stock is steadily sinking. It is still taking no action against the Kappists, the chief of whom has slipped through its fingers; but, worse still, the Minister of Defense has given orders for the release of a large number of Wilhelmshaven Kappists, despite the protests of the local authorities and the representatives of the coalition parties.

The latest news from the Ruhr region reports progress in pacification, although there has been a great deal of plundering in Essen.

shore. Then the Manhattan and Hoboken police started investigations of the accident, which were not concluded last night.

Another Lackawanna ferryboat, which with other ferries has been kept in operation despite the harbor strike, came to grief earlier in the afternoon at the West Twenty-third Street slip. The Maplewood, crowded with vehicles and passengers, crashed head-on into the middle pin which separates the incoming from the outgoing slip. Every one aboard got a bad shaking, there was much excitement and one woman and one man, Mrs. M. Farrier of 861 Third Avenue and Gioconni Tiocinni of 446 West Twenty-sixth Street, were hurt slightly.

An automobile truck was damaged and was towed to a garage for repairs. Captain Gus Scheumaker was in command of the Maplewood. No explanation of the accident was given except that there had been misjudgment in approaching the slip.

After her passengers were quieted and discharged the Maplewood put back to Hoboken for examination and repairs.

VOTE TO HASTEN PEACE RESOLUTION

MINORITY ATTACKS PLAN

Flood Report Asserts Surrender of Rights and That Wilson Is Misrepresented.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Under a special rule reported today by the Rules Committee of the House, that body will vote at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon upon the resolution to declare the war at an end.

The debate is expected to consume about eleven hours. It will be led in favor of the resolution by Chairman Porter of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and for the opposition by Representative Flood, the ranking Democratic member of the same committee.

A move against the resolution, made by Representative Pou, the ranking Democratic member of the Rules Committee, was defeated when that committee met this morning. Mr. Pou tried to substitute a rule providing that there should be teh hours' debate upon the resolution, after which the measure should be considered under the general rules of the House. This would have allowed the submission of amendments, which the rule reported by the committee prohibits.

Under the rule reported the Democrats will have an opportunity to vote on a motion to recommit the resolution to the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Minority Charges Sharp Practice.

A minority report on the resolution, presented by Representative Flood today, reads in part:

"The preamble states that the President of the United States, in the performance of his constitutional duty to give to Congress information of the state of the Union, has advised Congress that the war with the Imperial German Government has ended. At no time and under no circumstances has the President made any such assertion.

"It is true that, on the signing of the armistice, the President, in the course of an address to Congress, used the words, 'the war thus comes to an end.' But he spoke of actual hostilities, as every one knew, and not of the technical state of the war.

"It takes a treaty to end a war. Hostilities had ceased, but the war had not ended, and will not end until it is terminated in a constitutional manner. The drafters of the resolution and the members of the Committee on Foreign Affairs who voted for it knew that this was the case.

"By quoting this statement of the President as the basis for this resolution the authors of the resolution lay themselves open to the charge of insincerity and sharp practice. The President never declared that the technical state of war which this resolution undertakes to declare at an end had come to an end, and the Supreme Court of the United States has recently declared that what the President had done did not announce the termination of the war."

The reference was to the Supreme Court decision in the Kentucky distilleries case.

Declares Power Wrongly Assumed.

"This resolution contains some provisions that are within the power of Congress," the report continues, "and others that are not. So far as it seeks to declare peace and so far as it seeks to direct the President to issue a proclamation to the German Government it trenches upon the treaty-making powers and is not within the power of Congress.

"So far as it prohibits the United States citizens and residents from commercial intercourse with Germany or its nationals, and provides penalties for the violation of such restriction, it is valid. So far as it attempts to repeal war legislation, it is, of course, within the power of Congress."

Discussing Section 2, which fixes the date of the termination of war at the date the resolution becomes effective, Mr. Flood said:

"There is much war and emergency legislation that should be repealed. This section does not repeal this legislation, however, and it gives no relief from the burdens, inconveniences, extravagances and losses which come from the existence of this legislation. Much of this legislation is burdensome, and oppressive in time of peace.

"Congress has the power to repeal it, and it should address itself to this task instead of frittering away its time in attempting to pass unconstitutional legislation for the purpose of embarrassing the executive department of the Government, or for some other political purpose."

Asserts Bond to Defend Germany.

With regard to Section 3 of the resolution, which requires that Germany accept a peace status and renounce all claims, demands, rights or benefits against the United States, under penalty of an economic boycott in the discretion of the President, the minority report says:

"The first thought which comes to one's mind in connection with this section is that it gives to Germany and her nationals all the rights they would have had if the United States had ratified the Treaty of Versailles. Without the provisions of the treaty great uncertainty prevails as to the title to and right to use German ships. The Versailles treaty contains Germany's assent to the use of the property seized by the Alien Property Custodian, amounting to more than $500,000,000, to pay claims of the United States against Germany. This resolution does not pretend to accomplish this result.

"If we are dependent for a status of peace upon this resolution, I fail to see how we could be able to demand reimbursement for the cost of our army of occupation.

"Under the treaty Germany can become a League of Nations member, and, having under this resolution all the rights it would have had under the treaty when it became a member of the League, it would be entitled to assert against the United States the same rights which any other nation could assert, had our country ratified the treaty. We would thus be in the position of being compelled to protect the independence and territorial integrity of Germany against the aggressions of any or all of our Allies.

"Section 5 is an attempt to preserve something out of the wreck of American rights which have been so outrageously surrendered in former sections of the resolution."

BUCHAREST, April 7.—The Council of Ministers has decided to ratify the Treaty of Versailles.

ASKS HOOVER TO GIVE ANSWER TO DEMOCRATS

C. M. Wood, Massachusetts Supporter, Inquires If He Would Take Party Nomination.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 7.—Chandler M. Wood, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Democratic State Committee, has sent a letter to Herbert Hoover asking whether he would accept the Democratic nomination for the Presidency if it were offered to him.

Mr. Wood, who is President of the Metropolitan Trust Company, is one of the Democrats who, with Edward A. Filene, helped to form the Hoover Democratic Club of Massachusetts. He ran for State Treasurer last Fall, denouncing the radicalism of the head of the ticket and condemning the Boston police strike.

Mr. Wood's letter reads:

To Herbert C. Hoover, Esq., 115 Broadway, New York.

My Dear Mr. Hoover: I have assisted in the organization of the Hoover Democratic Club of Massachusetts, which was formed for the purpose of securing your nomination for President on the Democratic ticket. I believe that your intimate association with the present Administration, the general sympathy you have always exhibited toward its policies and accomplishments, your appeal two years ago for the election of a Congress that would support President Wilson, and your progressive and important tendencies would make it consistent for you to accept such a nomination.

Since the formation of our club I have seen a statement purporting to emanate from you in which you said you would accept the nomination of a Republican convention. I feel that the Democrats who are active participants in the movement for your nomination upon their ticket are entitled to know whether or not you will accept the Democratic nomination if offered you, and for that purpose I am addressing you this letter.

As your answer will necessarily be of interest to the whole nation, I am giving a copy of this letter to the press.

An early reply will be appreciated.

Very truly yours,
CHANDLER M. WOOD.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, April 7.—With more than two-thirds of the State's 2,421 precincts heard from, the plurality of Hiram Johnson in the Michigan Republican Presidential preference primary is more than 45,000.

The figures show that Herbert Hoover has a lead of nearly 5,000 over Governor Edwards of New Jersey in the contest for the Democratic nomination, the Hoover vote in the State wiping out the big Wayne County plurality accorded the New Jersey "wet" candidate.

Belated returns from the States have failed to cut down the big Johnson lead in Detroit and Wayne County. With 1,827 precincts accounted for, the vote for the Republican candidates was as follows:

The vote for the Democratic candidates, with more than one-third of the precincts missing, was as follows:

PRIMARY DEFEAT A BLOW

Johnson Disappointed, but Will Try Another State—Calder Beat Bennett by 50,000.

Because of a lack of attendance, the conference scheduled for yesterday at the Hotel Astor by leaders in this city of the movement to form a national organization to boost Herbert Hoover for the Republican Presidential nomination was called off. All information regarding the future plans for holding the conference was refused at the headquarters of the Hoover National Republican Club in the Hotel Vanderbilt, but it was learned that another effort will be made to get the Hoover boosters together, probably today.

The New York conference was arranged by the local Hoover leaders after the original plans to hold a Chicago conference fell through. During the latter part of March Captain John F. Lucey, Vice Chairman of the Hoover Club, announced that the demand for Mr. Hoover's nomination was becoming so insistent all over the country that it had been decided to hold practically a Hoover convention in Chicago on April 15, when the various Hoover organizations throughout the United States would be brought together to form a national Hoover organization, with national headquarters and a national campaign committee.

Rooms Hired, Nobody Comes.

No further development of these plans was forthcoming until a few days ago, when it was announced that the Chicago conference had been postponed and a New York conference called for the purpose of determining whether the Chicago meeting would be entirely abandoned. All arrangements were made for holding this conference at the Hotel Astor. Rooms C and D on the eighth floor of the hotel were engaged and enough chairs provided to seat from thirty to forty persons. Captain Lucey and two lieutenants were on hand to welcome the crowd, but the time for opening the meeting came and passed and no one appeared. At 3 o'clock the room was still vacant, with the exception of Captain Lucey's two lieutenants. Captain Lucey himself having departed.

"Is there a conference to be held here today?" one of the men was asked.

"Yes," he replied dolefully, surveying the vacant room, "but it has been called off for today. You see, so few people came that it had to be postponed."

"Where is Captain Lucey?"

"He was here, but he has gone," the second man volunteered.

At the headquarters of the Hoover Club, Harold A. Vivian, Executive Secretary, refused all information concerning the conference.

"Was there a conference today of the Hoover leaders?" he was asked.

Primary Defeat a Blow.

Whether the result of Tuesday's primary election, when the Hoover candidates for delegates in the 17th Congressional District, Miss Mabel Choate and Julius S. Myrick, were decisively beaten by the regular Republican organization candidates, had any effect on the abandonment of the conference plans could not be learned. It was said, however, that the defeat of the Hoover candidates came as a hard blow to the Hoover leaders in this city. While they hardly hoped to win, they expected a much better showing of Hoover strength, it was said. The Hoover forces made a hard fight right up to the opening of the polls, and were greatly disconcerted at not getting anything better than a three-to-one result.

It was announced that the women supporters of Hoover in the district intend to keep up the fight for him. They will use the woman suffrage campaign tactics, it was said, and make house-to-house canvasses, appealing personally for subscriptions to the Hoover cause and for Hoover votes.

Whether the Hoover campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination is to be continued along the lines originally established by the candidate's California friends, the original sponsors of the Hoover boom, or whether a radical change is to be undertaken, will be determined when the New York conference is finally held.

George H. Glynn, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, declared yesterday that the primary results showed that the Republicans throughout the State had confidence in the State organization.

F. H. LaGuardia, President of the Board of Aldermen, who received more votes than his running mate for district delegate, Samuel S. Koenig, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, said that if Senator Johnson's campaign had been managed by "the right sort of people" and if he did not have a "discredited politician" as his delegate-at-large he would have swept the city.

Mr. LaGuardia said he would vote for General Wood at the Chicago convention provided he "kept abreast of the great economic issues of the day," but that otherwise he would vote for Senator Lenroot for President.

United States Senator William M. Calder of Brooklyn received the high vote among the "Big Four" candidates, running 3,000 ahead of his colleague, Senator Wadsworth, and 50,000 ahead of former State Senator Bennett. The Senator expressed satisfaction at the Wadsworth showing.

"In my judgment," he said, "the splendid support given Senator Wadsworth, not only in Brooklyn but throughout the State, will tend strongly to eliminate any possible contest against him in the Fall primaries."

M'ADOO AND JOHNSON CRITICISE PRIMARIES

Former Advocates Federal Law—Latter Attacks System Used in New York.

In a statement last night William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury and prominently mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, advocated a Federal primary law and explained at length his reasons why he hoped all the delegates to the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco would go there uninstructed.

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, speaking at a largely attended meeting at New Brunswick, N. J., attacked the New York primary system, characterizing it as "merely a left-handed way by which the bosses control the situation."

Mr. McAdoo cited seven reasons why he thinks it would be a mistake to send delegates instructed to vote for a particular candidate. In many instances, he said, delegates receiving instructions at primaries are bound months in advance of the National Convention for a course of action which may be directly opposed to their best judgment and to the best interests of the country.

Mr. McAdoo declared that experience shows that only a small percentage of the people take part in State primaries for Presidential candidates and that delegates are sometimes instructed by a pitiable minority of the voters of the State."

Senator Johnson referred to the New York primary, where all the Johnson candidates or delegates were overwhelmingly defeated, as follows:

"It is designed to 'prevent,' rather than permit, expression of the voters' choice for President. The law was engineered by the machine organization, which hoped by passing a law of that sort to prevent the adoption of a real primary system."

No Cox Contest Outside of Ohio.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 7.—It is unlikely that Governor James M. Cox will enter primary contests in any other State, according to his national manager, Edmund H. Moore, who said he would work for uninstructed delegations. Work for Cox will be upon his legislative and executive record.

MIDDLE WEST NOW WATCHING JOHNSON

Senator's Success In Michigan Makes Conservatives Take Him Much More Seriously.

ANXIOUS ABOUT LABOR VOTE

Neither Democrats Nor Republicans Expect Wilson to Run for a Third Term.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Senator Hiram Johnson's feat in carrying the Republican Presidential primary in Michigan by a large plurality is having its reaction here and forms the chief topic of discussion in political and business circles. Up to the time that he swept Michigan there was no very serious consideration of Johnson as a formidable candidate, partly because he joined Roosevelt in splitting the Republican Party in 1912, and partly because he had been accused of responsibility for the defeat of Mr. Hughes in California in 1916, at least by negative action.

Now the comment is made that Johnson may prove dangerous after all, and this is causing much sober thought among leaders and so-called conservatives who don't want him. His sweep of Michigan is attributed generally to a hold on the vote of the radical elements, which are strong in that State, and especially in Detroit.

The Chicago Post, Republican, which is supporting Lowden, published an editorial today which attracted much attention. After describing the magnitude of the victory and referring to the part which the Newberry incident probably played in the result, The Post said:

"A second factor is disclosed in the immense majority given Johnson in Detroit, where the labor vote played a big rôle in the primary. It would be folly to ignore the inference Johnson is the radical by comparison among the Republican candidates. His appeal has been to the dissatisfied element, to the seekers for change. The response is significant and rather disturbing.

"Detroit, perhaps, is not typical, but its warning is not to be overlooked. If the industrial vote is not to follow such demagogic leadership as Johnson offers it will be necessary for candidates of saner and more substantial kind to do more than talk in vague platitudes on issues which interest it. Assuredly there is no encouragement for those who think that the Republican Party can romp into the White House behind a reactionary candidate.

"The general situation looms more than ever like a horse race, with anybody a possible winner and the dark horse chance not to be despised."

The Middle West is awaiting with tense interest the outcome of the primaries in other States where Johnson is entered and has an opportunity to make a campaign along the lines he followed in Michigan. One of the most prominent of the Republican leaders, who was asked if he thought Johnson might be nominated, said:

"I think it improbable; but anything is possible in this fight."

Illinois appears to be strongly Republican at this time, and unless the Republican Party is split again it should be counted as safely in the Republican column. The Democrats are not on the field in large numbers yet, but the talk is all about Republican victory, which by eight out of every ten persons questioned seems to be accepted as a foregone conclusion. The prominence attained by Johnson therefore has come as a shock, as the great majority of the Illinois leaders at least are hardly warm Johnson partisans.

Lowden managers tonight are claiming the State as safe for their favorite in the primary election next Tuesday by a considerable majority over Wood. Johnson is not entered in the primary here.

The New York Times correspondent has asked hundreds of persons, both Republicans and Democrats, in the Middle West, especially in Michigan and Illinois, whether they think there is a chance of President Wilson appearing as a third-term candidate. The answer invariably has been "No." Almost everybody apparently is convinced that the President would not have the physical strength to make another campaign.

The photographs taken of President Wilson during an automobile ride in Washington recently have played a part in spreading the conviction that he will not run again. They have left a general impression that the President has been a very sick man.

Whether Mr. Wilson will be able to dominate the Democratic convention and dictate the platform is a question asked whenever Democratic politics are discussed here. The majority of Democrats in Michigan and Illinois probably would favor a compromise League of Nations program, just as the majority of Republicans in these States seem to be for the League with the Lodge reservations.

William G. McAdoo is most talked of here for the Democratic nomination now that Hoover has eliminated himself as a Democrat. Bryan has his following, but has not developed great strength. Palmer was hurt by the Michigan primary, and, while he is supposed to have the Democratic organization of Illinois behind him, is not looked upon here as in the lead at present.

Unless President Wilson makes some definite statement soon which puts him into the race, the Democrats in these parts are going ahead with their plans with the President eliminated as a contender for a third term.

RAIL STRIKES HIT TWENTY-FIVE ROADS

formation of a new "outlaw" organization, the National Enginemens Association, by striking members of the Brotherhood of Engineers and Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen.

Announcement was made by the striking engineers and the Chicago Yardmen's Association, which engineered the strike of switchmen, that branches of the two new unions would be formed throughout the country, and that strikers would be called out elsewhere in sympathy with the Chicago movement and in an effort to force wage advances.

Grand Lodge officers of all established brotherhobds arrived today for conferences with their Road Chairmen. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen addressed letters to their members branding the strike as illegal and urging the union men to stand by the established organizations.

Attached to the communication was the brief of the engineers in the wage case pending in Washington.

S. Heberling, International President of the Switchmen's Union of North America, who arrived today from Buffalo, called a mass meeting of all switchmen in the Chicago district for tomorrow, when he will make an effort to induce them to return to work.

Menaces Chicago's Food Supply.

Chicago tonight is facing complete paralysis of its industries due to a shortage of coal and an embargo on all incoming freight shipments, owing to the switchmen's strike. The packing industry is especially hard hit, total receipts of cattle, hogs and sheep today being less than 4,000 as compared with a normal 50,000 head. As a result Armour & Co. announced this afternoon that unless the strike situation improves—and there is apparently little expectation of this—the packing company will close all but its general offices tomorrow. This will throw 14,000 employes out of work.

Men of authority thoroughly familiar with the conditions under which the strikes have been promulgated declare that the situation is fast becoming such that only intervention by President Wilson can restore normal activity in the strikebound districts.

The crisis faced by Chicago is alarming. The city is practically isolated from freight or express communication with the rest of the country. Meat, butter, eggs, sugar and other food and fuel shipments to the city's millions have been halted and a shortage is already being felt. Many businesses have shut down because of the freight blockade.

Officials of the packing companies say there is a meat supply for Chicago and environs that can be spread over the local demand not longer than a week or ten days under present conditions. Coal men predict a fuel famine the "fore part of next week" unless the strike is broken. W. H. Leland, Vice President of the Consumers Company, said that the present coal situation, in so far as it affected the consumers, is the most serious with which the city has had to contend and is far worse than that arising from the strike of coal miners. Not a carload of coal has been moved into the city for three days.

1,500 to 2,700 Out at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 7.—Strike leaders tonight claimed that 2,700 men had joined the walkout of railroad switchmen here, which was denounced as illegal by Frank J. Sheehan, Vice President of the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Railroad officials said that their figures showed about 1,500 men out. They admitted, however, that the situation is serious.

Engineers and firemen employed in the yards of Buffalo voted today to support the switchmen in their stand, and many of them failed to report for work tonight. It was said by speakers at strike meetings that the engine men would all be out before morning.

The strike movement is said to have started in the yards of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad last night when several switchmen, for no apparent reason, left their jobs.

The Lackawanna strikers went to the Buffalo Creek Railroad, an important switching line along the waterfront, and induced the switchmen there to quit. Later the strike spread to the other yards.

The striking switchmen held a meeting at an east side hall this afternoon and formulated demands which, it was announced, would be presented to the railroads in the name of the Yardmen's Association, a new organization.

Delegates from Syracuse, Binghamton and other points east of Buffalo were present at today's meeting, it was claimed by the strike leaders.

An embargo on all freight entering, leaving or passing through Buffalo was announced late tonight after a conference of officials of the seven railroads whose yards were tied up today by a strike of switchmen. Milk shipments into the city will be continued and passenger service will be maintained as far as possible, it was said after the meeting.

New Union in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—Switchmen and yard enginemen employed in terminals here and in East St. Louis, Ill., met here today to form a new labor union, to be known as the Yardmen's Association. Organization would be followed by a demand for a general wage increase, those fostering the movement said.

More than 5,000 yardmen were eligible for membership in the association, according to members of the Organization Committee.

Freight and express communication between Louisville and Chicago ceased today when full embargoes on all freight shipments destined for Chicago were put into effect by the Pennsylvania, Monon, Illinois Central and Big Four Railroads because of the Chicago switchmen's strike, according to announcements by the companies.

Switchmen Quit in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 7.—All switching crews in the Kansas City Southern yards here, and part of those in the Wabash yards, struck tonight in sympathy with the Chicago strike.

Wabash switchmen who left their work said members of the late night shift would not appear for work.

Rumor of Trouble on N. Y. Central.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 7.—Chiefs of the Brotherhoods of Railroad Trainmen, Locomotive Engineers and Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen conferred here tonight to devise means to prevent further spread of the railway strike.

Reports were current of restlessness on the New York Central lines, and the statement of the trainmen's chief that the strike was illegal was posted on bulletin boards over the whole New York Central system.

William G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in a statement issued here last night, promised protection to Brotherhood members and others who will fill positions made vacant by the strikes of railway switchmen, which he terms illegal. He added:

"All loyal members of the Brotherhood, who believe in protecting agreements made by their organisation and who believe in law and order, should willingly assist in making good the terms of our present contract with the railroad company, especially since the question of increased wages for train, engine and yard men is now being prepared for presentation to the Federal Labor Board at Washington, recently created by law."

GEN. WOOD ASSAILS RADICAL AGITATORS

URGES CONSTRUCTIVE AIMS

Special to The New York Times.

PEORIA, April 7.—Major General Leonard Wood, continuing today his campaign for the Illinois indorsement for the Republican Presidential nomination, made speeches in eleven towns, in every instance to large audiences.

At Danville, the home of ex-Speaker Cannon, the hall was packed to capacity, while hundreds were unable to get in. A crowd of about 3,000 people at Bloomington surrounded the train and cheered General Wood as he pleaded for a square deal for every man who works in America, whether that man be of the employing or the employed class.

"We must not try to win this election on the mistakes of our political adversaries. The whole country is weary of talking about the mistakes of the war. Those are things which have gone by, the money has been spent, it has gone over the dam, we cannot get it back.

"There are some radical elements that are trying to get into the Republican Party. They are trying to bore from within, so to speak, to break the organization up, to make it the vehicle of radicalism. All such people are more or less public enemies because they strive to disrupt a force which stands for good government.

"You will find all kinds of men now trying to gain votes by preaching false doctrines, by promising something they cannot deliver, by pretending they have some sovereign remedy for industrial and other conditions. There is no sovereign remedy. The principles of government are eternal.

No Place for Radical Agitators.

"There is and can be no place for any radical element the rank and file of which agitate for any change in the American form of government by other than the means provided by the Constitution of the United States."

Referring to the League of Nations, and after urging the ratification of the plan as modified by the Senate, General Wood continued:

"I do not believe we have any interest in the boundaries of European countries. That is a matter for the European nations to settle among themselves. We absolutely decline to give any European power a voice in settling any boundaries on this side of the Atlantic. Under the Monroe Doctrine we dominate this hemisphere over here, and we will not allow the establishment of any European Government on this side. Why, then, should we intermingle in settling European disputes? I believe we should have absolutely nothing to do with them.

"I do think, however, that as a Christian nation we ought to help those millions who are dying on the other side. There is a chance to take a voluntary mandate which comes from our own sense of decency, from our own sense of Christian charity, to do all we can to help these millions of people who face starvation, who are about to die, and many of whom have already died. Anything we can do to help them is going to make real friends abroad, where meddlesome interference in troublesome European disputes is going to make real enemies.

Wants to Keep Ties With Allies.

"Then again, I think that one of the tragedies of the world is that the fine feeling of co-operation which existed between ourselves and the Allies at the end of the war is rapidly disappearing. We should all stand together and try to keep alive that feeling, because upon the existence of that feeling depends in very large measure the future stability of the world."

At Danville, where General Wood made his noon speech, E. X. Leseur, a son-in-law of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, who is also the County Republican Committeeman, presided. Mr. Leseur is understood to be for Governor Lowden.

At Paris the schools were closed and business was suspended during the forty minutes General Wood was in that little city. About 2,000 persons met him at the station and escorted him to the Town Hall, where he spoke.

Just as large and as enthusiastic crowds greeted him in Mattoon, Charleston, Urbana and Pekin. The people of the smaller towns, such as Farmer City, Leroy and other places, appeared to have turned out in a body to welcome the General.

Tonight General Wood spoke in Peoria.

Ohio Senator Blames Tendency Away from Parties for 'What's Wrong with America.'

ANDERSON, Ind., April 7.—United States Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, began a three-day speaking tour of Indiana with a noonday address here today in the interest of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for President. He speaks in Muncie tonight, at Kokomo and Marion tomorrow and Friday at Huntington.

Declaring himself a party man, Senator Harding said there is not a candidate in the field whom he would not support if himself defeated for the nomination. "Let's keep in mind the election," he said. "The Republican Party, and not the nominee, will restore America. What is wrong with America today is that we are getting away from Government by political parties."

Criticising the Administration's "watchful waiting" policy in regard to Mexico, Senator Harding declared that "what America and the world needs worse than a League of Nations, is more honesty in its life."

"If there had been more honesty in our dealings with other nations," he said, "we would have been either in or out of the great war ten minutes after the Lusitania went down."

TENANTS IN COURT WIN YEAR'S STAY

tee," said Mr. Hilly, "and I warn the tenants that landlords are not entitled to the increase; that as the facts now stand in a large number of cases, if the tenants appeal to the courts under the new legislation, they will not have to pay the rents they are now paying.

"The statute under which this misapprehension has arisen is the bill which provides a defense for tenants in summary proceedings based on nonpayment of rent. The situation created by this bill can be divided into two parts. If the tenant thinks the rent he is paying is unjust and oppressive, he can refuse to pay it and tell the Court that the reason he refuses to pay it is that he thinks it unjust and oppressive. If the rent has not been increased 25 per cent. over the rent of a year ago, the tenant is called on to prove that the rent is oppressive.

"If the rent has been increased 25 per cent. or more over the rent of last year the tenant does not have to prove anything, but the landlord must prove that the rent is fair and reasonable. The landlord might increase the rent 5 per cent. and it would be oppressive and he might increase it 50 per cent. and it might not be oppressive. While the last statement is academically true the committee knows of no instance where the landlords have been so lenient as to wait until this late date to increase their rents."

Chairman Hilly said his attention had been called by a tenant living in the Birch Hall apartments, West 181st Street, to a lease executed recently and dated Feb. 28, although the landlord, the Manhattan Leasing Company, did not take title until April 1. The lease calls for a rent of $80 a month after May 1, while the present rent is $47.50.

The committee opened hearings in three additional rooms yesterday. Five hearings are now being conducted simultaneously. More than 500 cases were disposed of yesterday. The committee's staff now takes care of 3,000 cases a week, receives 4,000 pieces of mail daily, 500 telephone calls daily, 300 persons call daily for advice of which no record is kept, and hearings are held six days a week and Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Mayor Hylan announced yesterday the appointment of Tenement House Commissioner Frank Mann to head the Building Committee which is soon to come into being to draw up plans for stimulating construction of dwellings. The committee will include representatives of building material interests, bankers, real estate money lenders, title companies, civic organizations, labor and the public.

It is perfectly possible that your nearest and dearest friend, one to whom you have attributed qualities of the highest order, one who has secured the deserved esteem of the community, is, through no fault of his own, addicted to morphine. JOHNSON WILL TRY TO CAPTURE JERSEY

Opens Fight in New Brunswick —Thinks Name on Ballot Will Aid Him in Primary.

WOOD WILL RETURN EAST

Edwards Says He Did Not Lift a Hand for Vote Received by Him in Michigan.

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson believes the New Jersey delegates will follow those of Michigan in declaring for him as the Republican Presidential nominee at the primaries April 27 provided he is able to address enough voters personally. With this object in view, the Senator will carry on an intensive campaign in the State for the next two or three weeks.

The Senator is confident that the printing of his name on the ballot also will add materially to his chances of carrying the State. New Jersey, as was the case in Michigan, has a Presidential preference primary and the names of the various candidates appear on the ballot in order to give the voters an opportunity to express their preference as to candidates. Had this been the case in New York, the California Senator believes, he would have been the choice of the majority of the Republican voters.

"The Michigan primary was a clear demonstration of Senator Johnson's strength among the voters," said his manager, Angus McSween, yesterday, "and if he could campaign in the other States to the extent he did in Michigan the results would be the same. Advices received here state that the Senator carried every city in Michigan where he personally appeared and talked to the voters."

Senator Johnson opened his New Jersey campaign in New Brunswick last night. Tonight he will address meetings in Passaic and Paterson, and on Friday night in Hoboken and Jersey City. On Saturday the Senator will hurry to Nebraska to fulfill a speaking engagement. After that he will tour Indiana and make a trip through Montana and Oregon. These trips over, the California candidate will hurry back to New Jersey and campaign right up to the eve of the primaries.

While the Senator is absent from the State his managers, Angus McSween and A. C. Joy, personally will visit various cities and arrange for the carrying on of his campaign. A number of speakers have been engaged to talk in the Senator's behalf.

The Michigan primaries having shown that Senator Johnson is strongest in the cities, especially in labor centres, the Senator will pay particular attention to these sections.

When he goes to Nebraska Senator Johnson expects to encounter a rejuvenation of the General Pershing boom. Word was received at his headquarters yesterday that the Pershing campaign managers had become exceedingly active there.

Palmer Cancels Savannah Speech.

ATLANTA, April 7.—Attorney General Palmer's sudden illness, due to an attack of acute indigestion, in Gainesville, Ga., caused a cancellation of his speech tonight in Savannah, but it was not thought it would prevent his filling an engagement in Macon tomorrow night.

Labor Men Win Some Illinois Cities.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., April 7.—Official returns today showed that the new Labor Party was victorious in yesterday's municipal elections here and in Belleville, Harrisburg and Eldorado.

Elect Unpledged Delegates.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 7.—Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District today elected an uninstructed delegation to the Republican National Convention.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING LOSING IN SENATE

Informal Poll Indicates That It Will Be Beaten in Final Vote Today.

VOLUNTARY PLAN PROPOSED

Forty Democrats and Thirteen Republicans Said to be for It.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The big fight against universal military training opened late today in the Senate, with indications that the final vote, probably tomorrow, would result in its rejection.

Leaders on both sides who had informally canvassed the Senate vote refused to comment on the probable outcome. It was said, however, that forty Democrats and thirteen Republicans were against the training plan. In this situation a movement was begun aiming at the substitution of a program of voluntary training.

There was sharp debate today on the training scheme, which was commended and condemned, but the sum total accomplished was the decision to postpone from 1921 to 1922 the date on which the plan, if adopted, would be put into force. This was done with fewer than a dozen Senators in the Chamber, in accordance with the amendment offered by Senator Wadsworth, Republican, of New York. He explained that the reorganization of the War Department under the bill could not be carried out before that time. The amendment was adopted without objection.

Senator Pomerene, Democrat, of Ohio, opposing immediate adoption of the plan because of the expense, declared the "tragedy of untrained men being sent into battle was not due so much to unpreparedness as to the negligence of officers who sent them into the fight."

Attacks on the training provision also were made by Senators Nelson, Republican, of Minnesota, and Smith, Democrat, of Arizona.

Senator Nelson urged a regular army of 300,000 men, one-third of whom would be trained for one year only. In five years, he declared, such a program would provide a force of half a million, capable of "filling all our immediate necessities."

LORIMER MAY SEEK SENATE SEAT AGAIN

Illinois Man Ousted as Senator in 1909 Once More Active in Chicago Politics.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Former United States Senator William Lorimer, who lost his seat because of the improper use of money at the time of his election in 1909 by the Illinois Legislature, is again taking part in the councils of the Republican Party in Chicago. He has been acting with Mayor Thompson and his political associates in making plans for the City Hall campaign for control of the Republican County organization. There were rumors today that preparations are being made to put up Mr. Lorimer as a candidate for the United States Senate at the September primaries.

One of the active supporters of the Thompson faction remarked today, relative to the aldermanic elections of Tuesday:

"We will clean up Chicago next Tuesday. We will have thirty-two of thirty-five committeemen from Chicago. What will we do then? Why, it will be a cakewalk. We will give Lorimer such a majority for United States Senator in Cook County next Fall that downstate couldn't expect to overcome it."

COURT RULES AGAINST PIGS.

Special to The New York Times.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., April 7.—By a decision of Supreme Court Justice Morschauser filed at White Plains today, Lafayette Wiseman, owner of a big piggery at Union Corners in the town of East Chester lost his fight to have a special ordinance adopted bythe East Chester Town Board prohibiting piggeries within 1,000 feet of a house or highway declared unconstitutional. Justice Morschauser decided that the ordinance was constitutional.

Wiseman testified that his piggery was worth about $40,000 and that he kept 1,000 pigs. The piggery is close to the large homes of wealthy New Yorkers and several country clubs who complained that it was a nuisance.

Lieut. Comdr. Knapp's Son Killed.

John Marshall Knapp, Jr., 5 years old, was killed yesterday afternoon when he walked into an open elevator shaft, apparently under the impression that it was a stairway, and fell several feet in the Hotel Bonta, Broadway and Ninety-fourth Street. The child was the son of Lieut. Commander John Marshall Knapp, who is stationed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

FRICK COLLECTION PLANS.

Incorporation Sought In Order to Carry Out Provisions of Will.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—To carry out provisions in the will of Henry C. Frick, under which his extensive art collection is to be dedicated to the public use, incorporation is sought for "The Frick Collection," through a bill introduced today by Assemblyman Joseph Steinberg of New York.

Mrs. Adelaide H. C. Frick, widow of Henry C. Frick, heads the list of incorporators. The others are: Helen C. Frick, Childs Frick, George F. Baker, Jr., J. Horace Harding, Walker D. Hines, Lewis Cass Ledyard and John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The bill gives the incorporatrs power to add others.

The purposes of the proposed corporation are set forth in the bill as follows: "To encourage and develop the study of fine art and advance general knowledge of kindred subjects."

The bill would give the corporation power to dedicate the Frick Art Gallery to "the use and benefit of all persons whomsoever to the end that the same shall be a public gallery to which the public shall forever have access."

RODMAN CRITICISES ALL SIMS CHARGES

Declares Navy Was Well Prepared for War in 1917 and Upholds Home Command.

CALLS SIMS "INDISCREET"

Publication of the Instruction to "Watch the British" Has Done Harm, He Says.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Testifying today at his own request before the Senate committee investigation of the Sims-Daniels row, Admiral Rodman, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, took direct issue with Admiral Sims's charges and criticisms.

Admiral Rodman denied categorically that the navy entered the war without plans or policies; that it was unprepared to fight, or that it was a mistake to attempt to direct naval operations from Washington. The Admiral said he appeared, through a sense of duty and to "defend the good name of the navy," the work of which in the war he praised.

Admiral Rodman declared that never in his more than forty years of service had the fleet been in a better state of preparedness than in the Spring of 1917. Some types of vessels were lacking, he conceded, notably battle cruisers and scout cruisers, but generally speaking the navy "was ready to fight."

The witness referred to Sims's testimony that Admiral Benson, former Chief of Naval Operations, told him prior to his departure for London "not to let the British pull the wool over your eyes; we would as soon fight the British as the Germans."

"His mention and the subsequent publication of a certain admonition which he states he received prior to his departure for London no doubt had its effect upon the cordial relations which heretofore existed between us and one of our closest allies. In every expression of opinion which I have heard concerning it, both in and out of the navy, it has received the deepest censure."

The charge that the navy entered the war without plans or well-defined policies was not correct, Admiral Rodman testified, adding that experience on the General Board had given him opportunity to help prepare such plans, anticipating the probable advent of the United States into the war. These plans were later modified to meet existing conditions, he said.

Admiral Rodman asserted that the navy had many sources of information and recommendations abroad other than Sims's, who, the witness said, implied that the navy had prolonged the war by not accepting all of his recommendations.

Admiral Sims's status abroad was largely that of liaison officer, the witness declared.

"His title as 'Commanding United States naval forces in European waters' is partially misleading," said Rodman. "He was in reality a subordinate part of naval operations, with his office in London. He did not personally direct the movements of our fighting ships in the war zone, as the public so generally believed."

Admiral Sims, the witness continued, rendered "most conspicuous and valuable service to the navy during the war," but the "whole responsibility" of winning the war was not placed upon his shoulders.

As commander of the American battleship squadron with the British Grand Fleet during the war, Admiral Rodman told the committee that "the American navy did its full share most efficiently and splendidly in helping to bring the war against the Huns to a successful and victorious conclusion."

Sims's criticism that the American battleships sent to reinforce the Grand Fleet were not "homogeneous" was made, Rodman said, with full knowledge of the fact that coal-burning vessels had to be sent because oil was not available. The witness described the service of the American battleships with the Grand Fleet and declared that the American unit received nothing but the highest praise from the officers of the British fleet.

"The American squadron was fully equal to any of the Grand Fleet," said he.

The charge that the Navy Department should not have attempted to conduct operations from a point 3,000 miles from the war zone was criticized by Admiral Rodman, who declared that from the war zone was criticised by London" and that the only place for the direction and administration of the navy's policy was in Washington.

"To have moved our whole administration to London, even though 3,000 miles separated it from the scene of hostilities, would have been a serious blunder," he said. The admiral added that he thought there had been an evident effort to discredit the navy, and his impression was that Admiral Sims sought to give the impression that he had most of the responsibility for running the war and that the Navy Department "fell down on the job" because it did not follow his advice.

Admiral Rodman said that the only recommendation he had to make to strengthen the organization of the Navy Department was the suggestion that the Chief of Naval Operations be given full authority and entire responsibility.

The witness declared that the "motive which prompted this public investigation is veiled under a smoke screen of words, and I can't for the life of me see but that it will discredit the work of the navy in this war, which I know has been most creditable.

On cross-examination, replying to Chairman Hale, the witness characterized as "ridiculous" Sims's statement that lack of American co-operation with the Allies during the first six months of the war prolonged hostilities four months and cost 500,000 lives and a huge sum of money.

"There is an old proverb that there are three kinds of lies—lies, damned lies and statistics," said the Admiral. "This statement I consider to fall in the latter class."

The officer said that he did not agree with Secretary Daniels's statement that in April, 1917, the navy was "ready from stem to stern," but said it was in a good state of preparedness.

Admiral H. B. Wilson, who commanded American forces based at Brest, France, during the war and is now commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, will testify tomorrow.

HOTELS FIGHT DRY RULING.

Revocation of Permits for Liquor's Culinary Use Arouses Protest.

Federal Prohibition Commissioner John F. Kramer of Washington is to be asked by the Hotel Association of New York City to rescind his recent order revoking all permits to use liquors for culinary purposes, it was announced yesterday by Frank A. K. Boland of the firm of Campbell & Boland, 51 Chambers Street, attorneys for the hotel men. Mr. Boland said that it appeared to the hotel men that the Commissioner was overstepping his authority in ruling that no liquors or wines could be used by hotels or restaurants for cooking purposes.

James S. Shevlin, Supervising Enforcement Agent, said that Commissioner Kramer had revoked the permits because his office had reason to believe that certain places had laid in a large stock of liquors under the protection of the culinary permits.

Copeland Townsend of the Majestic Hotel said last night that he applied for a permit about a month ago. He learned about a week ago, he said, that no permits would be issued, the reason given being that somebody in the United States who received a permit to keep liquors for culinary purposes had laid in a large stock. Mr. Townsend said that this was entirely probable, but that the New York hotels had filed their applications in good faith and intended to obey the law.

SENATORS FOR QUICK NAVY CONSTRUCTION

Committee Favors for This Purpose Increase of $39,000,000 Over House Appropriation.

$10,000,000 FOR AVIATION

Funds for New York and Other Navy Yards Increased or Provided in Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Although standing on the 1921 naval building program as authorized by the House, the Senate Naval Affairs Committee will recommend an increase of $39,000,000 over House appropriations to enable quick construction. The House bill authorized a total of $424,500,000.

The Senate Committee, which virtually completed the Naval bill today and plans to report it to the Senate late this week, also granted liberal increases for other naval enterprises, including an increase of nearly $10,000,000 for naval aviation.

The largest single increase was $11,700,000 for completing aviation tenders under construction at Hog Island, for which material already has been fabricated. The House omitted this item.

To complete the 1916 building program as decided on by the House, the Senate Committee raised the appropriations from $46,000,000 to $52,000,000. Items of $11,000,000 for torpedo boat construction and $45,000,000 for armor plate were left unchanged.

In providing additional funds for naval aviation the Senate committee increased the House item for naval aircraft from $2,464,000 to $6,500,000 and that for new aviation stations from $1,257,000 to $5,400,000. Funds for experiments and developing all types of aircraft were increased from $2,035,000 to $3,796,000.

Other increases voted by the Senate committee included:

Rhode Island naval training station, from $250,000 to $300,000; Great Lakes training station, $500,000 to $600,000; for the Naval Reserve force, $50,000 to $500,000.

A new appropriation of $200,000 for the Newport (R. I.) torpedo station was inserted in the bill, and for the Boston navy yard, for which the House made no provision, the Senate committee recommended $300,000.

Funds for the New York navy yard were increased from $207,000 to $397,000; for the Philadelphia yard, from $1,100,000 to $1,200,000; for completion of the Norfolk navy yard's steel storage plant, from $220,000 to $520,000.

Admiral Hugh Rodman, Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet, testified at an executive session of the committee today regarding conditions on the Pacific Coast. Members indicated that the Admiral discussed necessary personnel increases for the Pacific Fleet, difficulty of obtaining recruits, serious shortage of skilled men, due to rapid resignation of petty officers, and questions relating to morale.

Names Two as Major Generals.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Charles P. Summerall and Henry Jervey were nominated today by President Wilson to be Major Generals in the Regular Army. Both now have the emergency rank of Major General.

VISITORS FLOCK TO 5TH AV.

Merchants from Many Cities View Exhibits—Pupils Give Concert.

Robert Grier Cooke, President of the Fifth Avenue Association, which is sponsoring Fifth Avenue Week, said yesterday that delegations from similar organizations and Chambers of Commerce in other cities were visiting New York to attend the celebration. Frederick M. Hower, Secretary of the North Central Association of Chicago, and Ellwood Chapman, President of the Chestnut Street Association of Philadelphia, were among those who headed parties of merchants and business men who were guests of the association.

"It is remarkable how much publicity newspapers in other cities have given Fifth Avenue Week," Mr. Cooke said. "The editorial comment has been particularly gratifying, and shows that all America looks to Fifth Avenue to set the standard."

As part of the program yesterday 400 school children gave a concert in the afternoon in Madison Square Park. The Morris High School band, led by Professor Edwin Tracey, played. Professor George H. Gartner, Director of Music in the schools, and Joseph F. Donnelly, Assistant Director, arranged the program. More than 5,000 persons heard the concert. Through Max C. Schling, florists of the city provided 2,500 roses for distribution among the children.

Last night the illuminations of the streets and windows was continued. This afternoon a pageant entitled "A Day's Work" will be given in Madison Square by the pupils of the Washington Irving High School. Mayor Hylan, Police Commissioner Enright and other officials have promised to attend. An organ recital will be given in the evening at the Little Church Around the Corner.

Printing Facts
By the use of double-tone ink on dull-coated paper most charming results can be achieved. In sepia the effect closely approximates photogravure work at a small part of the expense. Black ink printed from specially made half-tones on dull-coated paper gives a result almost identical to that of carbon print photography. This is a difficult process and should only be entrusted to a printer thoroughly experienced in its execution.

Who Discovered RICORO?
Told by a Conductor

"...So I switched to Ricoro—which travels de luxe at excursion rates."

"It was a man who got on at Chicago", writes the conductor of the Wall Street Limited. "I came around to collect the fares, and he was much distressed to learn that he'd lost both ticket and pocketbook.

"Well, I could see he was all right, and when he asked if he could send a check from his New York office, I readily agreed. He thanked me and gave me his card and a couple of cigars.

"Later in the evening I lighted one of the cigars—and Great Northern Railroad!—it was sure great! I dug up his card again and remembered that he was an official of the United Cigar Stores Company.

"I met him next morning, and told him that having noticed his business connection, I understood how he could give away such great smokes.

"'You mean those Ricoros!' he laughed, 'Why, you can buy 'em for a dime in every United Cigar Store in the country!'

"I don't know which pleased me most—the cigar, or the news that I could buy Ricoro for 10c in every town on the line!"

Sooner or later you'll discover Ricoro. You'll discover Ricoro's bland and balmy tropic fragrance—and you'll settle down to it for life. You'll buy Ricoro by the box, just like thousands of other satisfied Ricoro discoverers. And you'll buy it at the price of ordinary domestic cigars, because it comes from Porto Rico, duty free!

COUNSEL DEFENDS MRS. CROKER'S NAME

Charges That She Was Cabaret Singer and Chorus Girl Pronounced False.

SAYS SLANDERS MUST STOP

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 7.—Mrs. Croker's Counsel, Harold Nathan, issued this statement today:

"I have examined a copy of the complaint and affidavits on which the temporary injunction was issued tying up Mr. and Mrs. Croker's property. The charges of senility and undue influence are supported solely by the alleged opinions of Mr. Croker's two sons, one of his daughters and the wife and secretary of his eldest son, and by a short affidavit of one Palm Beach man, from whose bank Mr. Croker had withdrawn his account, saying that Mr. Croker's mind shows the effect of his advancing years and that his will is dominated by that of his wife. The charges are manifestly absurd and unsupported by evidence, and will be contradicted by an overwhelming array of evidence, including the deposition and testimony of a host of friends and acquaintances who have associated with Mr. and Mrs. Croker during their married life.

"The statement that has appeared in the press to the effect that it was expected that Mr. Croker's other daughter, Mrs. Florence Morris, would join in the present attempt to seize control of Mr. Croker's property cannot be made in good faith, for Mrs. Morris, since Richard Croker, Jr., started litigation against his father in New York, wrote that it was perfectly disgraceful and she would have nothing to do with it and there was no doubt her father was in the right.

Calls Headlines Libelous.

"I am particularly interested in the allegation contained in the bill of complaint, and affidavits that have been used as a basis of sensational headlines accusing Mrs. Croker of being a well-known character along Broadway, &c. Those headlines are distinctly libelous, for they are not supported by any statement of fact contained in the papers on file.

"Richard Croker, Jr., sets forth in his affidavit that he said various things to his father with respect to Mrs. Croker, but no competent proof is offered in support of these statements, although it appears that detectives have combed the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific looking for evidence against Mrs. Croker.

"The facts in relation to Mrs. Croker's life history are these:

"She was born in Indian Territory, near Maysville, Ark., in 1884. She has never misrepresented her age. She is enrolled as a Cherokee Indian, one of the five civilized tribes, and has an allotment of land as a member of such tribe. Her parents are substantial people owning a ranch of 500 acres. Her uncle is now a member of Congress. She was educated in the Cherokee National Female Seminary at Tahlequah, Indian Territory, and was graduated in 1902.

"She then took a course in the Summer Normal School of Oklahoma University, and afterward taught mathematics at the Tahlequah Seminary for about five years. About 1908 she went to Boston and entered Dr. Curry's School of Expression. She was there for three years, taking a four-year course in that line. Her parents paid her expenses. She returned to Indian Territory about 1911 and taught expression to private pupils in Muskogee, also gymnastics in the public schools. In March, 1913, she went to the Wilson inaugural, representing Oklahoma in the suffrage parade, and then went to New York, where she studied voice work under teachers of music. She maintained herself by giving recitals and by means of remittances from her parents.

"The statements that have been made that she was a cabaret and chorus singer, that she appeared at Churchill's in cabaret and in the Hippodrome chorus, are wilfully, maliciously false. She never appeared at Churchill's and never appeared at the Hippodrome. She has been accused of having a gay time in the Summer of 1914, whereas in fact she spent that Summer giving recitals through a series of girls' and boys' camps in the New England States.

"The sensational charges made against Mrs. Croker are a baseless and monstrous fabrication, unsupported by any competent proof. She will no longer tamely submit to the spreading of such false and defamatory statements."

Trial May Begin Monday.

Counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Croker, Sr., completed their case today and are ready to go to trial on the charge that the old Boss of Tammany Hall is insane and that his wife, owing to this alleged fact, has managed to get much of his property away from him. The absence of Judge E. S. Donnell, who granted the temporary injunction while ill at his home, is holding things up.

Friends of Mr. Croker pointed out today why it was, as appears in the voluminous affidavits already filed, that prior to his second marriage he transacted so much of his business through his son Richard. They stated that the first Mrs. Croker, from whom Mr. Croker was separated during these years, always refused to sign any papers whatsoever, and that therefore her husband could not deal in real property in his own name.

The Palm Beach property, which he afterward sold to Otto H. Kahn, he bought in the name of his son, and the property upon which "The Wigwam," his own home, stands, he purchased in the name of his brother-in-law. Mr. Croker said today that he afterward transferred "The Wigwam" and some adjacent property also held by his brother-in-law, to his wife, because he wanted her to have the home in her name. He also made the same explanation for the transfer to her of Glencairn, his estate in Ireland.

In speaking of his wife today Mr. Croker said that she made $50,000 for him a year ago this Winter in one transaction, at a time when he was so sick, during an illness of several weeks, that he could scarcely give attention to the matter.

"A thing that amuses me," Mr. Croker continued, "is the concern my children apparently have about what my wife gets. In the first place, I will say that my wife has earned, since we married, in deals that she has sprung herself, considerably more than we both have spent since we were married. If my wife was an extravagant woman, forcing herself into society down here by lavish entertaining that was dissipating my fortune, I can see how they might feel like making some complaint, but instead we have one servant, we live very quietly and happily, and what we have spent she has earned twice over. My son Richard cannot complain about my running away and getting married without telling him about it, as one of the papers I read today had it. In the first place, I didn't. In the second place, that's exactly what he did. While I was paying his expenses at Amherst he ran away and got married and never told me a word about it for more than a year."

Colby Can Publish Testimony.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee decided today to advise Secretary Colby that he might, if he chose, make public the testimony given before the committee in executive session in connection with confirmation of his nomination. Copies of the testimony will be furnished to the Secretary if he wishes to make it public.

Oberlin Professor New Berea Head.

BEREA, Ky., April 7.—Professor William J. Hutchins of Oberlin College has accepted the pdesidency of Berea College and its allied school, to succeed William Goodell Frost, who is to retire on account of continued ill health. The new President is a graduate of Yale and a former pupil and friend of Dr. Frost.

PRINCESS WATAHWASO SINGS

Penobscot Descendant Displays a Lovely Voice in Indian Airs.

A new singer of an ancient race appeared for the first time in recital yesterday at Aeolian Hall, where an audience of musical New Yorkers gave her a welcome of more than usual cordiality. Watahwaso was the young woman's name, a descendant of chiefs of the Penobscot Indians of Maine, a leading tribe of the old Abenaki Confederacy, of the stock of the Algonquins. The voice of aboriginal America, as represented in this youthful artist, is remarkable; a voice of singularly lovely natural quality, of rare resonance, and of sufficient cultivation to justify the essay of one opera air, the "Voce di Donna" from Ponchielli's "La Gioconda."

It was in Indian airs adapted by Cadman, Lieurance and Troyer that the interplay of Watahwaso's native and acquired gifts produced a degree of charm not often heard in primitive music. Clad in rawhide, she told the stories of the origin of these songs, illustrated their ceremonial character, and even in a few over-sophisticated versions, like the "Chippewa Mourning Son," carried her audience with her in outspoken delight if not always conviction as to authentic Indian traits in tilt and cadence. There were examples from the Oneidas, Sioux, Crow and Zuni tribes, to which the house asked encores.

NEW BRANCH POST OFFICE.

A new Post Office building for the handling or second-class mail in New York has been under consideration by the Post Office Department, according to a statement made at the Advertisers' Club luncheon yesterday by George Rosenberg, President of the Publishers' Postal Service.

Coincident with Mr. Rosenberg's news announcement was made yesterday afternoon by the local Post Office authorities that a contract had just been signed for the erection of a four-story stone building at 122-126 East Twenty-third Street, to house the branch at present in the Metropolitan Life Building. The total floor space there will be about 75,000 square feet, and it is hoped the new quarters will be ready for occupancy by Sept. 1.

Postmaster Patten said yesterday afternoon that a commission composed of representatives from the Post Office Department in Washington and officials from his offices has under consideration the erection of a new building for the handling of foreign mails, the improvement of facilities in the Grand Central Terminal, and similar improvements in the local branches in the Bronx, Westchester and Washington Heights.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Postal officials confirmed tonight the idea that it would require about $25,000,000 to bring postal facilities in New York City up to a point where they would be ready to meet demands of the next few years. This amount would include new buildings and mail tunnels to connect them. However, the outlook for improvements is slim. Congress will have no public buildings bill this year, due to the Republican slogan of economy, and no appropriations for buildings in New York City have been included in pending bills.

PICKFORD SUIT NEXT WEEK.

Nevada Attorney General Says He Will Set Aside Movie Star's Divorce.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., April 7.—Declaring that his investigation of the facts and circumstances of the Mary Pickford divorce case, taken in conjunction with the record of the trial, has convinced him that the movie star's decree was illegally obtained, Robert Richards, Deputy Attorney General of Nevada, said today that an action would be brought to set the decree aside on Thursday, depending on whether or not the papers can be prepared by that time.

"I am convinced," said Mr. Richards, "as a result of my investigations extending over several weeks and which covered the record, files, facts and circumstances of the case, that there was collusion and fraud practiced on the court in order to confer jurisdiction."

It is likely that the presence both of Mrs. Fairbanks and Owen Moore will be required at Minden when the action to set aside the decree is heard. Reports circulated to the effect that he received money as a consideration for granting the decree have aroused the ire of Judge Langan and he has had several conferences with the Deputy Attorney General relative to the investigation the latter has conducted.

CARUSO SINGS IN "LA JUIVE."

Lazaro and Mme. Barrientos Appear in "Lucia" at Night.

It was distinctly "tenors' day" at the Metropolitan yesterday, when the Caruso standees thronged Broadway and Thirty-ninth Street all afternoon, many being turned away, to be succeeded at evening by the equally vociferous champions of young Mr. Lazaro. Indeed, the night crowd was the more unexpected and surprising, for the opera was an old one, the perennial "Lucia," but with Mme. Barrientos as its heroine the conjunction of two Spanish favorites drew possibly the largest house Donizetti's sonorous tragedy has had in years.

Halévy's "La Juive" was the special matinée, having made a top subscription record among the past year's special revivals; Ponselle, Harrold and others sang with Caruso, and a minor rôle was taken at the last moment by Thomas Chalmers. In the audience were Alfred Hertz and Titta Ruffo.

Allows Testimony by Wife.

Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions yesterday, at the trial of Joseph Levy of 126 East Tenth Street on the charge of robbing members of the Young Comrades' Club at Henry and Montgomery Streets on Dec. 14, ruled that testimony against the defendant by his wife was admissible. Assistant District Attorney Bohan had Mrs. Levy, who lives at 119 Brooks Street, Bronx, testify regarding the visit of her husband and companions to her home shortly after the robbery. Mrs. Levy said she heard her husband say it was an "easy job" and that he would dispose of the "masks." The attorney for Levy asked to have this testimony stricken out on the ground that anything that occurred between husband and wife was confidential.

Judge Rosalsky said the legal seal relating to confidences between husband and wife had been broken in this case by the presence in the room of other persons.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Oliver Morosco will revive "The Bird of Paradise" in New York late this Spring or early in the Summer. A number of the original players will be in the cast.

Myrtle Tannehill has been added to the cast of "The Bonehead," which will open at the Fulton on Monday night.

The Selwyns have acquired a new play by Samuel Shipman and J. R. Rithy, as yet unnamed.

Sunday night vaudeville performances will be continued at the Century Theatre under the auspices of the Shuberts.

The Akron Club of New York will present a musical comedy, "You'd Be Surprised," at the Cort Theatre on Sunday night. The performance will be in aid of Blue Bird Camp, an institution devoted to the welfare of public school children.

MUSIC

By Richard Aldrich

Rachmaninoff Night at The Festival.

The second performance in the Oratorio Society's music festival took place last evening in the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. The audience was large, as it was on the opening night. The program was devoted to the works of Serge Rachmaninoff, the Russian composer, now staying in New York, and he himself was a participant as soloist in his second piano concerto and accompanist in a group of his songs.

It had also been announced that he would conduct his cantata, "Springtime," which was set down in the big program book as new and sung for the first time in America. But he did not conduct it, being unwilling to put upon his arm the strain of conducting, when he was also to play the piano the same evening. Nor was the cantata given for the first time, for it had been sung here by the Schola Cantorum.

It might have been predicted that a program made up wholly of Mr. Rachmaninoff's music would have fitted ill in a festival scheme. Beautiful, original, strong as it is, there is a certain melancholy strain in it, a national strain, that tends toward monotony in large amounts. Yet the result was more fortunate than such a prediction. The audience was evidently deeply stirred by the whole program and let its feelings be shown in abundant applause, much of which was directed toward the composer whenever he was visibly in a position to receive it.

But, at all events, the pieces on the program were none of them well adapted to performance in the vast spaces of the 71st Regiment's stronghold. The cantata does not offer many opportunities for deploying great choral masses, and in fact was recognised in the reduction of the size of the chorus. It needs finish, a fine adjustment of dynamics, an abundance of shading, and these are the things that it did not get. The choral singing was inferior in attack, in precision and in quality to that heard on Tuesday evening. The baritone soloist was not George Baklanoff, as the program book had it, but Royal Dadmun, who sang well. The composition itself has the individuality of expression that marks Mr. Rachmaninoff's work; it has beauty, freshness and buoyancy, and innumerable interesting details in the harmonic structure and in the orchestral accompaniment. But it should be heard in a smaller place from a smaller chorus more certain of the music.

The chorus was heard only once again, in the a cappella motet "Laud ye the Name of the Lord," also set down as new and sung for the first time in America. It is religious music of deep feeling and expression, and it was better sung than the cantata. It so impressed the audience that its repetition was called for.

"The Isle of the Dead," the symphonic poem after the noted painting, often reproduced, of Renold Böcklin, is one of the more familiar as well as one of the more striking of Mr. Rachmaninoff's orchestral compositions. It had been already heard here earlier in the season under at least more favorable surroundings. The orchestra did itself credit in the performance, and Mr. Damrosch strove vigorously to elucidate its spirit and its eerie, at climax.

Miss Sophie Braslau sang three of Mr. Rachmaninoff's songs in the original tongue, for which he played the accompaniments himself. The most familiar was the brilliant "Floods of Spring"; the others were more typically Russian in their melancholy strain, and the one that he added as an encore strongly Oriental. Miss Braslau's voice sounded remarkably beautiful in its typical contralto color, and its power filled the hall. Some of that power was gained by forcing, and with a consequent sharpness of pitch; but the beauty of the voice was scarcely affected.

Finally Mr. Rachmaninoff played his second piano concerto, and again it must be said that armories are no places for piano concertos.

Bay State Will Save Daylight.

BOSTON, April 7.—Governor Coolidge indicated today that he would sign the Daylight Saving bill. The Governor said that although he disliked the bill it had been so fully discussed he felt that he ought to follow the will of the Legislature.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 7.—The Daylight Saving bill passed the House of Representatives today by a vote of 66 to 14. It was amended to make the summer schedule end on the last Sunday in October, to conform to the Massachusetts law.

WE STAND WITH MEXICO.

The United States is the most backward of fully civilized nations. It has rejected the opportunity to associate itself with other Powers in the greatest advance for better, safer and happier conditions for mankind and for nations that has been made in all history. All the Latin-American countries of South and Central America have now become members of the League of Nations. They have pledged their support to the covenant of peace. Venezuela even has joined the League. In the whole New World only Mexico and the United States stand aloof, and for precisely the same reason—the violence and virulence of their domestic politics.

King HAAKON of Norway read us a lesson yesterday when, in reciting the declaration of the Storthing announcing the decision of the Norwegian Government to enter the League, he said that to the eyes of the Norwegians this association of the nations > represents the most considerable effort made up to the present to develop the rule of justice among nations, and that the future of the League depends essentially upon a development based on the accession of all civilized nations, a general limitation of armaments and the obligation to settle peaceably all international disputes in order to avoid war.

It is the purpose and certain effect of the League to prevent quarrels, to settle disputes peaceably if they arise. Yet partisan leaders of blind partisans are still on their knees turning their streaming eyes to heaven in thankfulness that we have not committed ourselves to perpetual entanglement in the bickerings of other nations. Here is Senator CALDER who says "the inevitable has happened. France has seen fit to send her army into Germany to protect herself from any possible attack. Her action brings home to us clearly what our responsibility would be under the League of Nations as submitted." THOMAS CARLYLE had a short, blunt way of expressing his opinion of men who prate in that fashion. Let us avoid his unfeeling severity and point out to Senator CALDER that, if he and other Republican Senators of his intelligence had broken away from the leadership of Mr. LODGE and ratified the Treaty six months ago, there would have been no occasion for France to send her troops to occupy German cities.

The Republicans of the United States Senate destroyed the alliance, under their assaults the League broke down. The enemy countries were quick to see and seize their advantage. The Turks rebelled against the conditions of peace; the massacres of Marash were a consequence of the action of the Senate. There were threatenings of war between the Jugoslavs and the Italians because of the absence of any effective means of applying pressure for conciliation, reason and justice. The reactionary military demonstration of KAPP in Germany was a direct consequence of the failure of the Allies, through the perverse misbehavior of the United States, to consolidate their victories by a unanimous ratification of the Treaty and adhesion to the League covenant. Now a similar conspiracy of military reaction is reported from Bavaria. Impenitence is the prevailing temper in Germany, the Germans hope to profit by disunion among the Powers that put them down. France knows the German spirit, France took steps in time to avert the coming of the old danger in a new form.

There would have been nothing like this in Germany or in Turkey or anywhere if the United States had been true to the obligations imposed upon it by honor and by international morals. In the great marshaling of the forces of civilization for justice and security and peace we placed ourselves in the very forefront of the legion. Then we deserted our post, we withdrew altogether, we stand apart, we do not even bring up the rear. We are a cipher, a nonentity, because HENRY CABOT LODGE and his group of Republican obstructionists put the humbling of WOODROW WILSON above the safety of the world. It is not for Americans to reproach France for resolving to defend herself when she finds that other nations are false to their engagement to defend her and themselves against a common danger.

THE FRUIT OF ZEAL.

While it is possible that the distinguished clergyman whose sociological observations in this town are so conspicuous may have seen some things rather with the eye of moral indignation than of the most vigorous exactness, the people of New York have taken notice that excitement and trouble have been stirred up in "official circles" by his volunteer investigations. Has there not been a return to the old system of protected vice and crime? Public opinion is much misinformed if that is not the case. If the public thinks that, at the same time it does no injustice to the great body of policemen. Even under the worst of administrations the majority of them are honest and straight. Physically and mentally and morally they are still of that high class, generally, that ARTHUR WOODS was so active in bringing into the service of the city.

Is the town "open"? Is permitted vice still common and flagrant? The zealous sociological clergyman has performed a public service in concentrating public attention upon these inquiries. That he was not speaking from ignorance, without respect for facts, is evident by the investigations that instantly followed his revelations or statements. Inspectors are tumbling over one another in their eagerness to demonstrate the sudden propriety of seeming to know what they knew before. Whether or not there is any disturbance among the high gods at headquarters, the sociological clergyman has made a great impression there as he has upon the public mind; and this without reference to possible excesses of report of which he may have been unconsciously guilty. For some time it has looked as though this municipal administration couldn't be investigated too much; and the more it has been investigated, the more interesting have been the results. The Commissioner of Accounts may have been full of a pious zeal when he sought to pry into the dark secrets of notoriously suspicious organizations like the Bronx Zoo, the American Museum of Natural History and the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The sociological clergyman has given him other subjects in which an accounting seems much to be needed.

We have no desire to infer or premise anything in regard to the public morals of New York or the dereliction, if any dereliction there has been, of any public officials in that regard; but the inquisitive clergyman has not only presented a considerable body of evidence, but that evidence and his opinion agree with the public opinion of New York. That opinion may be wrong. At least we are now to ascertain the facts or some of the facts. The public impression of Dr. STRATON'S disclosures is well set forth in the observations that he is a habitual four-flusher who has finally filled one. We think the point will not be missed in city administration circles.

PORTER AND HAMILTON.

Mr. STEPHEN G. PORTER, Chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, tries to show that it is in the power of Congress by joint resolution to declare the war at an end. The Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee is presumably instructed in the doctrine and practice of his distinguished post. That being the case, how does it happen that he has forgotten an article written by ALEXANDER HAMILTON for The Gazette of the United States, a Philadelphia publication, in which that great intellect gave his views, corroborated since by the whole course of precedent and example, in fact the uninterrupted conduct of our foreign affairs? On June 29, 1793, HAMILTON wrote:

> The legislative department is not the organ of intercourse between the United States and foreign nations. It is charged neither with making nor interpreting treaties. It is, therefore, not naturally that member of the Government which is to pronounce the existing condition of the nation with regard to foreign Powers.
> The legislative department is now trying to make itself the organ of intercourse between the United States and Germany. It has no such right or function as it is now presuming to exercise. Probably it knows that fact perfectly well. Mr. PORTER and his Republican friends are now trying to assume for themselves powers which they must know perfectly well they have no constitutional right to exercise.
> They are turning out what they conceive to be "campaign material." They are making pretensions probably amusing to themselves. We recommend them to consult the name, once venerated and now despised by the Republicans, of ALEXANDER HAMILTON. Yet it is unnecessary to dwell too much upon a name, however illustrious. What is to be dwelt upon is the fact that for nearly four generations of American history constitutional practice and precedent, quite contrary to the ingenious observations of Mr. PORTER, have told, as the Constitution itself shows and as ALEXANDER HAMILTON told his generation, that "the legislative department is "not the organ of intercourse between the United States and foreign nations."

JOHNSON'S VOTE.

It would be foolish to underestimate the Johnson victory in Michigan, and equally foolish to exaggerate it. He got the radical and the old pacifist vote. The pacifists and pro-Germans voted as they felt while the war was going on. JOHNSON was the nearest approach to the things they stand for, and have stood for during six years in which regular Americans have known only one enemy, the one between the Rhine and the Baltic. Probably he was not as satisfactory to them as some one whom they could have chosen for themselves, but he was not objectionable. It is safe to say that he got every vote that represented hatred of the present form of government in the United States and the desire for revolution, except those that were cast in other and lesser parties. There appears no evidence of it in the Democratic primaries, which were aimless and helpless, but there are several radical parties. In fact, Michigan socialism is more radical than the socialism of any other State, and much of it was so much too strong for the stomachs of the regular Socialists that it was forced out and allied itself with the Communists.

In 1916, for much the same reason, the radicals, pacifists and pro-Germans carried the Republican primaries for HENRY FORD and instructed the delegation to vote for him for President. Perhaps FORD was not their ideal; perhaps ALEXANDER BERKMAN, had he been a citizen, would have more nearly represented it; but they struck along the line of least resistance, as they have done now in voting for JOHNSON. The vote they cast for JOHNSON represents an unattainable hope, the hope that never will be realized unless the United States should cease to be American and become Russianized or Germanized in its way of thinking. Hatred of England, hatred of wars of self-defense, hatred of a representative government in America, love for Germany and for Bolshevist Russia—these things all figured in the vote that was cast for JOHNSON in the cities, but for which he could not have won the primaries.

It is well to know that in some parts of the country there is enough of such a sentiment to sway a primary election. But Wayne County, Michigan, is not the United States. The miserably small vote cast for the Johnson candidates in the New York primaries is of interest as showing how other States are lining up—have, in fact, begun to line up for some time—as if JOHNSON were a minor candidate and not much to be considered. WOOD, if Detroit had been eliminated from the voting, would have carried Michigan; the old American agricultural districts, where Bolshevism and pacifism have made no headway, went heavily for him despite the blizzard. There is no more reason for overestimating what Wayne County thinks than there is for underestimating what the rest of the Union thinks, a matter on which we already have some information and are going to have more.

A BONUS REFERENDUM.

In The American Legion Weekly of Nov. 7, 1919, was published an article upon the future of the organization by HENRY D. LINDSLEY, Chairman of the National Executive Committee, in which it was said that "today the "American Legion has the confidence "and support of the whole American "public," because "the people accept "the fact that the American Legion "is the greatest force for good in our "country." The convention called to meet in Minneapolis had not then assembled. Men of the Legion were not asking for a blanket bonus that would require payments in the sum of $1,500,000,000 up, without considering the welfare of the country at large at the present time or in the time to come. Politicians in the Legion were not moving on the politicians in Congress and emphasizing the voting strength of the ex-service men. The organization enjoyed the confidence of everybody, and it was the hope, indeed the general feeling, that it would keep its escutcheon untarnished by selfish demands upon the Government. There was a passage in Chairman LINDSLEY'S article with which the bonus-for-all promoters should be confronted now:

> The American Legion intends that justice from the Government shall be extended to the man who served in the army and navy in this war, and to their dependents, but that this justice must include in its consideration every other man and every other woman in the land. The American Legion stamps class selfishness as wrong and as short-sighted as individual selfishness. Made up as the American Legion is, of men from every class and in every walk of life, it will set its face against the supremacy of any class in our American life.

It would be well for the thoughtful and patriotic members of the Legion to ponder this policy of the organization, as set forth by Chairman LINDSLEY. It reflected the sentiment and purpose of the members at that time when there was no demand for money gifts from Congress to able-bodied men because they had worn the uniform. Justice to the maimed, the helpless, those who could no more fight the battle of life, and aid to the dependents of the dead and disabled, were to be asked for, with the whole power of the Legion behind the application. No one in that period of devotion to the ideals of the order thought of making a draft upon the Treasury for $50 per month of service as the withheld payment of a debt to all the men who wore the uniform overseas and at home, in battle and in training camps. Such a demand is the class selfishness reprobated by Chairman LINDSLEY as wrong and as lacking in consideration "for every other man and every other woman in the land," who would have to buy bonds or carry a still heavier burden of taxation that each able-bodied ex-service man could have his money.

The former Chairman of the New York County post of the American Legion, GEORGE BROKAW COMPTON, has announced that he will form a national committee to take a referendum of members of the organization on the bonus-for-all question. His purpose, inspired by protests from all parts of the country, is to save "the great "potentialities of the Legion for use-"ful service to the public." It can render no useful service if it loses the confidence of the people, and that is what will happen if the members of the Legion engage in a campaign of "class selfishness" and incur the suspicion that the Treasury is to be raided every time another proof of the gratitude of the country is demanded, pensions piled on pensions until the $5,000,000,000 paid to veterans of the civil war is regarded as a cheap return for services rendered.

As late as April 6 the annual pension bill carrying $214,000,000 was passed by the House of Representatives, fifty-five years after the civil war and twenty-two years after the Spanish war. Fifty years hence, what will the pension appropriation for veterans of the European war be if the bonus-for-all requisition is honored now by politicians in Congress afraid of the politicians of the American Legion? If the "country-wide ref-"erendum" urged by Mr. COMPTON were held, there is reason to believe that when the men of the Legion got a chance to vote upon the bonus-for-all proposal the leaders who would fasten "class selfishness" upon the order would be repudiated.

THE CITIZENS UNION.

The work to which the Citizens Union is dedicated is of obvious necessity. There can be no good citizenship without clear knowledge of the city in all its functions and no efficient activity without organization. The forces of evil are kept constantly alive and active by political partisanship—too often by "the cohesive power of public plunder"—but the forces of progress are spasmodic and are largely their own reward. It is, therefore, cause for hearty congratulation to the City of New York even more than to the Citizens Union that since July, 1918, the membership of the organization has almost doubled.

Of the new members more than half are women. It is doubtless in recognition of this that the Union has of late organized courses for the study of city problems in the actual material of daily life. Under the direction of the Committee on City Government informal groups or committees of the members are being formed which will study the more pressing problems of the day, with a view to rendering a helpful influence, under competent and expert direction. The program is flexible and will be altered from time to time as new needs arise, but its scope is indicated by the subjects already selected. These include the Board of Aldermen, Parks and Playgrounds, Public Markets and Food Distribution, Libraries, Museums and Botanical Gardens, Street Cleaning and Snow Removal, Port Development and Terminals, Children's Courts, Municipal Courts and many kindred subjects.

The object of the new courses is to keep the spirit of citizenship always alive and operative, to increase the general knowledge of public affairs and stimulate effective action.

The annual meeting for the election of officers will take place tonight at 8 o'clock, at the Bush Terminal Auditorium. Addresses will be delivered on a variety of timely subjects, including "The Housing and Rent Problem," "The Crisis in Education," and "Ten Years of City Legislation at Albany." All members are urged to attend and applications will be received for new memberships.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Obviously in Error as to Motive.

In explaining his resignation as United States Commissioner, RICHARD M. CAHOONE has made some statements which, to characterize them without chance of exaggeration, are surprising. He is, it seems, unwilling longer to aid in enforcing the prohibition laws. That, of course, is in itself a sufficient reason for resigning his office; indeed, an unwillingness to aid in enforcing any law on the statute book does more than justify the resignation of any official—it imposes upon him an obligation to do so that in conscience he cannot ignore.

But Mr. CAHOONE goes further than to exercise his unquestionable right no longer to hold an office the duties of which he finds repugnant. He says, or at least is quoted as having said, "Prohibition has hit a large number of people and has called the attention of the community generally to the desire of the Federal Government to interfere with the individual, simply to give employment to a swarm of worthless hirelings."

Now, antagonism to prohibition, no matter how strong, does not give warrant for that assertion. The State Legislatures did not ratify the prohibition amendment for that purpose, nor for it did Congress pass the law for the amendment's enforcement. If Mr. CAHOONE does not know that he is strangely ill-informed. His description of the men employed under the law to stop the sale of potable alcohol, it seems more than likely, is wrong as to some of them and is right as to some. As United States Commissioner, however, he could have done more than he can in private life to eliminate "the worthless hirelings," if such there be, from the little army of men employed in the Government's service, and by doing what he could in that direction he would have helped to maintain respect for law, which is something which all good citizens should try to do to the extent of their ability.

Detectives Have Uses and Merits.

As to the character of the men all of whom Mr. CAHOONE calls "worthless hirelings," presumably it ranges through the degrees usually found illustrated in any group equally large, the members of which are set to doing work of this particular sort. The task set before them is not one to attract persons of delicate sensibilities or of the highest intellectual development. It involves much watching and some deceiving of their fellows, but every detective must do both, and does it with the commendation of all to whom the defence of the public from its lawbreaking element is recognised as desirable.

Possibly other ways of dealing with criminals will be devised some day, but no alternative method is as yet available, and while it is universally recognised that detectives are exposed to temptations which not all of them anywhere will resist, that fact is not made by the judicious a pretext for denouncing all detectives as dishonest. Certainly all of them are not, and by most people the value of the detective's work is so well appreciated that he is something of a popular hero.

Almost invariably the detective is a sympathetic figure in melodrama, and nothing could be better proof of his place in public esteem. But when he becomes himself a lawbreaker, the accomplice instead of the enemy of criminals, then, of course, he is a hireling much worse than worthless.

They Won't Appeal to the Courts.

Though the counsel of the expelled Assemblymen denies the abandonment of all thought of appealing to the courts for their reinstatement, there is every indication that it has been dropped. Its hopelessness must be apparent to anybody with even a little legal training and knowledge of what the State Constitution clearly says as to the powers of the Legislature.

Far wiser than an appeal to the courts is the effort to secure special elections in the districts whence the exiles came. The superiority of that course, however, is not due to any greater probability of securing admission to the Assembly Chamber in that way, for though the special election, if secured, might, and probably would, result in a majority vote for the same men, it is hardly thinkable that the body which expelled them for what it held sufficient reason would let them take their seats while that reason continues to exist. To do so would be a most stultifying admission that the original action was wrong and unjust, and as the expulsion was by large majorities made up of both Democrats and Republicans the chances that it will be made are microscopic.

What the ex-members would gain by re-election would be another grievance to use after the one they have now is worn out. And that is something. It would enable them again to claim that they are martyrs to opinion, victimized, as one of them put it the other day, "by hirelings of the vested interests." That characterization fell rather flat then, for, in the very middle of their action against the Socialist members, the "hirelings" stopped long enough to pass a lot of bills treating the very oldest and strongest of "vested interests"—real estate—with a harshness to which it never before had been subjected in any country.

Mr. Croker Was Made Ill.

What is not the least, and perhaps ought to be the most, interesting revelation yet made since the Croker family began to make public its private troubles is the disclosure that RICHARD CROKER, Sr., was grieved by the failure of his two sons to "get into the war," and that he earnestly exhorted them to do what he considered their duty as Americans.

His appeal was vain, it seems, for Mr. CROKER says that it produced only a letter from one of the sons that much displeased him—that "made me sick" is the phrase by which Mr. CROKER describes his feeling when the letter came.

The rejoinder of the younger CROKERS will be awaited with some impatience. A father's advice is not rejected without a reason, and while the sons are telling such a lot of things about themselves and him they might as well clear up this little war-time episode.

If they don't he is almost sure to do so, and to have the first word is often more valuable than to have the last one.

A Better Understanding.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I was much interested in a contribution from the pen of ex-Second Lieutenant B. L. Stafford which appeared in your issue of Sunday, especially in that portion of his letter in which he said that when he came to know the Britishers he felt better toward them.

Lieutenant Stafford has certainly "hit the nail on the head." The present irritation between the United States and Britain is due to a lack of understanding. As an Englishman born and bred, I was always given to understand by my countrymen that Americans were a nation of boasters. I came over here with that idea firmly imbedded in my mind—the result of observations of American tourists in England who did not stay there sufficiently long for me or my countrymen to judge them fairly. After a residence of some years in this country, I have changed my views entirely, and now claim to possess some of the best friends I have ever met anywhere—true Americans all. Wherever I have been in the United States, I have always been treated well, and I claim to hold the greatest respect and admiration for the United States and its people.

It seems a pity to me that so much misunderstanding should exist between two English-speaking nations, both claiming to be civilized and cultured, especially in these times, when the clouds of war are still hovering in the background.

Peace by Declaration.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The proposed senatorial declaration of peace will either be a farce or, if successful, will be a disgraceful surrender of the position our armed forces won for us.

JUGOSLAV PROTESTS

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Miss Italia Garibaldi, now on a speaking tour in this country, spoke, according to THE NEW YORK TIMES, with enthusiasm of d'Annunzio, and expressed her hope that the United States would give its support to Italy's Adriatic aspirations. In doing such propaganda work Miss Garibaldi is certainly in her good right, whatever one may think about Italy's imperialistic claims. But I hardly believe that her characterization of the Jugoslavs as a "wild and almost uncivilized people" will arouse much sympathy, even among those Americans who know as much about the Jugoslavs as Miss Garibaldi seemingly does. Racial preconceptions are always a bad thing and the source of many easily avoidable evils.

Miss Garibaldi will be certainly astounded at hearing that, for instance, the Slovenes, the northwestern branch of the Jugoslavs, show an illiteracy quota of only around 10 per cent. There are certainly spots in Jugoslavia where the general standard of education is not as high as that, but the people can be just as little blamed for their lack of opportunities as the people in Calabria, Sicily or Sardinia, after half a century of Italian independence, while Jugoslavs are the masters of their destiny just since yesterday.

Realising how little the Italians know about their Jugoslav neighbors, a chair concerning Jugoslav matters has been instituted at the Bologna University. After her return to Italy those lectures will afford also to Miss Garibaldi a good opportunity to learn something about the Jugoslavs, more useful things than she and all of her countrymen have learned from an unscrupulous propaganda.

MME. AUGUSTA DANILOVA.

Newark, N. J., April 5, 1920.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is probably quite comprehensible and natural that an Italian woman, even the granddaughter of immortal Garibaldi, should work for the benefit of her country; but one thing that the writer is at loss to understand is why Miss Garibaldi came to this country to slander a nation that throughout all the crises of the past great war never knew or thought of swerving from the path of higher duty and obligations. Why should Miss Garibaldi use such expressions about a nation with which, according to the most recent declaration of Italian Premier Nitti, her own country is anxious to come to closer and friendlier relations?

For Rents Based on Value.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As a reader of your newspaper, I take the liberty of addressing you concerning your editorial article of April 2, on the Anti-Rent Profiteering Legislation, and to say that it is timely, striking and gives a just and fair solution of the increased rent question. I fully agree with you that the more scientific (and I believe constitutional) method is to base rent increase, not upon rentals of the present or of any other year, but upon the actual annual assessed valuation of the rented premises.

The present law, as it stands, has the flavor of class legislation, is unjust, oppressive and burdensome to hundreds of thousands of tenants who find it very hard indeed to pay rent higher than from $25 to $50 per month, on account of insufficient income.

Landlords will now be spurred on, under protection of the law, to make the increase of 25 per cent. on rentals; otherwise, they, no doubt, would hesitate to do so for fear of arousing great public protest against them.

Our Helpless Country.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In the splendid editorial article of today's TIMES I read, "The country would demand and compel ratification if it understood what dangers failure to make peace and enter the League involved and invited." May I ask how the people of the country can more clearly demand and compel ratification of the treaty than they have already done?

All religious organizations and educational institutions have urged it; an overwhelming majority of the press has sponsored it, and individuals without number have written their Senators to ratify. I cannot but see a government dangerously near despotism when a few Senators can openly defy the voice of the people, and I cannot see how making the treaty a campaign issue in the coming Presidential election will decide the matter. The people may elect a President favoring the League of Nations, but we already have one who jeopardized his health in his great effort to formulate a treaty which would bring peace to the world, and the country is with him, but seemingly helpless.

Extent of Irish Interest.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have just read the excellent letter in today's TIMES signed "Two Rhodes Scholars." There is a noisy minority in this country, which certainly is not fooling Americans but which may be fooling the English regarding our stand on the Irish question.

I have just returned from a trip, covering every State in the Union, during which I interviewed all classes of business men—small and large. Among the questions asked them was one regarding their attitude on the Irish question. Ninety-three per cent. said it was none of America's business and 62 per cent. said de Valera should be deported.

REVOLT!

I am Revolt!
Behold me!
My breath is miasma,
My hands are red.
I speak of Love,
But I love nothing save myself.
All else I hate.
I speak of Brotherhood,
But I do not believe.
I am an Individualist—
For one individual—
Myself.

I am Revolt!
I shall dethrone your God.
I do not believe in Him;
Nevertheless, I shall dethrone Him.
I shall pull down the mighty.
The strong, the brave, the intelligent
Have ruled long enough.
Now shall the weak, the poor, the ignorant
Rule the world.
For that is Progress!
I shall take all the wealth,
I shall eat of the finest foods,
I shall drink the rarest wines,
And the fair white women of the rich
Shall be mine.

I preach Peace,
But I bring Hatred,
And the Torch, and the Sword.
I shall destroy—destroy!
For that is Progress.
I am a better man than you,
Because I work with my hands.
When I shall have conquered,
I shall not work with my hands.
But I shall still be a better man than you.

SCORES JAPANESE RADICALS

Premier Hara Says Their Defeat in May Elections Is Imperative.

TOKIO, March 17.—Japan's general elections, to be held in May, will be of profound importance to the future of the nation, according to Premier Hara, who discussed the subject today at a meeting of leading members of the Seiyukai, or pro-Government, party.

"On the issue of the forthcoming general elections depends the fate of the nation," the Premier declared. "Universal suffrage, advocated by the Opposition, aims at the destruction of social class distinctions, and even proposes to tamper with the conscription system, which is the very basis of the country's defense, if speeches in the House serve as an index.

"A ridiculous rumor is in circulation that the Seiyukai will purchase votes, and that the party, abusing Government authority, will contrive so to manage matters as to score over the Opposition. It need hardly be stated that we will fight always on the basis of fairness, principle and policy."

The Premier then criticised the unfavorable attitude of the Opposition parties toward the dissolution of the Diet in March.

"In the House of Representatives," he said, "the sponsors of the Suffrage bill declared that universal suffrage was what the people wanted, and that they were merely voicing the people's wish. If that were so, the Opposition ought to welcome the dissolution of the Diet, as the theme of the issue is going before the public itself. On the contrary, the Opposition continues to pour vituperation upon the Government for its action. We do not believe the object of the Opposition was to have the Government veto the Suffrage bill; but when the Opposition makes use of the dissolution of the House to heap abuse upon the Government, instead of congratulating itself, we cannot but question the sincerity of its motives.

"The Government did not resort to dissolution as a way out of a political deadlock. There has been no such deadlock. We feel we must remain in power and will redouble our efforts to keep it for the sake of the State."

PRAISES THE ARMY SCHOOLS

Gompers Approves Vocational Training In Letter to Secretary Baker.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Announcement was made today by General Peter C. Harris, the Adjutant General of the Army, that distinct encouragement to the officers charged by Secretary Baker with the duty of making the new army a vital part of the national organism has been given by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, in a letter to Secretary Baker. The letter of Mr. Gompers, dated April 2, in part, follows:

"There has come to my notice a movement on the part of the War Department looking toward the institution, development and encouragement of a system of educational and vocational training in the army.

"This interesting and significant proposition, with its attendant features of character building, physical development and Americanizing influence, impresses me greatly with a future possibility and advantages to our young men.

"When the American Army shall have so co-ordinated its system of military training with a well-developed policy of supplemental instruction in educational and vocational subjects, for which the ambitious young men of the country are now so in need, then it will have solved the problem of its future status in the broader field of practical usefulness to the country in time of peace."

Secretary Baker's reply to Mr. Gompers read, in part, as follows:

"Our schools are progressing rapidly. I am told that some 95,000 men now in the army are actually taking one form or another of educational or vocational training. The result of all this, I think, is going to be that we will do much to overcome illiteracy and much to strengthen the mind and body of the young men of the country, while we are incidentally, keeping a trained body of soldiers who can be the nucleus of an army should a future national emergency require their use.

"My greatest happiness in this experiment arises from the fact that my military associates are all enthusiastic for it, and feel that it will not only solve the recruiting problem by some day giving us a waiting list when the educational opportunities of the army are adequately understood, but also that it places the subject of discipline upon a new basis and creates a student and teacher relationship out of which respect and discipline will grow normally."

WOULD HALT IMMIGRATION.

Legion Official Warns on Red Influx and Predicts Clash.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Suspension of all immigration until aliens now in this country can be Americanized was urged before the House Immigration Committee today by Thomas W. Miller, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the American Legion.

Russian Reds, supplied with funds by the Soviet Government are coming to this country and working actively for the overthrow of the American Government, Miller said. He urged deportation of alien anarchists and aliens who withdrew their first citizenship papers so as to escape military service.

"The American people," Miller said, "should be aroused to the dangers ahead, before 100 per cent. American citizens are outnumbered. It is certain that a clash is coming."

FARE BILLS WIN HEARING.

Judiciary Committee to Consider "Service at Cost" Next Week.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—Opponents of the "service at cost" bills, introduced to pave the way for negotiations between city authorities and traction companies looking to a higher fare based on the valuation of their physical properties, had prepared to make a big fight in the Assembly today to obtain a public hearing on the measures. No fight was necessary, however, Speaker Sweet readily consenting to direct that the life of the Judiciary Committee be extended for the hearing set for Tuesday next.

The Mayors' Conference, which is in accord with the general purpose of the bills, has registered opposition to certain features, one of which is a clause which would give traction companies a representative on the special appraisal boards provided for.

Under the bills, increases providing for a fair return on the investment of traction concerns must be based on the value of the physical property actually utilized in operation, with no regard for the capital stock, which might contain water. One clause, however, provides that if city authorities and traction companies after six months of negotiation fail to reach an agreement, the Public Service Commission may make an appraisal and order an increase, regardless of any 5-cent fare provision embodied in the companies' franchises.

The Mayors' Conference is opposed to this provision and also to one under which the appraisal of plant would be on a replacement basis.

UNIONS HERE WILL MERGE.

Consolidation of 400,000 Members Approved in Referendum.

The amalgamation of all labor unions in New York City, representing nearly 400,000 workers, is assured by the result of the referendum conducted by the unions composing the Central Federated Union of Manhattan. It was said last night that 90 per cent. of the unions had voted in favor of the consolidation. The consolidated body is to be conducted on the same basis as now organized, it was said.

The Central Labor Union of Brooklyn voted some time ago to enter into the merger, but the Manhattan body referred the question to a referendum vote. It was said by a union leader last night that the Staten Island Trades and Labor Council and the Bronx Trades Assembly ceased to function some time ago, but that the majority of the unions composing the membership favored the merger. A Committee on Constitution and By-Laws of the consolidated body, which completed a preamble last Tuesday, will meet again next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Durer's "St. Jerome in His Cell" Brings $1,500; a Fine Example of Lorrain's "Le Bouvier," $825.

There was the briskest kind of bidding at the first evening of the sale of the fine collection of prints of Mrs. Ellen R. Jenkins of Baltimore, Md., at the American Art Galleries last evening and returns for 167 numbers were $20,080. Seymour Haden's two Irish etchings brought the top prices, "A By-Road in Tipperary," No. 124, second state, and the first state of a "River in Ireland," No. 127, selling for, respectively, $2,500 and $1,550, both going to Albert Roullier. There were only twenty proofs of the "A By-Road in Tipperary" and twelve only of the rare "River in Ireland."

It was a Durer which brought the only other price in four figures, a fine, beautiful silvery impression of the engraving "St. Jerome in His Cell," No. 109, going to James F. Drake for $1,500. This was from the Marietta and Day collections and fitted the conditions necessary for a perfect print as described in the catalogue in a quotation from S. R. Koehler.

"It is absolutely necessary to have this print—St. Jerome—in delicate, thoroughly transparent impressions," he said. "One of its greatest charms is the reflected light which fills the room and penetrates even the shadow under the bench along the wall. This effect, which is so thoroughly in accord with the subject, is lost in heavy or dull impressions."

The Durer started at $500 and jumped by hundreds to $1,000 in quick jumps and then to the selling price. "A By-Road in Tipperary" also had an opening bid of $500.

David Young Cameron's "Palace of Joannis Darius," No. 48, second state, went to R. H. Lorens, agent, for $660, and his "Pont Neuf, Paris," No. 50, second state, went to the same buyer for $340. Cameron's "The Gateway, Bruges," No. 34, third state, went to F. P. Warfield for $560, and Ferdinand Meder paid $440 for No. 56, "The Meuse," only state. For "Damme," No. 57, third state, James F. Drake paid $350, and Seaman, agent, gave $370 for No. 58, "The Beifry, Bruges," second state, and $700 for No. 59, "Notre Dame, Dinant," third state. A superb example of Claude Lorrain's "Le Bouvier," early state, No. 63, from the Hawkins, Broadhurst and Rosenberg collections, the etching called by Ruskin "the finest landscape etching in the world," went to Kennedy & Co. for $825. This is the only etching by the artist in Mrs. Jenkins's collection.

A rare mezzotint by Samuel Cousins, No. 72, of the Countess of Gower and Children," after Sir Thomas Lawrence, a beautiful impression in perfect condition, first published state, there being only six impressions in the state, went to Seaman, agent, for $500.

Kennedy & Co. paid $460 each for Robert Dunkarton's mezzotints printed in colors after the paintings by W. R. Bigg, "The Farewell" and "Welcome Home," Nos. 98 and 99. Durer's etching, "The Agony in the Garden," No. 100, superb impression, from the Prince Pascal collection, went to P. Meder for $240 and Durer's "The Virgin Holding a Pear," engraving, No. 104, fine impression on old paper, went to the same buyer for $200. Seymour Haden's dry point "Mytton Hall," No. 122, first state, sold to Richard P. Eaton for $625.

Rembrandts, Whistlers and Zorns in rare examples will go in the closing sale this evening.

American Silver Collection Brings $11,838 at Auction.

What is said to be the first collection of American silver ever put up at public sale as such, the property of M. T. O'Schaughnessy of Hempstead, L. I., was sold at the Waldorf Galleries yesterday afternoon, with the returns for the eighty-six numbers of $11,838, many of the pieces being individual or pairs of spoons.

The highest price of the afternoon, $2,125, was given for a rare old New York tankard, simple in line, 7 inches high, the work of Hendrik Boelen, who died in 1755. The tankard belonged to the period between 1680 and 1715. It went to a collector giving the name of Price. A second tankard, by Jacob Hurd of Boston, date 1730, 8 inches high, went to Walter Jennings for $1,000.

One of the pieces which collectors called one of the bargains of the sale was a small beaker or silver camp cup, made by Edmund Milne of Philadelphia, one of a dozen cups made by the silversmith for General Washington and used by him during the War of the Revolution. It was small and simple, 3¼ inches high, and, starting at $500, it sold for $1,550. A silver teapot by W. G. Forbes of New York, another Washington relic, bearing the initials of Mrs. Washington, "M. W.," in a wreath at one side

REPUBLICAN WOMEN IN TILT WITH SWEET

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—Republican women, headed by Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw of New York City, today bearded Speaker Sweet in his den and demanded favorable action on the social welfare bills now tied up in the Assembly Rules Committee.

"Is the Assembly representative of the people's interests or monarchical, as it appears to be?" they demanded of the Speaker, who, they say, seems determined to strangle the measures in the Rules Committee, of which he is the dominant power.

"For six years the Eight-hour Day bill has been introduced, and never yet has it been discussed on the floor of the Assembly," said Mrs. Melvin P. Porter of Buffalo. "The Minimum Wage bill has been debated once in four years. We demand that the elected representatives of the people have a chance to say how they stand on these measures. The women voters of the State feel that they have been misrepresented. Republican women are being driven out of the party because of the corrupted machine in the State."

Speaker Sweet told the women that he was "working for women," but Mrs. Laidlaw denied this, telling him that organized women of the State and the State Federation of Labor were backing the measures, and that the bills originated with the workers.

"While I do not impugn the motives of people working for these bills, there are those who are not honest, but have motives in advocating these measures," replied the Speaker. "There are men who are very glad to drive women out of industry in order not to have competition."

After the meeting with Speaker Sweet, Mrs. Laidlaw declared that his action in killing the welfare measures was "more fertile of Bolshevist propaganda and of disloyalty toward our Government than a thousand radical schools and soap-box orators."

"The first thing that occurs to me in contemplating the strange political phenomenon of the treatment that the leaders of the Assembly afford the welfare bills, in their political blindness, is their utter disregard of the Republican Party. What a spectacle is one ordinary man, clothed with a little brief authority, breaking down the whole system of orderly government and legislative procedure."

While the women were demanding of Speaker Sweet that the Assembly have a chance to vote on the welfare program, the measure providing for health insurance, sponsored by Senator Frederick M. Davenport and a part of the program, was being bitterly denounced as "un-American and un-American" by opponents of the measure at a hearing before the Senate Labor and Industrial Committee.

The New York State League of Women Voters came in for attack at the hearing when Mrs. Alice B. Locke of the Women's Betterment League of the Lady Maccabees of America questioned its representation and asserted that the league represented only "Socialist leaders of various organizations with whom they have chosen to align themselves."

Mark A. Daly, legislative representative of the Associated Manufacturers and Merchants, opposed the enactment of the bill as "fundamentally unsound." Speakers for the medical profession, various chambers of commerce, the United Commercial Travelers of America and individual manufacturers also opposed the bill.

Mrs. Laidlaw and representatives of the State Federation of Labor spoke in favor of the measure, as did Dr. James Harris of the New York City Department of Health, Dr. A. C. Burham and representatives of the City Club of New York.

SUFFRAGE DROPPED IN DELAWARE HOUSE

Special to The New York Times.

DOVER, Del., April 7.—That the chances for the ratification of the Woman Suffrage Amendment by the Delaware Legislature are more remote than ever was demonstrated this afternoon, when no effort was made to move for a reconsideration of last Thursday's vote, this being the last day for such action.

Representative Lloyd, Republican, an opponent of suffrage, who introduced a suffrage resolution last week with the idea of having control of the measure if Representative Hart decided to call up his bill, asked leave to withdraw his measure from the calendar. This request was granted unanimously, showing that the suffrage question in the lower house is a dead issue.

The only hope now lies in the passage of the resolution by the Senate, and as yet it has not been reported out of committee. Unless this is done tomorrow or the next day, it cannot be brought out in the Senate without unanimous consent.

A flurry of excitement marked an otherwise quiet session of the House today when Governor Townsend was presented with a statement signed by eleven Republican members of the House, making it clear that their attitude and vote on suffrage on Thursday last was in no way a personal matter nor caused by any opposition to him as a candidate for delegate to the Chicago convention.

Governor Townsend replied in a statement announcing that if he is elected a delegate he will vote for T. Coleman du Pont for National Committeeman from Delaware.

The fight now turns from the suffrage question to national delegates from this State. Reports from different parts of the State indicate a lively contest ahead for delegates to the Republican State Convention to be held here on April 20. There is a strong feeling among Republican leaders that the coming State convention may revive the fight between T. Coleman du Pont and Alfred du Pont. The latter was supposed to have retired some weeks ago from active politics in this State.

ED MOTT, HUMOROUS WRITER, DIES AT 75

Ed Mott, as he was familiarly known, was born at Milford, Pike County, Pa., in 1845. Fifteen years of somewhat wandering experiences as a printer preceded his establishment at Port Jervis, N. Y., as part owner of The Gazette and correspondent for metropolitan journals. A few years of work for the advertising department of the Erie Railroad then intervened before, in 1878, he began sending to The Sun tales about the Pike County bears. Under Mr. Mott's imaginative stimulus these animals soon took an important place in contemporary newspaper and magazine literature.

Then he introduced The Old Settler. Tes, the wondering boy, Little Peleg, this characterer related as endless collection of amusing tales. A group of sketches entitled "Pike County Folks" was published in 1895, and later reprinted in London, winning there a favorable review from The Spectator.

SAYS LIGHT SAVING MAY SEND MILK UP

Head of Borden's Sees Rise Due to Failure of Roads to Run Trains Earlier.

EXTRA PAY FOR DRIVERS

Erie Manager Asserts Farmers Will Not Come to Stations an Hour Earlier.

The failure of railroads that carry milk to this city from dairy districts up State, to comply with the State Daylight Saving law by starting milk trains an hour earlier, threatens consumers with an increase in the price of milk, Patrick D. Fox, President of the Borden's Farm Products Company, said yesterday. He said that the total increase in the cost to the consumers in this city may reach $500,000 if the railroads don't deliver milk at the freight depots in this city at 2 o'clock in the morning, instead of 3 o'clock, as they have been doing since the law became operative two weeks ago.

"The difference in time between the train schedules and that under the daylight saving law," Mr. Fox continued, "is causing great confusion in the milk traffic. Under an agreement between the milk distributers and the drivers of their vehicles, the latter work eight hours a day, from 2 o'clock until 10 o'clock in the morning, but if the drivers work after 10 o'clock they must be paid at the rate of $1.45 an hour.

"The men report for work at 2 o'clock every morning, but because the railroads maintain standard time in their train schedules they actually do not begin their work until an hour later, because the milk trains do not arrive until 3 o'clock.

Drivers Must Wait an Hour.

"That means that the drivers must wait an hour or more before starting on their routes in the city. When they do get started on their routes they are forced to hurry through their deliveries in order to finish their work within the time stipulated in their agreement with us, 10 o'clock.

"There seems to be a popular misunderstanding that we have enough milk left over each morning to begin the new day's business. We cannot conceive why we should hold milk over from the early morning business in view of the high storage rates and the additional refrigerating charges.

"We have on hand, however, a certain surplus of milk to be used in case a severe storm ties up our milk supply, but otherwise we do business entirely on the milk received from the dairy sections each day.

"It is unfortunate that we find it necessary to criticise the railroads in this matter. We have watched the effect of this variance of time in the delivery of milk by the railroad companies and conditions obtaining in the city under the daylight saving law with so much apprehension that we thought it necessary in the interest of the public to register a complaint."

Puts Blame on Farmer.

J. J. Mantell, General Manager of the Erie Railroad, declared last night that the seven railroads transporting milk to this city are handicapped by the refusal of farmers to bring their milk to the railroad stations in the daylight saving zones an hour earlier than they have during the Winter and the fact that a great majority of the milk trains are what are known as "through trains" from districts west of the daylight saving zones operating under standard time.

"The Erie Railroad," he explained, "has four milk trains running to Jersey City every morning. Two of those trains are made up at Port Jervis, in the daylight saving zone, and are operated under the daylight saving time. The other two are from points west of Port Jervis and, because of that fact, they are operated under standard time, and hence are an hour later from the standpoint of the daylight saving law.

"It would not be possible to start through trains from points west of the daylight saving zones because that would disrupt the standard time schedules. We must conform to the regular schedules for passenger and freight traffic in order to avoid confusion and accidents. I believe the Erie is the only road that has milk trains operating under the daylight saving plan. That is because our two trains are the only trains made up in the daylight saving zones.

"The Lackhwanna Railroad and the West Shore Railroad also have four trains which carry milk to this city, but they came from points west of the daylight saving zones. The Ontario & Western and the Lehigh Valley Railroad have three milk trains each, the New York Central has two and the Pennsylvania Railroad has one. With all but two of the milk trains coming from points west of the daylight saving zones it hardly is possible to get milk to this city in accordance with the schedules which obtain here under the daylight saving law."

LIEUT. J. J. McLAREN DIES.

Lieutenant John J. McLaren, who was chief engineer of the merchantman Carolina which was sunk by the German submarine U-37 on June 2, 1918, died on Tuesday at his home, 442 Sterling Place, Brooklyn. His death is said to have been due to the effect of exposure in rescue work he performed following the sinking of his ship. He was in his forty-sixth year.

Lieutenant McLaren was born in Canada, and on coming to this city he entered the employ of the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company. The Carolina was among the score of vessels attacked and sunk by the German raider on the Atlantic Coast. The Germans ordered the passengers and crew into the steamer's ten boats, after which she was sunk by shellfire.

Lieutenant McLaren assumed charge of one of these boats containing twenty-eight women and children. Although the boats tried to remain together, a storm came up and separated them. Nearly forty-four hours after the Carolina had gone down the lifeboat containing Lieutenant McLaren and the other survivors was swept ashore at Atlantic City beach. After filing his official reports, Lieutenant McLaren returned to his Brooklyn home, suffering from shock and exposure, and had been an invalid until his death.

YANKEES SUCCUMB ONCE MORE TO NINTH-INNING PUNCH APPLIED BY SUPERBAS

WARD ON THE INVALID LIST

Special to The New York Times.

CHESTER, S. C., April 7.—The Yankees took their customary beating at the hands of the Brooklyn Dodgers here today, but this time they took it standing, the Dodgers being forced to the limit to pull out a ninth inning victory, 6 to 5.

Brooklyn jumped into an early lead by making a superfluity of base hits with Quinn's wildness for four runs, in the second inning, but the Yanks came back in the fifth with five at the expense of Sherrod Smith, who suddenly wilted after pitching fine ball over the early route. The Dodgers tied it in the eighth against "Rip" Collins as a result of Mitchell's triple that Ruth badly misjudged and young Hood's sacrifice fly to Vick.

Then came the ninth and the inevitable Yankee capitulation. Taylor opened with a single to left and Cadore, who had the Yanks at his mercy from the fifth inning onward, sacrificed; Olson was passed. After a wild pitch had advanced Taylor to third, Peck arose to the emergency by running over behind Mogridge to make a great stop and throw on Neis's puzzling grounder, meantime holding Taylor at third. It was a vain effort, however. Mitchell hit a screamer down the first base line, and although Pipp made a fine play on the ball, Collins, who had turned his ankle in the sixth, was unable to get over to the bag in time to take the throw and the winning run scored.

Dodgers Can't Lose Series.

The result of the game virtually assures the Dodgers of the long end on the series, which now stands 8 to 3 in their favor. Five games remain to be played, two on the road and three in Brooklyn, and the best the Yanks can do will be to win it up with all five, which they are not likely to do. They are playing more or less indifferent baseball at the moment, and the numerous injuries that are falling to their lot are not helping the situation to any appreciable extent.

The latest Yank to join the casualty list is Aaron Ward of the regular infield, who left tonight for New York to rest a strained leg. Ward twisted the member in sliding into second base during yesterday's affair at Greenville, and although he continued in the game to the finish, the ligaments tightened during the night and this morning he was barely able to walk. It is not likely that he will be able to play until the opening game of the season in Philadelphia next Wednesday.

The Brooklyn Ward, otherwise known as "Chuck," was also a noncombatant today. He was spiked in the hand by his namesake, Aaron, as the latter was attempting to get back to second base in yesterday's ninth inning, and will not be available to the Dodgers for several days at least. In his absence and that of Jimmy Johnston, who has returned to his home in Nashville, Tenn., to superintend the removal of his family to New York, Olson moved over from second to short, Pete Kilduff went to second and Douglas Baird played third. Hood, a Western Canada League product, replaced Zack Wheat in left field for reasons unknown.

Yankees' Big Inning.

In the fifth inning only did the Yanks show anything of their offensive form, but while they were at it they uncovered their best exhibition of free hitting seen on the trip thus far.

Collins walked with one out, and then followed successive singles by Vick, Peck and Pipp and a Homeric triple to the far reaches of right centre field from Ruth's war club. The latter fetched home the fifth run of the inning on the strength of Meusel's sacrific fly to Myers. A possible run was tossed blithely away in the preceding inning, which was inaugurated by Ruth's double and a single to right by Duffy Lewis. The Babe didn't have a remote chance to score on Lewis's smash, which shot like a comet right to Neis. Charley O'Leary, coaching at third, tried to stop Ruth, but the latter would have none of it, and ran to his certain demise at the plate.

The Giant regulars walloped the ball at an amazing clip in the fourth inning when George Kelly, Eddie Sicking and Benny Kauff all made home runs, Kelly hung up two circuit swats today, one of his drives clearing the roof of a house across the street from the ball park.

The remainder of the rookie squad—A. W. White, Colonel Snover, Jim McQuade, Harry Bates, Johnny Horle, George Armstrong and Lee King—will be sent direct to New York on Saturday. Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 7.—Penn pried the lid of its 1920 baseball season at Franklin Field this afternoon under weather conditions more favorable to football, by defeating Lafayette by a score of 4 to 1.

Penn was first to score. In the third inning, Myers strolled. Peters got to first on an infield error and Shriver singled. This brought up Straus, who singled, scoring Myers and Peters.

Sheffey twirled a creditable game for the Red and Blue, holding Lafayette to seven bingles. Straus, Yates and Warwick contributed the heavy clouting.

AMHERST BLANKS VIRGINIA.

Special to The New York Times.

UNIVERSITY, Va., April 7.—Playing a sensational fielding game in a biting wind, Amherst made it two straight from Virginia by annexing today's game by a score of 2 to 0.

In the fourth Heselton was safe on Hout's wide throw to first, and Eveleth laid down a neat bunt. Seamans singled to centre, scoring Heselton, and Cowles's liner to left end Eveleth home.

Time and again Virginia got runners on the bags only to be cut down by fast fielding. Spectacular one-handed catches were made by Maynard and Seamans, robbing Burnett and Moran of triples. Amherst left for home tonight.

VICTORY A PRESENT TO COLUMBIA NINE

N. Y. U. Twirler Makes Brief Ascent in Third Inning and Results Are Costly.

Columbia settled a long-standing score with New York University yesterday afternoon by handing the Violet baseball team a 4 to 1 beating in the opening game of the season on South Field. Several hundred fans descended from University Heights to watch the annual battle between the two metropolitan rivals, and they combined with a large throng of Columbia rooters to form the largest crowd that has turned out in many years for the curtain-raiser.

Delaney, the Violet's pitching ace, essayed the task of subduing Columbia, and after he had breezed along flawlessly for two innings he ran into a snag in the third frame and threw the contest away.

Misplays by Delaney himself were the chief factors in the visiting nine's downfall. Tommy Farrell, the first man to face him in the disastrous third inning, ambled to first on four wide pitches. Jimmy Houlahan, who returned to Andy Coakley's fold only within the last few days, singled sharply to the short field and the ball bounded elusively over Kram's left shoulder into the outfield. Farrell stopped at second on the hit, but both he and Houlahan moved up a base when Captain Al Schmaars laid down a perfect sacrifice. Ackermann walked and filled the bases.

At this more or less critical juncture Delaney took it into his head to hurl the sphere into Hauck's ribs, and the batter got free transportation to first, Farrell being forced over the plate for the first tally. A minute later Delaney again offended by throwing the ball past the catcher, allowing Houlahan to score from third. Goodman filed to Kram for the second out.

With a runner perched on each bag, Smith, Columbia's third baseman, raised a high Texas Leaguer over second base. Kram got his hands on the ball after a long run, but dropped the sphere. Ackermann and Hauck crossing the plate. Tedford brought the inning to a close by striking out.

N. Y. U's lone tally was gathered from the delivery of Koenig, when the left-hander assumed the pitching burden in the fourth. Weinheimer started the proceedings by slashing a two bagger down the third base line and beating the Draffen was being thrown out by Ackermann on the former's weak tap in front of the plate, Weinheimer raced the entire distance from the middle sack homeward and beat the return heave from first base.

Aside from his one disastrous inning, Delaney had Columbia well in hand. He held the Blue and White to six hits, one less than his team mates collected, and all the bingles were well-scattered. Houlahan and Ackermann starred for Columbia.

FORDHAM MAKES RALLY.

Overcomes Five-Run Lead and Defeats Villanova, 8-6.

Special to The New York Times.

VILLANOVA, Pa., April 7.—The Fordham University baseball team defeated the Villanova nine here today in a poorly played game by the score of 8 to 6. The weather conditions were more suitable for football than for baseball. A high wind blew across the field throughout the contest and rendered fielding very difficult. As a result numerous errors were made by both teams.

After the home nine had scored five runs during the first four innings, the Maroon aggregation finally succeeded in pushing a run across the plate in the fifth frame on successive doubles by McLoughlin and Halloran. The Villanova nine scored again in its half of the same inning on Cullum's triple and a passed ball.

The New Yorkers staged a rally in the sixth round, and took the lead by one run. Fay and Start walked, and Donovan singled, filling the bases. Finn was safe on Byrne's error, and Fay scored. McLoughlin then singled to left field, scoring Start and Donovan. Halloran was hit by Yadusky, the Villanova pitcher, and the bases were again loaded. Buckley followed with a timely bingle to left field, and Halloran followed McLoughlin over the plate with the tieing tally. Buckley then put his team in the lead by completing the circuit when Byrne allowed Fay's grounder to filter through his hands.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 7.—A sweeping gale and a driving snow here this afternoon resulted in the calling off of the Princeton-Holy Cross baseball game when the Tigers had one man out in their half of the first inning. Warburton and Triable for Princeton and Gill and Walsh for Holy Cross were the batteries. If conditions permit, Swarthmore will play Tuesday's postponed game here tomorrow.

New Jersey Senate Passes Twelve-Round Boxing Bill

TRENTON, N. J., April 7.—The Senate today passed the bill extending the limit for professional boxing bouts in New Jersey from eight to twelve rounds. Senator Simpson of Hudson County, in advocating the measure, said that boxing as conducted in New Jersey is a good, clean sport, and had proved very popular. It was necessary, he said, to extend the number of rounds in order that boxing clubs in New Jersey might more nearly meet the competition of other States. The vote on the bill was 11 to 0. It was recently passed in the House, and it is expected that it will be signed by the Governor.

WHITE BEATEN BY FRANCIS APPLEBY

J. M. Shea	0	4	16	.000

George Spear and Francis S. Appleby both advanced a peg in the annual 18.2 balkline billiard tournament for the J. F. Poggenberg Cup at the Rational Recreation Academy in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon and last night. In the afternoon Spear defeated J. M. Shea by a score of 115 to 53. In the evening Appleby defeated Charles E. White, 250 to 211. Spear and Shea are both Class C players and competed on even terms, both striving for 115 points. Appleby and White are both Class A players and were after 250 points.

Because they are both Class A players, and for the additional reason that White won the tournament last year, great interest centred in the clash between White and Appleby last night. A big gallery of enthusiastic fans turned out for the match, but the spectators were doomed to disappointment. The brand of billiards played was much below Class A standard. Neither of the players was in stroke, and there was little close billiards seen. For the most part it was wide-open play and consumed thirty-eight innings. Appleby averaged 6 22-38 and White averaged 5 21-38.

While both players were able to gather the balls quickly when they stepped to the table, they were unable to keep them together for any sizable runs. Appleby's best effort was a cluster of 41.

Appleby got away to a flying start and at the end of the eighth inning he was leading by a score of 53 to 18. This was due largely to the fact that he made his second highest run of the game, a total of 27 points, in his third inning. White could not get going and for a time it seemed that he was doomed to a severe trouncing, but Appleby soon began to find trouble and White managed to pull up within hailing distance of his opponent. For a time he threatened to overcome Appleby and take the lead, but he failed in the pinches.

Spear averaged 3 21-31 and made a high run of 32. Shea averaged 1 23-30 and his best run was a short romp of 7. Spear took the lead at the start and was never in danger after he made a run of 20 buttons in the eleventh inning.

NAVY NINE IS WINNER.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 7.—The midshipmen's baseball team won from Pennsylvania State here this afternoon by 6 to 5, fielding in midseason style in spite of almost freezing weather and a high wind.

With the score 5 to 1 in favor of the navy at the opening of the eighth inning, Mullan's hit and two passes filled the bases for State, and Gaines gave way to L. N. Baker on the slab. The Navy crack lefthander passed three, and Kelly, who succeeded him, gave a fourth pass, forcing in four runs. A fine double play, from Poole to Milner, ended the session.

In the last of the ninth, after one was out, Humphreys was passed, and Poole's double brought him home with the winning run.

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 7.—In one bad inning the University of North Carolina lost to Yale here this afternoon, after it looked as if Carolina had the game sewed up. At the end of the Carolina's half of the seventh, the score stood 3 to 1 in favor of the Tar Heels, but Yale in her half netted three more runs from two two-baggers, a sacrifice, a pass, an error and another two-base hit. Just to make it safe, the sons of old Eli made another tally in the eighth. The game ending with a final count of 6 to 3 in Yale's favor.

TWO NEW YORKERS VICTORS AT COURT TENNIS

HUTCHINSON IS ELIMINATED

Philadelphian is Outplayed by Fulton Cutting — Rhodes and Stockton Also Qualify.

Play in the national amateur court tennis championship reached the semi-final round at the New York Racquet and Tennis Club yesterday, three sterling matches furnishing excellent sport in the annual tournament. Two New York players, C. Suydam Cutting and R. Fulton Cutting, and two Bostonians, J. D. Rhodes and Philip Stockton, will compete today in the semi-finals.

Suydam Cutting, the present club champion, defeated Charles E. Sands, a former national champion, in one of the matches yesterday by a score of 6—1, 6—3, 6—4. While Sands was beaten by his younger opponent, he rallied in the third set and made a game attempt to stave off defeat. Fulton Cutting had no trouble in disposing of Daniel Hutchinson of Philadelphia in the first match of the day, the New Yorker having too much stamina and speed for his older opponent. The match between J. Gordon Douglas of New York and J. D. Rhodes of Boston was closely contested, and it wasn't until after nearly two hours of spirited play that the Boston racquet wielder won.

The Suydam Cutting-Sands match furnished some of the most spirited competition of the afternoon. Cutting covered the court in skillful fashion, and repeatedly got shots which the veteran Sands tried to place out of his reach. Cutting smashed the ball into the grille time after time, and the shots into the dedans were even, each player scoring four times. Cuttin's drives found the winning gallery twice, while Sands failed to score in the gallery.

Cutting Excels on Chases.

In the playing for chases, Cutting scored often, while Sands lost many of his chases. Cutting played the ball off the side and end walls skillfully, and his drives were so well placed that Sands hit into the net repeatedly.

The only game which Sands won in the first set was the third, which went to deuce before the veteran finally won it, 8—6. Sands rallied in the sixth game and the score went to deuce twice before Cutting won, at 6—4. Cutting took the set, 6—1, and had no trouble in winning the second set, 6—2, Sands winning the first and seventh games.

Although Sands tired in the third set, he rallied and put up a strong opposition until the games were 3—4 in Cutting's favor. Cutting took the next game, 4—2, when Sands failed to get his drives, and the ball hit the tape after Cutting's swift returns. The ninth game saw Sands make his last stand. The game went to deuce three times and the advantage see-sawed back and forth. A winning chase for Cutting gave him an advantage, and he won out at 8—6 when Sands smashed into the net.

The point score of this match was as follows:

FIRST SET.

SECOND SET.

Cutting	0	4	4	4	4	4	2	6—37—6
Sands	4	2	1	2	1	2	4	8—18—2

THIRD SET.

Cutting	4	0	4	4	4	2	1	4	6	4—33—6

Dedans—Cutting, 4; Sands, 4.
Winning Gallery—Cutting, 2; Sands, 0.
Marker—Harry Harris.

Fulton Cutting a Winner.

Fulton Cutting won from Daniel Hutchinson, the Philadelphian, in straight sets, 6—4, 6—4, 6—0. The Quaker put up a stiff opposition in the first set, but he tired after that and the excellent condition of Cutting enabled him to win as he pleased. Hutchinson was pretty well tired out in the third set. Cutting took the first two games and Hutchinson won the third, 5—4. When the games were 4—4 Hutchinson failed to follow the younger player's pace and Cutting took the next two games and the set.

In the second set Hutchinson won the first two games before Cutting got started. Cutting soon evened the score, winning three of his points by finding the dedans and grille, but Hutchinson was playing his best game at this stage and he made several splendid placements which Cutting was unable to get and the Philadelphian brought the games to 4 to 2. Cutting took four straight games after this and in the last game Hutchinson was able to win only one point. Cutting was strong on his services and his placing soon had Hutchinson pretty well winded.

Cutting had his older opponent chasing all over the court in the third set and had the game in hand all the way.

In the Douglas-Rhodes match, Douglas started out with a victory in the first set, winning 6—5. He used a skillful backhand stroke and placed the ball beautifully at times. Rhodes played carefully and cautiously and got started at his best game in the second set. It was an even battle and the games reached 4 all. Then Rhodes, playing a fine defensive game, won out at 6—4. The third set was the most exciting of the afternoon, for Douglas started out at a fast pace and had the Bostonian four games to one. Then Rhodes started a rally and swept his opponent aside, winning five games in a row and capturing the set.

Suydam Cutting is looked upon at the Racquet Club as the probable winner of the tournament, who will be called upon to play Jay Gould for the title on Monday.

The summary:

C. Suydam Cutting, New York, defeated Charles E. Sands, New York, 6—1, 6—3, 6—4; Philip Stockton, Boston, won from Joseph W. Wear, Philadelphia, by default; J. D. Rhodes, Boston, defeated J. Gordon Douglas, New York, 4—6, 6—4, 6—4, 6—3; Fulton Cutting, New York, defeated Daniel Hutchinson, Philadelphia, 6—4, 6—4, 6—0.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, April 7.—The Oxford-Cambridge relay team, which is to compete in the two-mile race at the University of Pennsylvania carnival April 30 and May 1, sailed today on board the steamer Adriatic for New York. Alfred Shrubb, the famous distance runner, who is well known in the United States, is trainer for the team.

CORNELL STARTS GRIDIRON WORK

ITHACA, N. Y., April 7.—A new era in Cornell football was ushered in this week when Gilmour Doble, recently appointed head coach of the football team for a term of three years, called out for Spring practice prospective candidates for next Fall's 'Varsity team. This is the first time in years that Spring gridiron practice has been held here. It is expected that all of last year's 'Varsity men who are to return next Fall and are now engaged in some other sport, as well as members of last year's 'Varsity and freshman squads, will be out in togs by the end of this week.

The practice gives Doble an opportunity to become acquainted with the material he must work with next Fall. It will be his first chance to size up individual players and become familiar with local conditions. The practice will continue for four or five weeks, it is expected, and it will include a thorough drill in football fundamentals. In fact everything but actual scrimmaging. Some six or eight members of last Fall's 'Varsity team form the nucleus of the Spring training squad.

Doble comes to Ithaca in a capacity different from that usually the case with football coaches. Like Jack Moakley in track and Charles E. Courtney in crew, he will make Ithaca his home and he will be here all the year around. This arrangement is one of the features of the contract signed by him and the association. It is the belief of the athletic association that a resident coach, who can keep in touch with football players, football schedules, and football problems all the year around will prove more valuable than a coach who does not arrive until the beginning of the season and departs after the last game is played in November.

Cornell men are looking forward with confidence to the rehabilitation of football here under Doble, largely because of his impressive coaching record. The new coach graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1904, after a brilliant career as player on the Minnesota team, first as end and later as quarter back. He was quarter and general of the 1900 Minnesota team that won the Western Conference championship. He filled the same position in 1901. From 1902 to 1905 he was assistant coach at Minnesota under Dr. Harry Williams. In 1906 he went to the North Dakota Agricultural College as athletic director and coach of all sports. His football teams at North Dakota in 1906 and 1907 won every game. From North Dakota Doble went out to the Coast, where he soon established a brilliant reputation for masterful football coaching at the University of Washington. During Doble's stay of eight years the Washington team never lost a game.

From the Coast Doble came East to the Naval Academy, where he coached for three years, up through last season. During that time his team was defeated twice, once by the Great Lakes team, 7 to 6, and last Fall in an early season game with Georgetown. Under his coaching the Navy defeated the Army last Fall, though the Army was favorite. It was the first Navy victory in years.

PENN MAY NOT COMPETE.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 7.—"It is unlikely Pennsylvania will enter a crew in the national regatta next July to try for the honor of representing the United States in the seventh Olympiad at Brussels, Belgium."

This statement was made by John Arthur Brown, Chairman of the Red and Blue Rowing Committee, on learning that but one entry in each of the five rowing events on the Seine River, Brussels, will be allowed by the Belgian committee.

"While I don't want to say definitely that Pennsylvania will not compete for the honors against college and club crews at Worcester," said Mr. Brown, "I think the chances are very slight. Under the conditions I hardly think the crews could do themselves justice by training down from the collegiate distance of three miles, which will be rowed at the Poughkeepsie regatta on July 1, to the Olympic distance of one and a quarter miles."

AMERICAN SKATERS SAIL FOR BELGIUM

Eleven star hockey players and two figure skating champions, the advance guard of the American athletic delegation to the Olympic games, sailed yesterday afternoon for Antwerp on the Red Star liner Finland. While moving picture cameras clicked merrily and prominent members of the American Olympic Committee stood on the pier and waved farewell the steamer threaded its way down the bay and the American advance on Belgium was begun.

Sixteen persons were in the party that boarded the Finland shortly after 1:30. Besides the seven regular members of the team and the four alternates, there were in the party Miss Theresa Weld and Nat W. Niles, America's champion pair in figure skating; Cornelius Fellowes, President of the International Skating Union and manager of the skaters, and Mrs. Niles and Mrs. Fellowes.

Gustavus T. Kirby, President of the American Olympic Committee, headed the delegation that awaited the athletes at the pier. Accompanying Mr. Kirby were F. W. Rubien, Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union; Justice Bartow S. Weeks, a member of the committee; Matt Halpin, who will be in charge of this country's Olympic contingent, and Roy D. Schooley of Pittsburgh, who was prevented by illness in his family from sailing with the hockey team as manager.

A delegation from Pittsburgh, where most of the championship team recruited, included Sheriff W. S. Haddock, Secretary of the Smoky City Olympic Committee; Edward C. Jennings and Magistrate Walter Lloyd.

Battery of Cameras.

A battery of nine moving picture cameras also greeted the team and recorded the events attending the sailing of America's first representatives at the Olympiad. Every member of the party that gathered on the pier for the farewell ceremonies carried a small American flag in his lapel, and the same patriotic element marked the speeches that preceded the final ascent up the gangplank.

President Kirby made a brief speech to the members of the team. He was the spokesman for the Olympic Committee. He warned the hockey team that hard opposition was ahead, and said that the American team probably would meet the most formidable rivals of its entire history. The Olympic officials, he declared, have the utmost confidence in the team and believed that it was the strongest aggregation that the country could offer. The speaker laid particular emphasis on the necessity for clean play.

Mr. Fellowes replied on behalf of the players and said the players are anticipating the hardest fight from the Canadians. The team's manager expressed his entire confidence in the ultimate triumph of the American team.

It was only a few minutes before the Finland left its pier at the foot of West Seventeenth Street that the athletes boarded the liner. At fifteen minutes past 2 the steamer swung clear of the wharf and began its journey down the bay.

To Train on Boat.

The advance guard are due to arrive at Antwerp on April 16, which will allow the team only four or five days before the first Olympic game. While on board the Finland the athletes will have workouts on the broad decks of the liner, which saw service in 1912 as a transport for Olympic delegations. Besides the practices with the puck every day, the hockey stars will keep in condition by setting-up exercises.

The players who sailed yesterday were: Captain Joseph W. McCormick, right wing, of Pittsburgh; R. L. Boney, goal, of Pittsburgh; Leo Tuck, defense, of Boston; Frank Goheen, defense, of Pittsburgh; George P. Geran, centre, of Boston; A. J. Conroy, left wing, of St. Paul; Herbert J. Drury, rover, of Pittsburgh.

The alternates were: J. E. Fitzgerald, defense, of Pittsburgh; Cyril Wilderborner of St. Paul; Lawrence J. McCormick, centre, of Pittsburgh; Frank Synnott, forward, of Pittsburgh.

McLean to Start for Home.

Word has just been received in this country from D. R. Scanlon, manager of Bobby McLean, the American professional ice skating champion, that they expect to sail for the United States about April 17. Since being defeated by Oscar Mathiesen for the world's championship in Norway, McLean has been on an exhibition tour. He spent a week in Berlin skating at the Admiral Palace and was offered a month's engagement, but the terms were not satisfactory. McLean went from there to St. Moritz, in Switzerland, and is now in Paris.

Nine Schools Enter Relay Race.

Nine schools have already signed entry blanks for the one-mile interscholastic relay race at the Osceola Club games in the Seventh Regiment Armory on Saturday evening, April 17. Other crack schoolboy teams are expected to compete in the event. The schools already entered are De La Salle, Berringer, Dickinson, Erasmus, De Witt Clinton, Commerce, Stuyvesant, Poly Prep and Brooklyn College.

OLYMPIC TRYOUTS FOR U. S. SHOOTERS

Announce Dates and Conditions for Rifle and Revolver Competitions—Open to All.

It has just been announced that rifle and pistol shots who aspire for membership on the teams that will represent the United States in these two branches of shooting in the Olympic Games will be afforded an opportunity to demonstrate their qualifications in tryouts which will be held at the marine base at Quantico, Va., during the weeks beginning May 15 and June 1. The contestants winning places in these tryouts will be placed in training as a team for about ten days previous to the sailing date.

The rifle, pistol and trapshooting events will be staged July 22 to 31, inclusive, and the United States representatives will leave this country about July 1. No rifle or pistol shot is barred from the competition. The committee wants to send the best teams abroad. America won in 1912, and the idea is to keep up this winning streak for an indefinite period.

The rifle tryouts will be at 200, 300 and 600 yards and at the same kind of targets as were used in the Olympic events in Stockholm in 1912. The firing will be: 200 yards, standing, slow fire, ten shots; 300 yards, prone, slow fire, ten shots; kneeling, slow fire, ten shots; 600 yards—prone, slow fire, ten shots; 300 yards—five shots prone and five shots kneeling, rapid fire in 20 minutes, starting with the gun loaded. Men of the rapid fire, will be preceded tion of the rapid fire, will be preceded by two sighting shots.

In the pistol tryouts the "L" target will be used and the course will be slow fire, consisting of ten shots at 25 yards, 10 at 50 and 10 at 100 yards. Seven men teams will be chosen. Arrangements are yet to be made as to defraying the expenses of the shooters. It is estimated that the trip will cost about $1,000 a man.

AMATEUR BOXERS IN RING.

Six of Nine Bouts in Brooklyn Tournament End Quickly.

The amateur boxing tournament of the Brooklyn College Club opened last night at Loyola Hall, Brooklyn, with bouts at four weights—the 115, 125, 135 and 158 pound classes. In the latter class the final was also held, David Morley of the Paulist A. C. stopping C. Rydell of St. Bartholomew A. C. in the first round. The final bouts in the other weights will be staged tomorrow evening, when the tournament comes to an end.

The 115-pound tussle between H. Levine of the Clark House A. A. and J. Cohen of the same organization provided the excitement for the large crowd. The two club mates punched and jabbed their way through the allotted three rounds before the judges gave the decision to Levine. The latter had a shade on his opponent in aggressiveness and speed and managed to land a majority of the blows before the final bell rang.

Only three of the nine bouts went the full limit, the others being stopped in the first and second period by the referee. The shortest encounter was the battle between Morley and Rydell in the 158-pound final, the latter throwing up the sponge in the first round. Three other bouts came to an abrupt termination in the initial round.

The summaries;

115-Pound Class—W. Mirno, Clark House A. A., stopped J. Feltzer, unattached, in second round; A. Tiernan, Osanam A. A., defeated M. Schasen, Pastime A. C., three rounds, judges' decision; H. Levine, Clark House A. A., defeated J. Cohen, Clark House A. A., three rounds, judges' decision; L. Epifcopis, unattached, drew a bye.

POLICE FORCE OPEN DOORS

ATLANTA, Ga., April 7.—Two sets of Republican delegates from Georgia will attempt to gain admission to the National convention of their party in Chicago next June, following conventions of the rival Wood and Lowden factions, conducted simultaneously today in the chamber of the House of Representatives in the State capitol.

The faction, headed by Roscoe Pickett, State Chairman, elected four delegates at large, instructed for Major Gen. Leonard Wood. The other faction, regarded as for Governor Lowden and headed by Henry Lincoln Johnson, a negro, formerly Collector of Internal Revenue here, and C. P. Gore, a lawyer of Atlanta, elected uninstructed delegates.

The meeting was called for noon in the House of Representatives, but two hours before that time the Pickett men arrived and proceeded to business behind locked doors. Arriving later to find themselves barred from the convention, the Johnson-Gore faction pounded on the doors, causing such excitement that the police were called. Governor Dorsey decided that the hall should be opened to all.

The Johnson-Gore faction marched into the hall and proceeded to take charge. Johnson mounted the platform, called the meeting to order and tried to make a speech against factionalism, but was almost drowned out by shouts.

The Wood faction, however, completed its organization and elected its delegates in the midst of the pandemonium, and while the Lowden men were trying to read their temporary roll declared the convention adjourned.

The Pickett men announced that their delegates at large were: Clark Greer, Augusta; Charles Adamson, Cedartown; Dr. C. P. Washington, Waycross, and H. A. Rucker, Atlanta. Washington and Rucker are negroes.

Clark Greer was selected by the Wood faction Chairman of the State Central Committee, with J. D. Cole of Marietta as Vice Chairman and J. G. Lemons, colored, of Savannah, as Secretary.

Both sides announced they had elected district delegates in each Congressional district, the Pickett delegates being pledged to Wood and the other uninstructed.

Johnson was selected by his element as National Committeeman, with Gore as State Chairman. These officers also are expected to be decided finally by recognition at the Chicago convention.

G. H. Williams of Dublin was nominated by the Johnson-Gore faction for United States Senator. Harry Stillwell Edwards, former Postmaster at Macon, also is running as a Republican for the Senate. Edwards and other former Progressives announced recently they would organize a strictly white Republican party in Georgia.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Letters are to be sent to the members of the National Wholesale Floor Covering Association by Secretary Thomas A. Fernley asking them to express their preferences in regard to the opening dates of the Spring and Fall seasons. Specifically they will be asked whether they prefer April 1 or May 1 for the Fall opening, and Oct. 1 or Nov. 1 for the Spring opening.

The Retailer's Buying Service, 621 Broadway, will be conducted by M. B. Meltzer, C. S. Fischer and G. G. Golberg, they having purchased all interest in the Free Buying Service, formerly conducted by the Ben Wisner Company. The new organization will specialize in men's and boys' wearing apparel, furnishings and hats, as well as in women's ready-to-wear and millinery.

A Switch to Cottons?

Though it seems fairly well established that cottons will replace silks in women's apparel to quite some extent during the late Spring and Summer, manufacturers of sport silks have not been of the opinion that their business would suffer any from this combination of consumer economy and fashionable whim. The Palm Beach season, however, has disclosed a growing popularity for ginghams and cottons that has even invaded the domain of sport silks. Consequently there are those garment manufacturers who believe that silks, even of the sports variety, will feel the effect of the wave of popularity in favor of the cotton materials.

Banks Letting Up

During the last week there has been noticed by dry goods factors something of a let up in the tightening of bank money. Credited reports have it that the banks now feel that the squeezing process has about eliminated the undesirable elements in the trade and that further stricture can be continued only to the danger of the legitimate factors. In other words, the understanding appears to be in banking circles that those who have weathered the storm of tax payments and credit curtailment and emerged to more leniency than they have been receiving. Recognition also seems to have been taken of the point that it is costing the legitimate operator twice, and sometimes three times, the normal amount of money to do his financing.

Drug Trade More Active.

Accumulation of out-of-town business over the Easter holidays livened up trading in crude drugs and fine chemicals this week, Drug and Chemical Markets will say today. Shipments were held back, however, by strikes and embargoes. This and other factors hindering quick delivery of imported goods are having a detrimental effect on business in these articles. Caustic soda prices, which were rapidly advancing last week, are being slowly reduced. While $7.25 a hundred pounds is heard of in a few cases, the majority of the sales are being made at $6. Trading is restricted in the essential oil markets, due to conservative buying. Freight congestion, due to the longshoremen's strike, is keeping back supplies needed by dye manufacturers.

Novel Printed Silks for Hats.

Shantung silks in the most "daring" color schemes, representative of Chinese, Japanese, Egyptian and Persian art, are among the newest things used here in exclusive millinery circles for the manufacture of sports hats. They are expected to fit in with the vogue for these materials that is predicted in Summer dresses and suits. Smocks, parasols, bags and hats are being made of these gayly-colored silks, which are sometimes used by themselves and sometimes in combination with the same weave in a plain effect. In one such case a large model of oyster white shantung is relieved by gay little Chinese figures printed on a similar fabric and appliqued over the upper part of the hat.

A Comparison of Values.

Belated shipments of woolens that were bought at old prices do not serve to improve the feeling among buyers regarding orders they have given on goods for the new season. As it was pointed out in the woolen market yesterday, the buyer who stops to make a comparison of his prices he has to pay now and what he paid some months ago for merchandise just being delivered, frequently finds himself in the mood for canceling. To obviate this, some of the mills are understood to be holding up deliveries on overdue goods until they get confirmation of orders placed for the new season. This gives them the whiphand to the situation, since the old goods at old prices provide a premium to the buyer who permits his recent orders to stand.

Deliveries on Summer Cloths.

Weather conditions, which made it necessary for many of the mills operating on Summer cloths to close down for as long as six weeks back in February, have added to the difficulties of cloth-ing manufacturers who produce Summer clothing. The mills were unable to obtain the materials necessary for their continued operation, and as a result there has been a "hole" created in the supply of Summer cloths. Just how long it will take to make up this lost production is a question the mills cannot answer. In the meantime, the prediction made some time back that Summer cothing, by reason of its cheapness compared with the usual type of garments, would get large sales bears every evidence of coming true. Reports from retailers confirm the feeling that a record business in such merchandise will be done.

Business on a New Basis.

For business men who have been trained to conduct their affairs along safe and conservative lines, many procedures they are now compelled to take come far from getting their sanction, though oftimes they feel themselves powerless to keep their usual safeguards. One such instance was noted yesterday by a buyer of cotton goods who told of having to pay in advance for material he will not see for several months to come. This would not be so dangerous a transaction, he mentioned, but for the fact that he never before done business with the seller. In a former transaction of the sort he made his check payable to a bank that the seller gave as a reference. As that trade proved satisfactory even under conditions he would not have considered meeting for a moment in normal times, he hoped a repeat of the second deal working out correctly.

Local Raw Silk Stocks Drop.

Stocks of raw silks held in warehouses in the metropolitan district on April 1 were nearly 8 000 bales smaller than those similarly held on March 1, according to figures compiled by the Silk Association of America and issued by it yesterday. Compared with the total held on Feb. 1, when the first report was issued, the April 1 stocks showed a decline of a little more than 15,000 bales. The respective totals, in bales, were as follows: April 1, 52,785; March 1, 60,740, and Feb. 1, 67,824. Italian silks made up 2,482 bales of the April total, the remainder consisting of Asiatic varieties. In previous reports of the Asiatic stocks the Chinese silks were separated from the Japanese. So much difficulty was experienced in the warehouses, however, in distinguishing between the two kinds, due to the similarity of the bales in size and markings, that it was thought best to group them for the sake of greater accuracy in the reports.

Gray Goods Sales More Numerous.

Sales were more numerous in the local gray goods market yesterday than had been the case for several days past. July-September business was reported on 39-inch 72-76s at 28½ cents, while for shipment in April, May and June buyers paid 28½ cents for 68-72s in the same width. Spot 38½-inch 60-48s brought 24 cents, and similar sales of 64-60s were made at 25½ cents. April-June deliveries of the last construction sold for 25 cents. One of the features of the day was the withdrawal, at least temporarily, of spot and April lots of 27-inch 64-60s. Although sellers did not appear keen about selling these goods at all for nearby shipment yesterday, it was thought that bids of 16½ cents might bring them out for delivery in May and June. Sheetings sales were of limited interest. In the fine-yarn cloths trading was done in 40-inch 76-by 8-yard combed yarns for April shipment at 16 cents. Buyers seem to paid 15 cents for May-June 39-inch 64-104, 4.20-yard sateens.

Here's a Square Tailor.

Thinking that he might be able to escape some of the high cost of Spring clothing by having a suit made up of cloth he could buy at wholesale, a local business man yesterday asked his tailor how much the job would cost. To his surprise, the man answered that the charge would be $45. He was still more surprised, however, to have the tailor advise him against the idea, telling him that he (the customer) could get just as good a suit, ready made, at $55 or $60 as the tailor could turn out for $45 with the cloth furnished him. The reason, the tailor said, was that a very large part of the charge he would have to make would be due to the sharp increases in the cost of labor and in rent that have taken place. The big stores, he pointed out, did not have an advanced rent to meet, and he also said that the higher cost of labor to the manufacturer from whom they bought their goods could be distributed through their complete stock by them to the general advantage of the customer.

FRIENDS OF BANDITS RAID PRISON VAN

CURSED JUDGE IN COURT

An unsuccessful attempt to rescue four members of a gang of automobile bandits, who were arrested recently in Williamsburg, was made yesterday after they had been arraigned before Judge Norman S. Dike in Brooklyn, in court the leader of the gangsters had cursed and reviled Judge Dike, and a revolver was taken from the man's brother by a detective.

The prisoners, who were known to the police as the "blue limousine" gang, were Louis Mongo, John J. McDonald, Richard O'Brien and John G. Biggan. Before Judge Dike the first three pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the first degree and Biggan to burglary in the third degree. The specific charge against the men was the robbery of the haberdashery of Louis Meserits at 837 Flatbush Avenue. They were caught by detectives after an automobile chase across the Williamsburg Bridge. Following their pleas of guilty in court yesterday, District Attorney Lewis urged that limit sentences be imposed. Mongo, the supposed leader of the band, frequently interrupted the prosecutor, and finally had to be silenced by his counsel, ex-Senator Alfred J. Gilchrist.

"I will sentence you all on Monday," said Judge Dike.

"Very well," responded the Court. "I will sentence you to Sing Sing Prison for ten years."

As two court officers seized Mongo he struggled and, turning to Judge Dike, cursed him until he was dragged away. During the commotion friends and relatives of Mongo surged into the courtroom. Detective Knowles seized a brother of Mongo and told the Court that he had a revolver in his pocket. Judge Dike ordered that the weapon and a permit for carrying it, which the man exhibited, be confiscated.

As the prison van was about to leave the courthouse with the prisoners a score or more of the friends of the gangsters surrounded it. Six detectives suddenly appeared, however, and drove the men away. The van started off and some of the friends of the prisoners hurried after it. At DeKalb Avenue and Fleet Place two of the men leaped to the seat of the vehicle and tried to seize the reins from Joseph Kelly, the driver. Kelly drew his revolver and the two men jumped off. The driver then discovered that several men were making futile efforts to open the heavily-locked rear door of the van. Kelly covered them with his revolver and they, too, ran away. The driver completed the short journey to the jail without further trouble and turned his prisoners over to the Warden.

SUGAR FIRM LOSES TAX EVASION SUIT

Francisco Company Restrained from Leasing Property to Escape Payment.

HOPED TO SAVE $1,000,000

Vice Chancellor Fielder of New Jersey Holds Proceeding Contrary to Public Policy.

In a decision handed down in the Court of Chancery at Newark yesterday in the suit of William N. Allen of Germantown, Pa., to restrain the Francisco Sugar Company from leasing its property to a Cuban corporation, Vice Chancellor James F. Fielder ruled that the proposed lease, which had for its main purpose the evasion of payment of a million dollars in Federal taxes, was contrary to public policy and could not be sanctioned by a court of equity.

Vice Chancellor Fielder also decided that the act, under which Richard V. Lindabury, counsel for the corporation, contended the lease could be legally made, was not retroactive, and therefore the Francisco Sugar Company, which obtained its charter a month before the passage of the act, could not apply the law's provision to its own case.

Mr. Lindabury in his argument before the court frankly admitted that the purpose of the lease was to save to the stockholders more than a million dollars' Federal income taxes on that part of its earnings which remain in Cuba, where the principal holdings of the corporation are, but he contended this was perfectly legal and moral. The court said:

"To permit the stockholders of this company to go through the form of leasing their property, while retaining its substance, and not only receive profits therefrom in a substantial amount, but also to add to those profits a large sum of money which the company is now required by law to pay as its pro rata share, with the rest of the public, for Governmental war and other purposes, is a proceeding which equity will not sanction, because it is against public policy."

An appeal will probably be taken to the Court of Errors and Appeals by the corporation.

Sulgrave Institution to Join in Mayflower Compact Celebration.

The New York delegates of the international celebration of the meeting of the first American legislative assembly, the Mayflower Compact, met with officers of the Sulgrave Institution at the Lawyers Club yesterday to discuss plans for the celebration of the tercentenary of the beginning of the founding of free institutions in America. The first week in June was tentatively set for the celebration in this country.

The week will be observed in public schools and churches. It was decided to continue work with the Post Office Department for the issuance of postage stamps perpetuating principal developments in the history of America.

LOUIS AMY ACCUSED OF MISUSING BONDS

FOUNDED BY HIS FATHER

Louis H. Amy, for many years treasurer of the Asylum of St. Vincent de Paul at 215 West Thirty-ninth Street of which his father was one of the founders more than fifty years ago, was accused in the Supreme Court yesterday of misappropriating bonds belonging to the asylum having a par value of $64,000. The charges were made in a suit by the asylum against Edward J. McGuire, as trustee in bankruptcy of the Stock Exchange firm of H. Amy & Co., which failed in March, 1919, to recover the securities or their value on the ground that they were hypothecated with the full knowledge that they belonged to the institution.

Although the fact that the securities owned by the asylum were held by the Chase National Bank, where they were hypothecated Jan. 2, 1919, became known to the trustees of the asylum immediately after the failure, they were loath to take necessary legal action in which the charge that the securities were misappropriated would have become known. Mr. Amy and his father had been identified with the institution throughout its history and the trustees who had been associated with him were reluctant to authorize legal proceedings. At a recent meeting of the trustees, following several changes in the directorate, Goldman & Unger, counsel for the institution, were authorized to file suit.

The affidavit upon which Justice Guvegan granted the attachment was made by Lewis de Milhau, who succeeded Amy as trustee, and states that the securities hypothecated by Louis H. Amy, who with his brother, Ernest J. H. Amy, have made up the firm of H. Amy & Co., since 1880, included those of other customers as well as those belonging to the asylum. The securities claimed by the asylum are the following bonds:

Seven Hocking Valley, ten United States Steel, ten Pacific Coast Company, ten Burlington Railroad, six New York Central, five St. Paul Railroad, six Oregon Short Line and ten Central Leather, each having a par value of $1,000.

The loan by the bank on these and other securities was $250,000. Following the bankruptcy proceedings other claimants for securities pledged with the Chase National Bank came forward, and one of them, George Marquand de Gonzanbach, has filed a replevin action against the trustee to recover the securities he owned. The asylum elected to make its claim in a separate action.

The complaint of the asylum asks that the bank and the trustee be directed to sell the securities still in their possession, some having already been disposed of, and that the asylum be permitted to share equally as a preferred creditor with other security owners whose property was unlawfully hypothecated. An official of the asylum said last night he was hopeful that the bulk of the amount would be recovered. The loss will have no effect on the asylum, which has large resources.

Mr. Amy said last night at his home, 29 East Fifty-third Street, that he knew nothing about the suit and could not discuss it until he was familiar with the charges.

Keeps the Hair in Curl

You've never seen anything work greater wonders for straight, lank, unruly hair than plain liquid silmerine. It keeps the hair in curl for a long time, produces such beautifully lustrous, natural-looking curls and waves. And no one need hesitate to use it, for it is so easily applied with a brush and is so perfectly harmless. It leaves no greasy, sticky or streaky trace. The curliness can be acquired in three hours, though many prefer to apply the liquid at bedtime, before putting the hair in curlers. When the hair is combed out it is delightfully soft and fluffy.

Anyone who will get a bottle of liquid silmerine from the druggist and follow the accompanying directions will have a most agreeable surprise. The liquid is also valued as a splendid dressing for the hair.

DR. STRATON HEARD BY FEDERAL JURY

MRS. HUMISTON A WITNESS

WON'T QUIT, SAYS ENRIGHT

Mayor May Name Citizens as Moral Supervisors—Faurot Becomes Deputy Commissioner.

Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, whose vivid description of whisky drinking and immorality in big restaurants and dance halls frequented nightly by thousands has already started three investigations and probably will cause several others, testified before the Federal Grand Jury yesterday, and will appear before the County Grand Jury today.

He will be one of a large number of witnesses by whom Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith hopes to prove his assertion that conditions in this city are worse under the present administration than under any former one and to make good his predictions that several police officials, including one or two high ones, would be indicted.

The third investigation under way is that of Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield, who announced yesterday that he intended to examine witnesses in public and that he had no intention of whitewashing the Police Department. Another investigation may be made by a body of prominent men and women selected by the Mayor. Mayor Hylan said he was deliberating on a plan of naming citizens of high standing to keep a general supervision over moral conditions in the city.

Mayor Hylan denied emphatically the report that he was dissatisfied with Police Commissioner Enright. He said that that official enjoyed his entire confidence.

Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield asserted that the rumor that Commissioner Enright was about to resign had been started by Assistant District Attorney Smith.

Enright's Denial.

"The gamblers, crooks, backers of vice and the whole underworld would like to have me quit. But they will be disappointed.

"RICHARD E. ENRIGHT."

Commissioner Enright announced yesterday the appointment of Inspector Joseph E. Faurot to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Third Deputy Commissioner Augustus Drum Porter after his indictment on a charge of neglect of duty. Inspector Faurot, whose finger-print and identification methods have been copied by Police Departments in many cities, is probably the best-known policeman in the United States.

Assistant District Attorney Smith said that three or four indictments for neglect of duty or on other charges might be returned today, one of them against a police official who has figured in the recent controversy.

Among the witnesses to be taken before the Grand Jury today are Dr. Straton, Mrs. Grace Humiston, woman lawyer and vice investigator, who caused an overturn in the Police Department in 1917, when she found the body of Ruth Cruger after a three months' search by the police and District Attorney's office had failed; Chief Inspector Daly, Inspector Thomas F. McDonald, Deputy Chief Clerk Evans of Police Headquarters, and Detectives Cordes, Cronin, Duggan, Dean, Brown, Auerbach, McGlynn, Picco, Gondolfi and Damiano.

Mrs. Humiston will tell a story resembling that of Dr. Straton. She will describe visits to restaurants and dance halls, where she saw, according to her statement yesterday, shocking immorality and the open sale of whisky.

Detectives to Tell of Raids.

The detectives have been summoned to tell of raids which they made in the Fourth Inspection District over the head of Inspector Dominick Henry. In addition to Mrs. Humiston, three other women will be called today or later, according to Mr. Smith, to testify regarding conditions in the district of Inspector Henry.

The Federal Grand Jury took no immediate action yesterday after hearing the testimony of Dr. Straton. On leaving the Grand Jury room Dr. Straton said the jurors had shown a great deal of interest in his testimony, which, he said, followed the lines of his Easter sermon. He said he would write a reply to Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield, probably today.

"I do not intend to take sides in any political controversy," he said. "My business is simply telling facts, and I am not lining up with any political faction."

Dr. Straton said he had not yet received an invitation to testify before Commissioner Hirshfield.

Commissioner Hirshfield said yesterday he had reason to believe that two of the companions of Dr. Straton on his tour of restaurants and dance halls were connected with the Committee of Fourteen and veteran vice fereets. Dr. Straton refused again to name his two companions; Assistant District Attorney Smith refused to say whether these two men were connected with the Committee of Fourteen.

Hirshfield said he had come into possession of an affidavit made to the Committee of Fourteen which bore a suspicious resemblance to the sermon of Dr. Straton, and that he thought a part of the minister's sermon was based on it.

"My investigation," Commissioner Hirshfield said, "is not intended in any wise to hinder or interfere with any criminal proceedings which Jim Smith may institute. My investigation is to be made solely in behalf of the cause of good government and to ascertain whether the police have done and are doing their duty in enforcing the law."

"That statement is in line with all the other statements that have been given out from the same place in the last few weeks and is designed to confuse matters and lead the people to believe that there is something wrong with the city government.

"I want it distinctly understood that I hold no brief for the Police Department, and if I find that the conditions reported by Dr. Straton exist, I will not hesitate so to report to the Mayor and to make such recommendations as I think are called for."

Detectives Hebron and Michaels, of Inspector Henry's staff, last night arrested Peter Guala, Mario Enoch and Manuel Cassinas, employes of the Unione Sportiva Italiana at 108 West Forty-fifth Street, on the charge of violating the Volstead act. The detectives asserted that wine was served to them at the place.

Allies Authorize Greeks to Advance in Asia Minor

ATHENS, April 7.—Greek troops have been authorized by the Supreme Military Council of the Allies to advance in Asia Minor in anticipation of an eventual attack by Mustapha Kemal.

They have occupied a strategic position east of the sector which they have held around Smyrna, according to a dispatch to the newspaper Ethnos.

CALIFORNIA GREETS PRINCE OF WALES

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 7.—Pleasure at being able again to touch at an American port was expressed by Edward, Prince of Wales, who arrived early today for a visit here of two days while en route to Australia.

Welcomed by a committee which included Governor William D. Stephens of California, Mayor Louis J. Wilde of San Diego, Vice Admiral Williams of the Pacific fleet and many citizens, the royal visitor had a full day of entertainment.

After the formal greeting aboard the battle cruiser Renown, which is bearing the Prince to the Antipodes, he was a guest at a luncheon aboard the superdreadnaught New Mexico, talked to an audience estimated at 20,000 in the municipal auditorium, was taken for a drive about the city, and tonight was the guest at a ball given by Mayor and Mrs. Wilde at Coronado, across the bay.

Nearly every business house closed at noon, Mayor Wilde having declared an official half holiday.

When the Prince and his suite came ashore after the luncheon on the New Mexico, they were greeted by thousands who lined the streets over which the party drove.

The Prince, in his address at the Auditorium, said he was glad to touch again at an American port, referred to the "wonderful time" he had enjoyed at Washington and other Eastern cities last year, and expressed the hope that he might return in the future for a more extended stay. A sound-amplifying device made his words audible all over the building.

EXPLOSION KILLS 32.

People in Rooming House in Oklahoma Town Are Victims.

WICHITA, Kan., April 7.—Thirty-two persons sleeping in a rooming house over a cafe at Ponca City, Okla., were killed late tonight when an explosion wrecked the cafe, according to a message from Ponca City.

MISSING BOY WAS AT CIRCUS

Father Takes Home Son Who Wanted to Train Elephants.

Resplendent in the bright uniform of a circus attendant Vincent Valenzano, 16, stood on the edge of the arena in Madison Square Garden last night watching with rapt wonder the "amazing aerial exhibitions," "performing pachyderms," "wonderful wire-walkers" and all the other things alluringly announced in the pink circus posters all over town. The smell of the sawdust, the blare of the band and the "hooplas" of the horseback riders filled him with contentment—a contentment for the moment unspoiled by the disquieting fact that members of his family were probably looking all over for him since he shook the dust of 413 First Avenue from his feet on March 24 and hit the sawdust trail.

The show was nearly over and Vincent, with the other attendants, was hurrying to the arena for the hippodrome races, when he felt a touch on his arm. It was John Ringling, one of the proprietors of the circus. Vincent's heart gave a bound. He had confided to one of the circus managers his ambition to be an elephant trainer and had asked that Mr. Ringling be approached on the subject. Now doubtless Mr. Ringling had decided to give him a chance. He saw his name in big letters on the program and—

"Sonny," the circus proprietor was saying, "why did you run away from home?"

Vincent's heart sank as he saw behind Mr. Ringling his brother-in-law, Anido Cocchi, and a police lieutenant. His game was up. The big letters on the program were very far away.

"All right, I'll go home," he said. "But, believe me, when I get a little bigger—"

Anido cut him short and went with him and Mr. Ringling to the paymaster's office, where Vincent got his back pay.

"I thought that's where we'd find you," said Anido, after they left Vincent. "Marie heard you had been standing all day looking at those circus posters. We've been to the circus twice before but we couldn't tell you from the other attendants. Then we got Lieut. Treanor of the Welfare Bureau of the Police Department and he suggested we try once again."

RIOTS IN JERUSALEM.

Recent Disorders Said to Have Been of an Anti-Semitic Character.

CAIRO, April 7.—While details of the conflicts between Moslems and Jews in Jerusalem are lacking, which may indicate that a censorship has been imposed, it is pointed out that the Moslems have been celebrating the "Moussa," the Jews the Passover, and the Christians Easter. There is always the risk of collisions during the processions incidental to these observances, of which there have been a number during former years.

Travelers say that anti-Semitic feeling has developed acutely recently among the Arabs, but that there has been no show of hostility between the Moslems and Christians. When processions of Moslems and Christians met on April 4 not an unfriendly word was uttered, but bands of Moslems and Jews clashed the same day at the Jaffa gate, the Jews crying: "We won the country by the sword and will keep it by the sword." A fight ensued in which knives and stones were used. British soldiers arrived quickly and calmed the trouble, but there were subsequent disturbances as processions were passing through the city's narrow streets, Jews being attacked.

METHODISTS SPEED 'OUTGOING DEVIL'

"SALOONS GONE OR GOING"

Special to The New York Times.

KINGSTON, N. Y., April 7.—"We are witnessing the disappointed ravages of the outgoing devil," declared the Rev. Dr. Wallace MacMullen, Superintendent of the New York District of the New York Methodist Episcopal Conference, which opened its annual session here this afternoon in St. James's Church.

It is eight years since the conference met in Kingston, and it is being warmly welcomed. There was some confusion in starting the week's legislative work due to the hour's difference between daylight saving time and Standard time. Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York City will preside throughout the week.

"It has been a notable year," said Dr. MacMullen. "The Peace Treaty has been ratified, except by the United States, and peace exists as a political condition, whatever may be true of national tempers and programs.

"Prohibition, wartime and constitutional, has begun to operate, and its benefits are already of such magnitude as to guarantee the permanence of the new order. Only give the people a chance to see the economic and social results of the Eighteenth Amendment and the popular will is sure to be back of its enforcement.

"On the Bowery drunks and bullies and street walkers have vanished. Most of the 9,000 saloons in New York City are closed. Those still open are idle or are closed. Those still open are idle or furnishing legitimate liquids. The Municipal Lodging House had recently, in the heart of a very bad Winter, thirty-six inmates, as against an average of 1,500 a few years ago. The Tombs prison has lost half its population."

Dr. MacMullen said the Methodist Church is "embarrassed" in consideration of the financial plans of the Inter-Church World Movement.

"Our denominational leaders and our centenary campaign have had much to do with the origin and the form of the Inter-Church activity, and we are naturally and inevitably interested in it and enthusiastically one with it in spirit and purpose," said Dr. MacMullen. "But we have been embarrassed in our consideration of its financial plans and our relation to those plans by the fact that our own centenary movement is incomplete, that the conservation of it is our pressing task, and that the imposition upon our churches of any new quotas for any purpose whatever is quite out of the question.

"And to some the Inter-Church Movement seems a Protestant goal to be definitely and speedily approached. But this is not in the Inter-Church purpose. The Inter-Church Movement is, rather, the frank recognition on the part of diverse Christian bodies that they are joint holders of essential Christian truth."

Francis M. Hugo, Secretary of State, was hailed as the next Governor of New York this evening by two speakers at the thirty-third annual campfire of the Conference.

Mr. Hugo spoke on "The Debt of America and the World to the Soldiers of the Civil War."

DENIKIN A FUGITIVE ON BRITISH WARSHIP

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 6 (Associated Press.)—General Denikin, former commander of anti-Bolshevist forces in Southern Russia, arrived here last night, and is today a fugitive on board a British warship. Immediately after he landed he went to the Russian embassy with General Romahovsky, his former chief of staff, and it was while he was there that the latter was assassinated.

General Denikin is believed to be in danger because of the high feeling that prevails among Russian officers here, and went on board the warship under a guard of British soldiers.

General Romanovsky's murderer has not been apprehended, and there is little chance he will be caught, as attachés at the Russian embassy say, so far as they can determine, nobody saw the tragedy.

Generals Denikin and Romanovsky were talking with Prince Gergarin and several other Russians in the sitting room at the embassy, and the latter left to arrange for a motor car to bring his luggage from the steamer. A few minutes later revolver shots were heard and General Romanovsky was found in a dying condition in Billiard room. He was unable to speak when his friends reached him, having been shot through the heart and windpipe. Mme. Denikin, who also was at the embassy at the time of the tragedy, left soon afterward with her husband under British protection. The incident created a great sensation here.

GENERAL GRAVES IN MANILA.

MANILA, P. I., April 7.—Brig. Gen. William S. Graves, commander in chief of American Expeditionary Forces in Siberia, with his staff of thirty-two officers and 300 men, arrived here today on the army transport Great Northern from Vladivostok. Shortly afterward the transport South Bend arrived with 1,600 troops and 119 war brides, completing the evacuation of American troops from Siberia.

VLADIVOSTOK, April 1 (Associated Press).—Brig. Gen. William S. Graves and the last contingent of American troops to leave Siberia received a remarkable ovation when the transport Great Northern sailed for Manila at noon today. Before the vessel left her dock General Graves was decorated with the Czechoslovak Military Cross and was presented with a sword by the Russian Provisional Government's military staff.

Cheering crowds lined the docks as the big ship turned her prow to the channel leading out to the Pacific, and tugs bearing Czechoslovak bands accompanied the transport out to sea.

WOULD NOT WED 'OLD JUDGE'

Girl Seeks Death at Louisville to Escape Unwilling Marriage.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 7.—Rather than marry a "stogey old Judge," Miss Elizabeth Kirby, aged 25, of Huntsville, Ala., attempted suicide, here yesterday by jumping into the Ohio River. A dock worker rescued the young woman, who was taken to a hospital where she is said to be recovering.

The motive for the attempted suicide apparently was found in a note the woman left in a local rooming house addressed to her mother, in which she pleaded for one word from home and asked what she had done "to be forsaken by her parents." She stated that she would not sell herself "to the stogey old Judge or any other man not of her choice."

Miss Kirby, at the hospital, said her father was J. L. Kirby, a business man of Huntsville, and that she came here for employment a few weeks ago.

EL PASO, Texas, April 7.—Reports of a widespread revolutionary plot, fostered by Villa agents in the United States, to overthrow the Government in Mexico are being investigated by the Grand Jury here. Three persons are in jail in this country, and a fourth was arrested by Mexican Federal authorities at Mexicali, Lower California, while attempting to smuggle munitions to the revolutionists, according to a statement made here today.

The three arrested in this country are accused of violating the neutrality laws by conspiring to foster a revolution against a Government recognized by the United States.

According to information obtained here, the plot became known after United States army authorities in the Big Bend district had arrested Andreas H. Villegas, a Mexican boy, and Concepcion Perez, a niece of Francisco Villa, when they attempted to cross into Mexico. Military authorities seized from the pair much correspondence from Villa agents in this country addressed to Villa.

Federal authorities said the correspondence revealed a plot of Villistas and other revolutionists to cross into Lower California, seize that State and the arms and ammunition available there, and then attack the States of Sonora and Sinaloa, while Villa was to open a revolutionary campaign in Chihuahua. Several political leaders in Sonora also were linked with the movement, according to the correspondence.

Lamberto Chaves, a Colonel in Villa's army, was arrested at Los Angeles through information contained in the correspondence, and he is said to have confessed.

The Mexican arrested at Mexicali is said to be a Barbos, another Mexican revolutionary army officer.

DR. WELCH FINDS 70 NO ADVANCED AGE

SPAN OF LIFE LENGTHENED

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, April 7.—"Until a man is 100 years old he ought to take his birthdays very lightly." Thus cheerfully does Dr. William S. Welch, for some thirty-five years the distinguished pathologist of the Johns Hopkins Medical School and now directing the destinies of the School of Hygiene and Public Health, contemplate the rounding out of the Biblical threescore years and ten. Having come into this world as long ago as 1850 is not in the least disturbing the doctor's peace of mind.

Tomorrow will be his seventieth birthday, but to Dr. Welch it is only another busy day.

"I am not old enough to dwell only upon reminiscences," he said. "A man who reaches the age of 70 may look as though he is approaching antiquity to a young man like you, but that is really not such an advanced age. I expect to go right on working just as I have been."

"But what of the Biblical threescore and ten years, that seems to be set forth as the average span of life?"

"Oh, but we have changed that," exclaimed Dr. Welch. "The span of life has been lengthened. Our greater knowledge of life and its preservation has added twelve and a half years to the span of life in the last century, and mostly in the last half century.

"It is true that this applies to the early period of life. We have learned how to control and remedy conditions and diseases which have made high the death rate among individuals between birth and the attainment of 50 years of age. Infant mortality has been greatly reduced. What I mean is that every child born has a better chance of living to be 50 years old than was the case a century or a half century ago.

"Little has been accomplished in the way of promoting longevity for those who have passed their fiftieth year. After a person reaches that age death is usually caused by some organic trouble. The heart, the arteries, the kidneys, the other organs, are prey to diseases and deterioration against which little progress has been made."

"Is it true," the doctor was asked, "that activity tends to lengthen life; that men who have worked hard for a time when they could lay down their work and spend their old age in leisure often die soon after they retire?"

"That is perfectly true," Dr. Welch amended. "Men who have looked forward to a time when they would withdraw from active life, however, have a tendency to postpone retirement as they grow older. When they do they lose a certain stimulus which their business activities provided, there is a physical and mental letdown, and very frequently the end of life is hastened.

"I do not believe that the older men should hang on too long, however. They should make way for the younger men. It is important that the younger men should be given a chance to do important work while they are yet in their prime. It would be well, perhaps, for the men advanced in years to change their activities, to do something different. Such a change provides a new interest, a new stimulus."

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE DELAYS ON ANDERSON

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—Further indications that the Assembly is not overanxious to investigate William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, on charges of contempt, were given today when the sub-committee of the Assembly Judiciary Committee voted to put over for one week consideration of the charges. This action was taken, however, only after Speaker Sweet had agreed to give the committee a longer lease of life by permitting it to function until April 20.

Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier made the demand, in order that the committee should be in a position to hold hearings on other matters before it.

Assembly leaders are almost blunt in their declarations that there will be no "real" inquiry into either Anderson's alleged "contempt" or lobbying charges against the Anti-Saloon League, and it is believed in legislative circles that the Republican majority will content itself with adopting a reprimand declaring the league and Anderson a menace to the temperance cause.

Both Assemblymen Cuvillier and Ransom H. Gillett, who have been singled out especially as subjects of attack by Anderson, today filed briefs with the Judiciary Committee urging that Anderson be called before the bar of the Assembly and, in the event of his refusing to retract his alleged abusive remarks, that he be sent to jail.

PATROLMAN HELD AS FREIGHT ROBBER

BOATHOUSE KEEPER TAKEN

Third Man Shot At, but Escapes in Yards in West 102d Street—Officer Denies Guilt.

Although thefts from freight cars on the New York Central tracks in this city are said to be almost daily occurrences, he first arrest of a uniformed policeman charged with robbing one of them took place early yesterday morning when two detectives employed by the railroad apprehended Patrolman Patrick White of the West 100th Street station walking from an opened freight car at 102d Street and the North River toward the Bloomingdale Boat Club, at 104th Street, with a heavy bolt of cloth on his shoulders. William Smith, 50 years old, caretaker of the boathouse, in which was found four more bolts of cloth, also was arrested. A third man escaped under cars after several shots had been fired at him.

Detectives John Fabris and Joseph Boyle were assigned by Chief of Police E. J. Miles of the New York Central Eastern Lines to apprehend a few men, who, it was learned, were to remove some goods from freight cars around Seventieth Street early yesterday morning. The officers went to the section named, but, realizing the tip was false, decided to walk up along the tracks. They had just approached 102d Street, they said, when they found the door of one of the cars open and a few bolts of cloth on the ground. They crouched under the cars, they allege, and saw a uniformed policeman walking with a bolt of cloth on his shoulders.

They followed him, they said, and saw him enter the Bloomingdale Boat Club, two blocks from the car. The detectives ordered him to come out, they said, and he did so, followed by the caretaker. The detectives saw another man, they say, lurking around the cars a short distance away. When he did not respond to their shouts, the two sleuths fired a number of shots, but the suspect escaped under the freight cars.

Patrolman White denied in Police Headquarters that he had had any hand in the burglary, saying he had seen the cloth on the ground and was removing it to the boathouse, where he had intended to call a police patrol and take it to the station house. Patrolman White said he was 35 years old and lived at 46 Duffield Street, Brooklyn. Since the caretaker were held in $1,500 bail by Magistrate Morris Koenig in the West Side Court for examination Monday.

Chief of Police Miles said thousands of dollars' worth of stuff had been stolen from the freight cars since the first of the year. Detectives, he added, were working on a theft which had taken place three weeks ago in the yards at Thirty-third Street, when 113 bolts of cloth were stolen. One man, he said, confessed, and six more arrests will be made soon.

ROOSEVELT BILL DEFEATED.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt has begun to "take his medicine" for opposing the ousting of the Socialist Assemblymen in opposition to the decree of Speaker Sweet. A bill bearing his name and empowering employers for co-operative purposes to have representatives of their employes elected on Boards of Directors was defeated in the Assembly by a vote of 27 to 28 today. Col. Roosevelt took the defeat of his bill with a grin.

"I thought minorities had no rights," rejoined Assemblyman William W. Pellett, who with Mr. Roosevelt voted as a dissenter from the ouster program last week.

Won't Act Now on Daylight Repeal.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—The Legislature will not act this week on the measures before it repealing the daylight saving law. Assembly Republican leaders declared today, when representatives of the State Grange were urging Assemblyman Charles H. Betts to call up his once defeated repeal bill. The Fowler bill, which passed the Senate, giving cities and villages the right to determine for themselves whether they want daylight saving or standard time, is said to have gained the one vote needed to pass it in the Assembly.

Governor Reprieves R. Harrison.

ALBANY, April 7.—Richard Harrison, condemned to die in Sing Sing Prison tomorrow, received a reprieve today from Governor Smith until May 10, on the representation of his attorney, Joseph R. Truesdale, that an investigation might disclose new evidence. Harrison was convicted of murdering a Canadian soldier named Griffith in New York, in September, 1918.

SOCIALISTS' COUNSEL URGES NEW ELECTION

OUSTED MEN TO RUN AGAIN

Two Bills Are Offered in Assembly to Cause Outlawing of Socialist Party.

S. John Block, one of the attorneys for the five ousted Socialist Assemblymen and New York State Chairman of the Socialist Party, sent a special delivery letter yesterday to Governor Smith, urging him to call immediately a special election to fill the seats of the expelled Assemblymen. In the event of a special election being called the expelled members of the Assembly will again be candidates.

Mr. Block's letter says in part:

"On the legislative day of March 31, 1920, which was continued through the night and without adjournment into the forenoon of April 1, 1920, the Assembly of the State of New York adopted a resolution expelling from the Assembly the five duly elected and qualified Socialist members of that body, Louis Waldman of the Eighth Assembly District of New York County, Charles Solomon of the Twenty-third Assembly District of Kings County, Samuel A. De Witt of the Third Assembly District of Bronx County and Samuel Orr of the Fourth Assembly District of Bronx County.

"Since that date the five Assembly districts have been wholly deprived of representation in that body, in violation of the fundamental American constitutional principle of democratic representative government.

"The Constitution of the State of New York directs that the Legislature shall provide for filling vacancies in office, and the Election Law provides that upon the occurrence of a vacancy in any elective office which cannot be filled by appointment for a period extending to or beyond the next general election at which a person may be elected thereto, the Governor may in his discretion make proclamation of a special election to fill such office. The office of member of the Assembly is an elective office which cannot be filled by such appointment.

"Inasmuch as the five Socialist Assemblymen were expelled on the legislative day of March 31, the vacancies in their offices occurred before the first day of April, and you have the right under the law to issue a proclamation calling for a special election to fill the vacant offices. If for any reason you should decide not to call such special election upon the ground that the vacancies were created before the first day of April, I urge you in the public interest to call a special session of the Legislature to meet after the adjournment of the present session, and in connection with the calling of such special session you have the power under Section 292 of the Election law to make a proclamation calling for special elections to fill the five seats in the Assembly which have been made vacant by the expulsion of the five Socialist members.

"In the election in November, 1919, about 76,000 votes were cast in the five districts affected, and it is quite safe to estimate that the total population of those five districts is at least 300,000. These persons have the constitutional right to be represented in both Houses of the Legislature at all times. Unless a special election shall be called by you, they will remain without representation in the Assembly until the month of January, 1921."

Bills Offered to Have Socialists Outlawed

ALBANY, April 7.—If the Socialist Party is to be outlawed at the polls, it will be as the result of a judicial determination rather than by legislative act, under the terms of two bills which were introduced today, in the Senate by President Pro Tem. J. Henry Walters, and in the Assembly by George R. Fearon of Onondaga.

One of the ouster bills would require the Attorney General to seek through the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, in the Third Department (Capital District), a decision upon the question of whether the principles, doctrines and policies of the Socialist Party, if applied, would destroy, subvert or endanger the Government of the State and nation."

The second bill, an amendment to the Public Officers' act, provides that in the event of a decision upholding the affirmative answer to that question, embodied in the majority report of the Assembly Judiciary Committee in the proceedings to unseat the Socialist Assemblymen, persons subscribing to the doctrines of the Socialist Party of America, not only would be debarred from running for office, but Socialists already holding elective or appointive office would be subject to ouster proceedings, which the Attorney General would be required to bring under the provisions of the bill.

Speaker Sweet, in outlining the provisions of the bill, said:

"It is purposed to exclude a member of a political organization which, as determined by the Supreme Court under the Election law, supports, advocates, maintains or declares for principles, doctrines or policies which, if carried into effect, would tend to destroy, subvert or endanger the existing governments of the United States or of the State of New York and the rights, privileges and institutions secured under the Constitutions thereof, from the right to hold any civil office of the State or of any municipal corporation or political subdivision thereof.

"It is further provided that any person who advocates, supports or is committed to the principles, doctrines or policies of a political organization which has thus been declared to be opposed to existing governmental institutions shall not be eligible to hold any civil office within the State. Where a person has been elected or appointed to any office of the State or of a municipal corporation, and agrees with the members or representatives of any political organization to perform the duties or exercise the powers of such office in contravention of the Constitution or the laws of New York or of the United States, or agrees with the political organization that he will resign his office upon the request of such organization or any member or representative thereof, or who agrees to perform his duties or exercise the powers of his office in accordance with the directions of such organization, or agrees to carry out the directions or be controlled by any organization which he is a member of, shall upon the making of such agreement forfeit his office."

EX-SOLDIER FOILS HOLDUP.

The response of George Canter, an ex-soldier and a druggist at 365 Van Brunt Street, Brooklyn, last night to a command to throw up his hands, just as he and his wife were taking the day's receipts of $150 from the cash register, was to reach over the counter and grab the gun hand of the intruder, Nicholas Nelson of 39 Sullivan Street, who, the police say, is out on bail awaiting trial on a charge of burglary. Nelson fired two shots at Canter, one of which grazed his ear while the other pierced his clothing and glanced along his chest.

Canter vaulted the counter and the two men fought, rolling along the floor in front of the door, so Mrs. Canter could not get out to give the alarm. She made her way to the window, smashed it with a bottle, called for help and soon Nelson was in the Hamilton Avenue station and Canter was sleeping soundly after being attended at home for a slight wound.

Report Persians Balking at Executing British Treaty

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 7.—England is apparently having trouble over her secret treaty with Persia. It is reported from Teheran that four Persian Ministers, including the Minister of War, have refused to sign orders for the execution of the plan of the Anglo-Persian Military Commission on the ground it has not been approved by the Teheran Parliament or by the League of Nations. Under the terms of the treaty England undertakes the reorganization of the Persian Army.

It is also reported from Teheran that the suicide of one of the Persian officers connected with the Anglo-Persian Military Commission has caused a sensation.

DETROIT, Mich., April 7.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., believes that the "every-man-for-himself spirit will ruin the world." He made three addresses in Detroit today in behalf of the interchurch movement.

"Everybody is trying to get as much as possible for as little as possible," was Mr. Rockefeller's reason for the high cost of living.

"The trouble rests not alone with the storekeeper or manufacturer," he said. "The laboring man who tries to sell 65 per cent. of his work for 100 per cent. pay is as much to blame as the salesman who charges twice as much as a product is worth."

Mr. Rockefeller declared that the trouble with the country today was twofold.

"Every one is extravagant," he said, "and every one, or nearly every one, is selfish. Extravagance is not limited to any class of people. It has spread itself throughout the whole country and every one is spending more than he or she should spend for things that are not essential to happiness."

Says He Doesn't Want More Money.

Before beginning his public speaking Mr. Rockefeller commented on general religious, social, economic and business affairs. He said that he did not believe charges he had heard that the churches were being used by the capitalists to keep the working men from getting better conditions on earth; that neither he nor his father wanted more money, and that it was "stupid" to say that every time he or his father made gifts to public benefactions the price of gasoline went up 1 cent.

Mr. Rockefeller reported for instructions to Dr. Abram E. Corey, Director of the Field Department of the Interchurch Movement, with the willingness to take orders of the humblest clerk in the party. He showed no hesitation in discussing freely controversial questions.

"It has been charged," Mr. Rockefeller said, "that capitalists are deliberately using the churches to keep the working man contented, so that he will not try to better his conditions on the earth, by promising him a palace in Heaven. I do not believe that. I have seen no evidences of it. I would not have the respect for the churches that I have if that were so. If the Christian church were so used that it could be used for such purposes it would not command the confidence that it does.

"In that connection the New York newspapers, some of them, recently charged that my father and I spent from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to get the Prohibition Amendment passed, because with prohibition we could get more work out of our employes and so make more money. It is really absurd to make such a charge. What would my father want with more money? What would I want with it? As a matter of fact we spend practically all our time trying to use wisely and well that which we have.

"Recently I had figures compiled as to how much my father and I really had contributed to the prohibition movement. I found that in the last twenty years both of us, by contributions to the Anti-Saloon League and other prohibition organizations, had contributed just $320,000. And yet it was charged we gave millions to a short space of time.

Replies to Price-Raising Charge.

"Sometimes, also, if my father gives some sum to a public benefaction, and the price of gasoline goes up, newspapers connect the two incidents. Now, I have never had anything to do with the management of Standard Oil, and my father has not had for twenty years. Besides, Standard Oil is only one of many oil companies, and the Government insists on the keenest competition between them. Why would all the other companies raise their prices at the same time as Standard Oil if my father's gift was the only reason for that company advancing its prices?

"Speaking not as an authority, because I am not, but merely from general business principles, I should say it was supply and demand and increased cost of labor and materials that caused gasoline prices. Standard Oil decreased the cost of gasoline until it was so cheap that it was in demand for constantly increasing uses, and when the demand increased, naturally the price went up."

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 7.—Charles Edwin Snedeker, son of C. S. Snedeker, 170 Broadway, New York, was dismissed from the third class of the Naval Academy today following an investigation of the hazing of a fourth class man Saturday evening.

Rear Admiral Scales, Superintendent of the Academy, would make public none of the details of the hazing, but said that a full report had been forwarded to Secretary Daniels.

Snedeker, after tendering his resignation at the request of the Admiral, was escorted from the Academy grounds by practically all members of his class. Admiral Scales, entering the grounds from Maryland Avenue, ordered the students to stop cheering Snedeker, and after a final cheer the men marched quietly away. Admiral Scales ordered them confined to their quarters for the rest of the day.

FLURRY IN RYAN STOCKS

Rumors Start of Possibility That Shorts in Several Issues May Suffer.

The legal tangle that has been expected as a result of the corner in Stutz Motor Car Company stock on the New York Stock Exchange developed in embryo yesterday, when it was learned that fifteen Stock Exchange houses had engaged a law firm to represent a short interest of some 10,000 shares in dealings with Allan A. Ryan & Co., who hold the key to the Stutz situation. Endeavors will be undertaken to reach some basis of settlement, so that the shorts can cover, but, failing in this, it is considered probable that a legal battle will be waged in the courts. The Stock Exchange houses are acting for their clients who are short of Stutz stock, and also for correspondent houses elsewhere throughout the country, the 10,000 shares short interest being diversified and consisting of no large individual short accounts.

The contention of the shorts will be that Allan A. Ryan & Co. knowingly bought stock which they were aware did not exist. Furthermore, it is believed that a fight will be made on the ground that the contracts are not enforceable, since Allan A. Ryan & Co., who control practically all of the Stutz stock, will not sell any of their shares wherewith the shorts can settle. Dos Passos Bros., experts on Stock Exchange law, have rendered an opinion holding that existing short sales contracts in Stutz Motor stock are unenforceable. No copy of this opinion could be obtained yesterday, it being stated that it was drawn up for a client. Who this client was the law firm did not disclose.

Stock Exchange Stands Pat.

The fact that recourse was being taken through legal channels was interpreted to mean that the Stock Exchange would take no further action in the matter. A statement by the Law Committee of the Exchange several days ago implied that Mr. Ryan could seek satisfaction through the courts, and a legal end to the controversy was predicted before the close of this week. The ultimatum made public by Mr. Ryan yesterday, in which he set forth the conditions under which a settlement would be satisfactory to him, drew no fire from the Stock Exchange yesterday. There was a special meeting of the Board of Governors, but, according to the committee, the Stutz corner was not even mentioned. It is understood that the Exchange refused to accede to the terms offered by Mr. Ryan on Monday, the latter having submitted then the same plan which he announced publicly Tuesday night.

An auction sale of 200 shares of Stutz stock at A. H. Muller & Son's auction room was enlightening as to the value of the shares. The shares brought $701 each, or a total of $140,200 for the block. In that the stock carried the stock dividend which was supposed to come off on Monday, it was the same as that which was traded in on the Stock Exchange. The last sales on the Exchange a week ago yesterday, after which trading was suspended, was at 391 and over-the-counter dealings were reported at 400 to 430 during the latter days of last week. In other words, there was an increase in the price of the shares by about $30 each during the course of seven days. As the shares carry a 20 per cent. stock dividend, they actually represented 240 shares, so that the diluted stock was selling at $584 a share on the basis of yesterday's price.

The purchase of the 200-share block was made by Benjamin F. Feiner of the law firm of Feiner & Maass of 100 Broadway. Inquiry of the purchaser as to who was actually taking the stock at such a high figure brought forth the laconic reply, "a client." Further than this Mr. Feiner would not go. At the Stock Dividends Act to Stimulate Speculation in Industrial Stocks.

The advance of industrial stocks, which gained headway on Tuesday under the stimulating influence of 6 per cent. call money, acquired additional power yesterday when stock dividends acted to spur the speculative imagination. The Studebaker Corporation's large distribution of surplus in the form of new shares came as an unexpected development and the 100 per cent. dividend in shares declared during the day by the International Motor Company urged trading in many stocks whose surplus accounts were swollen by business during the war years. Again call loans were put through at 6 per cent. and the amount of offerings was in excess of the demand. Stocks in particular favor with the trading ended the day with net gains running from 2 to 14 points. There was considerable profit-taking in the last half-hour, especially in steel and allied issues, whose rise the day before had been extensive. The railroad group failed to continue Tuesday's improvement.

A market based on stock dividend actualities and expectations is not the soundest in the world. The test of stock increases is the amount of dividends holders will receive after their certificates of ownership have been expanded. Still, traders have ever been aroused by dividends in stocks and the short interest in an issue enhanced in amount through special Directors' action is moved to cover its contracts in hasty fashion. Evidence of hurried purchases for this purpose was clear in particular stocks yesterday and worked to impart a decidedly streng tone to prices in the fore part of the session.

The market contained a significant demonstration of concerted buying in several stock issues whose totals of outstanding shares are either small or not widely distributed. The sharp rise of Stromberg Carburetor, Vanadium Corporation, Replogle Steel and one of two others, all connected in popular estimation with the financial group interested in the latter's active splash, was viewed with less satisfaction in conservative Stock Exchange quarters than might have been expected in a day when the general price trend was upward. The Exchange can hardly afford to have anything happen again of a character approaching the Stutz corner, and so it was not surprising that short sales in certain issues were not encouraged.

In the cotton market a vigorous advance emphasized the unfavorable weather which parts of the crop belt have been experiencing. Probably low call money also had its effect in speculation in the staple, for it was noted in market gossip that the impression that day to day credit is to be plentiful for a time was an absorbing factor. Approximately $9,000,000 more British gold was made available by the arrival of another consignment from London, making approximately $41,000,000 to come on the current movement. The gold situation was changed in one respect, however. The news that $10,000,000 had been made ready for transfer to South America came so soon after the belief had spread of moderate, if any, shipments to the Argentine prior to the maturity of that country's large loans here as to cause some alteration of expectations about prospective net accumulations of gold.

Sterling exchange declined 2 cents from the day's maximum quotation, but retained half of the recession before business ended. French rates reacted and there was considerable weakness in Italian quotations, arousing afresh the thought that these countries were meeting substantial obligations at London. Despite the adverse exchanges, steel trade comment deals this week with the sizeable flow of products to foreign consumers. In connection with surveys of the iron and steel industry, it is worth noting that pig iron production during March was the largest since December, 1918. The Iron Trade Review setting the total at 3,375,554 tons. Better railroad facilities than in February resulted in material growth of shipments of finished steel.

Coast Cane Sugar Up $1.50.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—The basic price for refined cane sugar was set at $15.80 the hundred pounds by the California Hawaiian Sugar Refining Company here today, an advance of $1.30 since yesterday. The new price applies to the eleven Western States covered in the company's allocations, the dealers elsewhere being permitted to add the freight price from this seaboard.

P. R. R. WILL ISSUE $50,000,000 BONDS

Ten-Year Securities, Paying Seven Per Cent., Will Be Offered by Syndicate.

INTEREST RATE A SURPRISE

An issue of $50,000,000 in ten-year 7 per cent. bonds of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is to be offered at par and accrued interest by a banking syndicate headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. The bonds are to be secured by the deposit of $50,000,000 Pennsylvania Railroad general mortgage 6 per cent. bonds and by $5,000,000 new general mortgage 6 per cent. bonds of the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad Company.

The syndicate which is to offer the bonds is composed, in addition to Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of the National City Company, the Guaranty Trust Company, William A. Read & Co., Harris, Forbes & Co., all of New York; Kidder, Peabody & Co. of Boston, the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, and the Girard and Commercial Trust Companies of Philadelphia.

This is the first big financing by the Pennsylvania Railroad since December, 1918, when Kuhn, Loeb & Co. marketed an issue of $50,000,000 general mortgage fifty-year 5 per cent. bonds at 99¼. The unusually high interest yield of the new issue, 7 per cent., came as a distinct surprise to many in the financial district late yesterday, when the offering price became known.

Nothing could be ascertained in local banking quarters yesterday regarding the ultimate disposition of the proceeds of this new offering. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has to meet a maturity of $19,823,000 in bonds of the Philadelphia and Erie, a subsidiary company, on July 1, next, and the requirements for the current year, aside from this maturity, have been estimated at upwards of $75,000,000. Whether the Pennsylvania Railroad management contemplates any further financing later in the year has not been stated and both officials of the company and bankers associated with the company's fiscal operations have refused to discuss the matter.

It was reported some days ago that negotiations were being carried on between representatives of the railroad and prominent bankers and it was said at that time that the new offering probably would take the form of general mortgage bonds. But subsequently it became known that a bond, in the nature of a collateral-secured obligation, would be put out. Thus, the official description of the new security was not surprising to those who follow the bond markets.

Bankers said last night that this Pennsylvania issue probably would "break the deadlock" in the bond market. During the last three or four weeks a considerable amount of railroad financing has been done, but most of it has been in equipment trust securities. It was recalled that in 1908 the Pennsylvania put out $40,000,000 in 4 per cent. consolidated mortgage bonds at a time when other roads hesitated to risk the market, and again in 1915, when the company sold $40,000,000 of consolidated mortgage 4½ per cent. bonds, the same conditions obtained. In 1915 the company sold $125,000,000 general mortgage 4½ per cent bonds and in December, 1918, it marketed $50,000,000 general mortgage 5 per cent. bonds.

Commercial Failures in March.

During March there were 566 commercial failures, seventy-four more than in February, but three fewer than in January, according to the records of R. G. Dun & Co. Discussing the developments, this company's review of the situation says, in part:

"While last month's failures exceed those of the shorter month of February, being seventy-four larger in number and about $2,000,000 greater in amount of liabilities, yet the numerical showing is the best of any March of which there is record, and the indebtedness is the smallest for the period since 1907. Comparing with the 629 defaults for $13,595,471 of March, 1919, this year's returns disclose a reduction of 10.0 per cent. in number and 6.6 per cent. in liabilities, and from the 1,142 insolvencies for $17,672,331 of the corresponding month of 1918 decreases of 50.4 and 28.1 per cent. appear. Carrying the analysis back beyond 1918 even more satisfactory results are shown, last month's reverses being 54.1 per cent. fewer in number and 27.0 per cent. lighter in indebtedness than the 1,232 failures for $17,406,096 of March, 1917, and 66.5 and 24.8 per cent. less than the 1,690 defaults for $16,885,295 of March, 1916."

PLAN NEW STOCK ISSUE.

International Motor Truck Corporation Will Double Common Shares.

Directors of the International Motor Truck Corporation voted yesterday to declare a stock dividend of 100 per cent. on the common stock, subject to ratification by stockholders. Such action would increase the outstanding common shares from 70,777 to 141,554. It is the purpose of the Directors to offer the new stock to shareholders at $ a share, subscription to be at the rate of one new share for each share now held.

The announcement states that such an arrangement would provide the company with approximately $7,000,000 in cash to take care of its increasing business. It was also announced that the new stock has been underwritten by Hayden, Stone & Co.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Money Still Easy.

Money again stood at 6 per cent. all day and unless all signs fail the rate is destined to stay around present figures for some time to come. This, of course, does not mean that the market will be free from occasional flurries, but the flow of funds just now clearly is toward New York and until a change is noted—whether the turn is toward the interior or toward Washington matters not at all—the chances are that rates will remain reasonably low. This applies to call money and to some other forms of accommodation, but not to time money. The latter remains as scarce and as dear as ever, with no immediate prospect of relief.

French and Italian Rates.

Both French and Italian foreign exchange rates yesterday fell to new low records, the former to 15.30, displacing the former record of 15.15, made on Feb. 4, and the latter to 22 lire to the dollar, as against 20.72 on March 23. Both rates improved a little at the close, but still were below earlier extremes. As was the case when the previous low records were established, the weakness developed in the London market before ours opened, and after ours got going it simply followed the London lead. The explanation, too, was a repetition of what was said before—Paris and Rome were settling indebtedness with Lombard Street and in the process were depressing their own rates. But, contrary to the way this operation worked before, it did not help sterling. As a matter of fact, the latter closed 1¼ cents lower than on Tuesday and at one time was a full 2 cents in the pound below the previous day's quotation.

The Demand for Bills.

The acceptance market, showing promising signs for several days, appears to have worked itself into the happy state it enjoyed last September, when the demand for bills came with a sudden rush and completely denuded dealers' portfolios of all prime paper. The complaint of dealers yesterday was: "We can't get bills." The psychology of 6 per cent., as applied to the bill market at a time when call rates are similar, seems to be especially appealing to many investors.

Increasing the Oil Supply.

Oil companies operating in Mexico apparently are taking full advantage of the opportunity afforded by the Carranza Government for the drilling in of new wells. During the last week or ten days reports have come forth of several large wells, the most recent strike having been a 50,000-barrel well by the Island Oil and Transport Company. In view of the petroleum shortage here, and throughout the world for that matter, increased production in the Mexican fields cannot help but be a source of satisfaction. New production, however, is not the only problem concerned. Lack of tankers to transport the oil might not permit of the full Mexican output being made available for use. The drilling of new wells must therefore go hand-in-hand with increased tankerage facilities in order to alleviate the petroleum shortage. This fact is not being overlooked by the oil companies, and under such circumstances the present shortage may be of only passing moment.

Stock Dividends.

Immediately following the Supreme Court decision on stock dividends, which exempted them from tax as income, there were a number of companies that came forward with stock dividend announcements. Following the early declarations, however, there was a pause which led some to the belief that the stock dividend question as related to the industrial field had been much overrated. Developments of the last few days, however, have brought forth a new crop of stock dividends. In the belief of some, the companies which may be concerned are hurrying any contemplated plans so that there may be no conflict with any future action which Congress might take.

A New Ticker Service.

The Export and Import News Bureau is about to install an additional ticker service which will be devoted exclusively to bids, offers, quotations and news on foreign exchange, foreign Government bonds, unlisted stocks and puts and calls. The service is said to have some 160 subscribers. It will operate from 9:30 A. M. to 4:30 P. M. daily, except Saturday, when the hours will be 9:30 A. M. to 1 P. M. The service taps a field that has had no service of the kind in the financial district.

Studebaker Makes Big Gain.

Studebaker was one of the leaders among the motor stocks yesterday, the advance of more than 12 points being a direct reflection of the 33 1-3 per cent. stock dividend which the Directors declared on Tuesday. There was a split opening at 113-116, the latter price being the low for the session. The shares were in good demand throughout the day, part of the buying being for the purpose of short covering, some bears being trapped by the unexpectedness of the dividend decision.

The Chicago Railroad Meeting.

The vanguard of railroad executives who will attend the meeting of member roads of the Association of Railway Executives in the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago tomorrow left New York last night. No program of the matters to be discussed at the meeting has been issued, but it is understood that not only will there be a general discussion of the present situation but the more pressing problems will receive especial attention. It is hoped the association's committee on equipment, which has been trying to discover some way to finance the immediate needs of the carriers, will have a report to make, and it is expected that there may be a full report on the actual minimum requirements of the roads for this year. It is known that not all of the members in the association are agreed upon certain policies and, while it is not expected that any split in the organization will occur, it is understood that there may be a lively debate on the question of rate making.

Construction Work Picking Up.

While there has been no big increase in the actual amount of railroad construction work started since the roads were returned to private operation, it is known that comprehensive programs for additions and betterments have been mapped out by several of the favorably situated companies. Taking the roads as a whole, the average normal expenditures on construction annually should be in the neighborhood of $500,000,000. In the case of roads in strong cash position, a fair amount of the work can be done, but in the case of the roads which are not so advantageously situated the outlook does not appear so favorable. The $300,000,000 revolving fund provided in the Transportation Act to be expended under the direction of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the transition period between Federal and private control bids fair to be exhausted in the purchase of equipment. Equipment is admitted to be the most pressing problem and it is believed the commission will approve the expenditure of the revolving fund for new rolling stock. Just how the funds for additions and betterment work will be secured remains to be solved.

The Cost of Federal Control.

Director General Hines's statement before Congress that the loss to the Government from the operation of the railroads for the twenty-six months would be approximately $900,000,000 was not a surprise to those who have kept in close touch with the situation. In fact, it was suggested in some railroad quarters that before all of the settlements between the Government and the railroads are effected the cost may be considerably more. Deferred maintenance and the actual physical condition of the properties when they were released, as compared with their condition when they were taken over by the President, are items upon which an agreement may be slow in coming.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY EXPLAINS ITS STAND

Has No Bearing on Return for Improvements Provided by Transportation Act, Says Memorandum.

J. E. Fitzwilson, General Eastern Freight Agent of the Southern Railway System, issued a memorandum yesterday explaining just why the Southern declined to agree to the extended payment of standard return provided in the Transportation act. He said that a great many inquiries have been received as to the company's reason for rejecting the guarantee, and in view of conflicting reports which have been published made the following statement of the facts:

"This decision does not refer at all to the average return of 5½ per cent., with an extra ½ per cent. for improvements, provided by the Transportation act as a guide to the Interstate Commerce Commission in fixing rates upon a valuation that will produce that average return, but refers entirely to the six months' guarantee after March 1 of the standard return or rental made by the United States Railroad Administration during governmental operation.

"Under the Transportation act the railway companies were given the option of a Government guarantee for the six months following March 1, this guarantee to be the same as the 'standard return,' which the railways secured from the Government while under Federal control. To take advantage of this guarantee it was necessary that each company desiring to do so should qualify by March 15. It is understood that a great majority of the railways of the country have qualified, and thus will be assured of Government support until Aug. 31, but the Southern has decided to go it alone, and will depend on the business to be found in its territory and the resourcefulness of its organization to produce results which will equal or surpass the Government guarantee, which guarantee approximated 4 per cent. for the Southern and which was considered inadequate. In short, it means that until Aug. 31 other lines will be protected by a Government pay check and the Southern will be dependent entirely upon what it earns.

"This decision has been reached with the full realization that with the present level of rates and scale of expense it will be necessary to secure substantial increases in freight and passenger business, but our management is confident of the ability of the Southern territory to furnish the increased business and the ability of the organization of the Southern to handle it in such a manner as to procure results which will surpass the benefits of the proffered guarantee."

$71,744 Verdict in Sugar Suit.

A transaction in sugar during the shortage last Summer resulted in a verdict yesterday of $71,744 for Rex D. Sheldon against the Argos Mercantile Corporation from a jury before Supreme Court Justice McCook. The plaintiff alleges that he bought 20,000 tons of sugar in Cuba at $8.52½ a hundred pounds, and sold it to the defendant for $10.60, but the defendant failed to complete the transaction, and Sheldon got a profit of only $10,000, whereas he would have made $100,000 if the deal wit hthe defendant had been closed.

Estimating costs in advance

Manufacturers and others who must estimate their costs in advance know the necessity of complete and accurate figures. Often however, this information is not forthcoming when required.

In such cases our varied experience in analyzing businesses in a statistical way and developing accounting systems would undoubtedly be profitable. Write for booklet "Getting the Figures."

PROTESTS AGAINST MARINE RISK BILLS

FEARS LOSS OF BUSINESS

Message to Legislators Says That Measures Would Handicap Foreign Trade.

The Committee on Insurance of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York yesterday sent a telegram to members of the State Legislature protesting against the enactment of the proposed measures now before the Legislature designed to regulate marine insurance. The protest, which came as the result of a discussion of the subject at the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber last Thursday, was signed by Isaac B. Johnson, acting Chairman of the Committee on Insurance; Albert B. Ashforth, Wilson S. Kinnear and John J. Pulleyn, all the members who were present at yesterday's special meeting. The telegram of protest reads in part as follows:

"The New York Chamber has already expressed itself strongly upon the necessity of maintaining our position in foreign trade and of creating a permanent American merchant marine; and the attainment of these ends demands the free play of economic laws and competition in marine insurance, which is an important factor in these enterprises.

"At the monthly meeting last Thursday the Chamber adopted a report pointing out the futility of certain State Government regulations in cases where economic boundaries and State boundaries are not coterminous. The same conditions apply to the marine insurance field and it cannot be advantageously controlled by a single State or nation acting alone.

"The enactment of laws regulating marine underwriting would result in driving from the State of New York to other quarters an important amount of marine insurance, handicapping our local merchants engaged in foreign trade and interfering generally with interstate and international business now passing through New York. We believe it would result in a substantial net loss in the business and prestige now enjoyed by the commercial interests of the City and State of New York, not alone in respect to insurance but other business, and would tend to deprive the State itself of income now received through channels of taxation."

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Board of Directors of the Middle States Oil Corporation has declared a quarterly cash dividend of 4 per cent. on the capital stock of the corporation, payable July 1, 1920, to stockholders of record at the close of business June 10. This is an increase of one-third over regular cash dividends paid heretofore.

The East River National Bank will soon open a bond department under the management of Vice President Irving S. Metzler.

The William R. Compton Company, 14 Wall Street, is offering a new $100,000 issue of 6 per cent. bonds of Road District No. 1 of Mississippi County, Arkansas, to yield 5.75 per cent. The bonds mature serially Sept. 1, 1926, to 1946, and are exempt from all Federal income taxes.

Sutro Bros. & Co. have received advices from San Francisco stating that a special meeting of the Union Oil Company of California has been called for June 15, 1920, for the purpose of authorizing an increase of the capital stock from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

President Guggenheim Reports Profits Grow with Higher Wages.

At the annual meeting of the American Smelting and Refining Company yesterday John C. Emison and G. P. Bartholomew were elected Directors to succeed Leopold Frederick and Karl Eilers, who have retired from the board. It is understood that Mr. Frederick will devote most of his energies to the Chile Copper Company and the Braden Copper Company, both controlled by the Guggenheim interests. President Simon Guggenheim, who presided at the meeting, said that the company's net income had showed steady improvement and, discussing conditions further, he stated:

"We thought that the peak of operating costs had been reached last year, but this belief has not been substantiated by subsequent developments. Only recently American Smelting granted increases of 25 cents a day per man at the Perth Amboy plants and at the Garfield and Murray smelters, which treat much of the copper produced in the Bingham district. These increases add $18,000 to the monthly payroll and it is probable that they have to be followed by similar wage advances in the Baltimore and Helena districts.

"This demand for labor reflects the prosperity of general industry. Judging from the present outlook this prosperity will continue indefinitely, for there can be no letup in demand until production catches up with consumption. In my opinion, this point will not be reached until Europe is in a position to send goods and labor to the United States. Immigration and importation appear to offer the best solution for the high cost of living."

In considering the features of this issue, it is important to take into account that these certificates offer elements of safety not found in ordinary conservative bond issues, for they are rapidly amortized by payments of principal, so that the security of the issue and the security of your investment, backed by a liberal equity in the first place, grow steadily stronger together, in a mutually cumulative accession of strength.

The unusually conservative features of the issue make it especially attractive for institutions, trustees, and others who desire an investment which is free from fluctuation, and guaranteed as to interest and principal.

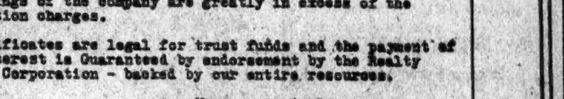
Where Tides of World Trade Meet



TIDES of trans-Pacific, transcontinental and coastwise commerce converge at San Francisco. The foreign trade alone of this port, principally with Japan, China and the Far East, reached a value of more than $452,000,000 for the fiscal year 1919.

Contributing to San Francisco's commercial prosperity are its location on a sheltered harbor, excellently equipped; its position as the metropolis of California, State of vast production; and its own diversified industries. The city is a natural distributing center and is served by many important railroads.

To co-operate with American business men in expanding the trade of the Pacific, a branch of the Park-Union Foreign Banking Corporation is maintained in San Francisco, provided with every banking facility.

MEET TO FORMULATE IMMIGRATION POLICY

AIM TO AID CONGRESS

Coleman Du Pont Says America Needs Immigrants as Much as Immigrants Need America.

As a result of the National Conference on Immigration, the first of its kind ever to be held in this country, memorials and resolutions outlining constructive policies regarding naturalization and immigration laws, the shortage of labor, the exodus of immigrants from America and the elimination of unrest among the foreign-born were adopted yesterday with the view of assisting Congress in its consideration of the 200 bills covering the subject which are now pending. The meeting was held at the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West Thirty-ninth Street, under the auspices of the Inter-Racial Council, and the 500 delegates included representatives of thirty racial groups, together with national leaders in industry, finance, agriculture, labor and education.

The problem before the conference was outlined by Coleman du Pont, Chairman of the Board of the Inter-Racial Council, who said: "We haven't scratched the surface of our industries, and it is through them that we will reach a great many people whom want to be Americanized, and whom America wants to know, because it is just as essential for America to have immigrants to develop this great country as it is for the immigrant to have America, a place in which he can develop."

Present-day conditions have rendered the problem more complex, William H. Barr, President of the council, explained, because the immigrant no longer came to America to enjoy religious or political freedom, but for impelling economic reasons. Believing that the immigrant is a great potential asset, he said, the Inter-Racial Council "conceives him as one who brings here not alone his labor, but his culture, his arts, his crafts—all of them contributions to be incorporated into our national life. Its investigations have confirmed the fact that the foreign-born residents in this country, as a class, are a law-abiding, industrious and thrifty people who in bettering themselves are strengthening the nation."

Louis Marshall gave an analysis of the numerous immigration bills now before Congress and delivered the keynote of the conference's immigration policy. Discussing the selective principle of admission, he deemed the present law well framed in excluding the mentally, morally and physically unfit. He denounced as absurd several bills, known as the "Gallick Rule" or the "Dillingham Policy," which selected immigrants on the basis of nationality.

"It is the man who counts," he declared. "If he is a man of character, thrift, industry, is possessed of sound body and mind—why, we want those people in this country; they are the same kind as those who today are part of the bone and sinew of the composite American citizen.

"The literacy test should be repealed at the earliest possible moment, but if we have not as yet been able to educate the American legislator into a recognition of the justice of that proposition, we should insist that the test should be modified so that it shall not apply to agricultural laborers or those who desire to engage in domestic service."

Proper laws safeguarding immigrants from financial sharpers and encouragement of savings were urged by Paul M. Warburg and F. Charles Schwedtman, Vice President of the National City Bank, discussing "Finance and Immigrant Savings."

John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education, speaking on "Racial Relations," pleaded for the overcoming of racial prejudice and said that there no longer was a place for such an antipathy now that nations are interdependent.

"Assimilation" was discussed by C. H. Taylor, Chief of the Office of Farm Management of the Department of Agriculture, who read a statement prepared for the conference by Edwin T. Meredith, Secretary of Agriculture.

Others in the discussion of assimilation were Professor Alexander Petrunkevitch of Yale, who spoke on "The Teaching of English to Immigrants"; H. C. Brearly, Board of Fire Underwriters, on "The Civic Education of Immigrants"; Jacob Ginsburg, President of the Publishers Association of the American Press in Foreign Languages, on "The Foreign Language Press."

"Stabilization" was the subject of an address by Carl Giesse of the Cleveland Trust Company.

SHOE COST INQUIRY TO OPEN

Senate Sub-Committee Will Investigate High Prices.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—A Senatorial investigation of the high cost of shoes will begin Friday before a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Manufactures.

In making this announcement today Senator McNary of Oregon furnished data received from Victor Murdock of the Federal Trade Commission, bringing up to date the commission's recent report on the prices of leather and shoes. Senator Kenyon, who is one of the members of the sub-committee, announced that an effort would be made to have the Treasury furnish figures on the income and excess profits returned by shoe manufacturers and dealers.

The data furnished by Mr. Murdock stated that increases in the price of leather were steady during the war period, following apparently the increases during that time in leather exports. But when leather exports fell off there was no corresponding decline in domestic prices.

Mr. Murdock quoted from a report made by the Food Administrator in New York which stated that shoes which retailed in the Fall of 1919 for $9 a pair, and in the Spring of 1920 for $10.50, cost to manufacture $4.36 a pair in 1919, and $5.48 in 1920. The leather cost in the first instance was $2.53, and in the second instance $2.87, the report said. Labor cost 90 cents in 1919 and $1.04 in 1920; in 1919 the profit to the maker was 80 cents a pair, and in 1920 $1.02 a pair. Retailers' profits on these shoes were $3.75 a pair in the Fall of 1919 and $4 in the Spring of this year, the report stated.

WHAT AILED IMPERATOR.

Sir Ernest Glover, Who Sailed Eastward on Her, Sends the Facts Here.

To set at rest sensational reports circulated here about the last eastward voyage of the Imperator under the Cunard flag, Sir Ernest Glover, an official of the British Government, who was a passenger, has sent the following letter to Sir B. M. Raeburn, Director General of the British Ministry of Shipping:

"We made rather a long passage home—a day longer than we expected—and arrived at Cherbourg on Thursday afternoon and Southampton on Friday morning. There was some excitement. On Saturday and Sunday we had a pretty severe gale also a heavy sea. This sea overcame the ash ejectors, which are rather too near the waterline, instead of ashes being ejected, water came and, having ashes with it, blocked the bilge pumps—consequence, a considerable list.

"The fires at the low side were extinguished—ashes accumulated so that fires could not be cleaned—loss of steam and speed. Finally they got a plate off the tank top and pumped some of the water out that way and they had to break a pipe leading to the bilges short of the strum and got water pumped out by that so that by Monday morning we were nearly all right again. Apparently, also, she took in water through her coal ports which are not tight but are supposed to be well above the water line.

CURTAIL BUILDING PROGRAM

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., April 7.—Adjournment of the Legislature came into sight today with the adoption by both houses of a resolution providing for a week's recess beginning next Wednesday. The legislators will return April 21, to consider possible vetoes by Governor Edwards, but it is unlikely that any new business will be taken up.

The Annual Appropriations bill was introduced today, and will be one of the last measures acted upon before the recess next week. It calls for a total of $13,070,331.21 for the State's fiscal year beginning July 1 next. This is $674,665.05 less than the amount granted for the current fiscal year. The decrease is due to a less extensive program of State building.

Among the most important appropriations is one for $100,000 to obtain a valuation of all public utility property in New Jersey, to be used by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners in rate making.

Appropriations for the branches of the State Government are: Executive and administrative, $965,790; legislative, $119,183; judicial, $567,071; regulative, $1,568,340; educational, $3,211,335; agricultural, $389,280; military, $333,099; pension and retirement fund, $32,000; constructive, $621,000; general, $271,176; State emergency fund, $200,000; institutions and agencies, $5,762,259.

The Joint Appropriations Committee issued a statement showing that at the close of the present fiscal year there will be a free balance of $788,243.33. The State balance on June 30, 1919, was $5,016,974.53; receipts to March 29, 1920, were $16,405,835.02; the estimated receipts from March 29 to June 30 are $1,000,000, making total resources on June 30 next of $26,220,809.55.

It is estimated that the receipts for the fiscal year beginning July 1 will be $10,350,000, which, with the free balance at the close of this year, will give the State for the ensuing fiscal year in the general fund a total of $11,138,232.32 to be used exclusively for State purposes. While the total of the appropriations for the ensuing fiscal year is $13,070,331.21, of this amount $2,564,905.75, which is appropriated for educational and motor vehicle purposes, comes from special revenue funds.

KANSAS COURT TO TRY MINERS FOR CONTEMPT

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 7.—After a plea of guilty to the charge of contempt had been made for Alexander Howat and two other Kansas mine union officials when they appeared before District Judge Curran today, their attorney withdrew the plea. The officials will face trial Friday morning.

Howat and August Dorchy, Vice President, with Thomas Harvey, Secretary-Treasurer, were admitted to bond of $500 each.

Howat, Dorchy and Harvey were charged with disobeying the order issued by the Judge yesterday for their appearance before the Court of Industrial Relations to testify in the investigation now being conducted into mining conditions.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 7.—Day men employed in the majority of the bituminous coal mines in the East Ohio field returned to work today under an agreement with the operators that their grievances would be taken up at a conference to be held here April 19.

This action permitted resumption of all but seven mines in the district, according to C. J. Albein, Commissioner of the Pittsburgh Vein Operators' Association. The day men claim that the advance allowed them under the terms of the settlement is proportionately less than that given to tonnage men.

SEEK PRICE INFLATION CURB.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 7.—Senator Walter L. Law of Westchester introduced a bill today designed to afford relief to the public against combinations of labor and capital to raise prices.

It provides that any person or corporation may petition the courts for an injunction where labor unions or combinations seek to control not only wages and hours but also prices charged the consumer.

An identical bill was introduced in the Assembly this afternoon. The bills amend the general business law and add a new section, which reads as follows:

Section 341 (A) Any person, firm or corporation shall be entitled to sue for and have injunctive relief against threatened loss or damage by a violation of any provision of Section 350, when and under the same conditions and principles as injunctive relief against threatened conduct that will cause loss or damage is granted by courts of equity under the rules governing such proceedings.

A preliminary injunction may be issued pending the trial of any such action to restrain threatened irreparable and immediate loss or damage.

OCEAN FREIGHT RATES UP.

British Order Advance, and Shipping Board May Follow Suit.

LONDON, April 7.—Increases in ocean freight rates from the United Kingdom to North America will take effect on April 19, and will range from 25 per cent. on lower classes of goods to 50 per cent. on more valuable articles, according to The London Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—An increase of freight rates to England on American ships is under consideration by the Shipping Board as a result of the announcement from London that Great Britain will advance rates to American ports from 25 to 50 per cent. on April 19.

Definite changes in the existing tariffs are expected to be decided upon at the weekly conference between members of the board and leading ship operators here on Friday.

NEW ISSUE

Exempt from All Federal Income Taxes

$700,000

Mississippi County, Arkansas

Road Improvement District Number One

Serial 6% Bonds

Principal and semi-annual interest, March 1 and September 1, payable at the American Trust Company in St. Louis, Missouri, or at the Harris Trust & Savings Bank in Chicago, Illinois. Denomination $1,000.

Under the rulings of the Treasury Department, the interest from municipal bonds issued in the United States is exempt from Federal Income Tax and ownership certificates are not required.

MISSISSIPPI COUNTY is situated in the extreme northeastern portion of the State and embraces an area of 906,880 acres. It has generally level topography and with its rich alluvial soil, comprises one of the richest sections of the Mississippi River Valley. It was in 1918, according to the report of the State Bureau of Agriculture, the banner agricultural county of the State. Five railroads traverse the county and provide ample transportation facilities. The present population of the county is over 40,000.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT No. 1, with a population of 30,000, extends from north to south through the eastern portion of the county. About 80 per cent. of its area is in cultivation, producing large annual crops of cotton, corn, alfalfa, wheat and potatoes. Land values in the district are high and are conservatively estimated to average $125 an acre, exclusive of city property, with some actual transfers as high as $400 an acre. The District includes the incorporated cities of Blytheville, Osceola and Luxora, with estimated populations of 8,000, 3,000 and 2,000 respectively, as well as several smaller towns. Four railroads traverse the District, providing good transportation facilities and insuring convenient markets for the crops raised. Memphis, Tennessee, with a population of over 150,000, is only 30 miles from the District.

WHEN THIS IMPROVEMENT IS COMPLETED, Mississippi County will have a comprehensive system of hard roads, which will be of great benefit to the entire population. A bond issue of $3,000,000 has been authorized and $700,000 are now being issued, of which the bonds we offer are a part. The work is being done under the supervision of a competent firm of engineers and the contractors will be required to furnish satisfactory bond for the proper completion of the roads.

THESE BONDS are secured by a tax lien on all the land in the District, including town lots in the cities, ninety-four miles of railroad, and other corporate property, and are payable from an annual tax which has been irrevocably levied on all real property in the District. Taxes levied to pay principal and interest exceed the requirements of the total authorized issue by 10% as required by law, and are spread in accordance with the benefit which the property will receive from the roads. These benefits have been confirmed by the Court. The tax collector is prohibited under penalty from accepting State and County taxes unless the taxes to pay these bonds are included.

THE REAL PROPERTY taxed to pay these bonds has an actual value estimated to be over $42,000,000. The average annual tax required to pay principal and interest of the total authorized issue as they mature is only 85c. per acre for the first five years and $1.12 per acre thereafter.

RAILROADS ASSERT STRIKE IS BROKEN

SEES NOTHING TO ARBITRATE

The harbor strike is ended so far as the railroads are concerned. J. J. Mantell, spokesman for the railroad managers, declared last night. With ferry conditions practically back to normal and the tug situation so improved that 65 per cent. of the freight is being moved, Mr. Mantell said that the roads were getting back to their regular basis despite the strike. He added that there would be no jobs for the strikers.

Mr. Mantell, who is Chairman of the General Managers' Association, indicated that no compromise was possible between the men who deserted their posts and the railroads. Statements by union leaders, in which arbitration of the differences was suggested, were coldly received by the railroad officials, who said that there was nothing to arbitrate.

When Mr. Mantell's attention was called to a statement reported to have been made by Thomas B. Healey, President of the Marine Workers' Affiliation, that terms of settlement could be reached if the twenty-one crews of seven boats sold by the Erie to the Phoenix Transit Company were reinstated and an eight-hour day was guaranteed for a year on all railroad craft, Mr. Mantell said: "The railroad managers have expressed themselves time and time again to the effect that they have no other alternative but to comply with the law, as they are law-abiding corporations."

The strike, according to Mr. Healey and other union leaders, though primarily to maintain the eight-hour day, was caused by information that other railroads meant to follow the Erie's example and sell to friendly interests the railroad tugs and lighters. These interests, it was said, would not be limited to the 60 cents per ton charge for lighterage, as the railroads were, but could charge $1.50 to $3 a ton.

Commenting on the general situation, Mr. Mantell said:

"For years and all during Government control, the railroads have had to call on independent towboat companies to take care of the surplus business as well as to take care of part of their own business.

"This is another move on the part of Healey to try to throttle the transportation systems. In regard to the men now on strike, including crews of the Erie tugs and lighters, the tugboats have been sold; we have no use for the lighters, and they are for sale.

"Speaking for the Erie Railroad, we have no jobs for men who have been laid off, and whose positions have been filled.

"The ferry service is practically normal, and I am glad to know that the union leaders are now saying that they did not wish to discommode the public, but it is a fact that they endeavored to pull all the men out on the first day. But the ferry men within a short time saw through it all, and they are practically all back to work, with few exceptions.

"Fifteen hundred and twenty-nine cars were floted across the river yesterday. Business is light along about this time of the year, and it was certainly a very fine movement.

"The last phase of the situation is the attempt to intimidate the wives and children of the employes who have stuck loyally to the companies. Men who are loyal and have backbone know what their duties are, both to their company and their country, which is fully covered by laws and do not pay any attention to such threats."

The strikers held another meeting in Webster Hall, 119 East Eleventh Street. Cheers greeted the announcement that Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, had declared his sympathy with the strike. Speakers declared that harbor conditions were rapidly forcing the railroads to terms.

ITALIAN NEWSPAPERS LIMITED TO TWO PAGES

ROME, April 7.—The Government has decreed that from April 18 until further notice newspapers shall be restricted to two pages.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 7.—American newspapers will be without print paper at the end of ten years, unless there is conservation of advertising space, declared Jason Rogers, publisher of the New York Globe, at a meeting of the Cleveland Advertising Club today.

"The output of print paper is dwindling rapidly," he said, "and the outlook is all the pulp mills of the United States and Canada will not be adequate to meet the demand, even if the supply of spruce timber holds out."

American Linseed Fluctuates.

After a quiet opening at 88¾ American Linseed suddenly advanced to a high for the day at 95 on speculative buying attributed to the rumor that Directors would take favorable action regarding an increase in the capitalization of the company at their midday meeting. When the news came out on the tickers that the meeting passed without a quorum and that Directors would not discuss the question of a capital increase, there was some selling of the stock. This proved heavy enough to depress the price to a closing quotation of 90¾. At the latter figure the net gain for the day was over 3 points. After the meeting Directors of the company declined to comment when asked if a special meeting would be held soon.

Railroads, transshippers and coal operators are interested in the exchange. Rembrandt Peale was elected President, and forty-two operators and shippers signed membership blanks today. HELD AS BAD NOTE PASSERS

Two Canadians Accused of Having $25,000 in Bogus Bills.

Two men who came to this city from Canada several days ago with bogus $10 Federal Reserve notes for $25,000 in their possession were held for trial yesterday in the Federal Court.

The men, who gave their names as Omar Barseiou and Paul Theorret, French Canadians, according to Secret Service men, came here from Montreal and posed as motion picture men. Barseiou, it was charged, tried to pass one of the counterfeit bills on Monday night at an upper Seventh Avenue restaurant. The character of the bill was noticed by the cashier, who told the man to return in a few minutes for his change.

In the meantime Captain John S. Tucker of the United States Secret Service was notified, and when Barseiou returned to the restaurant Federal agents arrested him. He said he was stopping at a West Forty-seventh Street hotel. The agents found Theorret at the hotel and took him into custody.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

The steel and iron industry has been benefited by improvement of transportation facilities, the weekly trade reviews state, and increased production emphasizes the heavy existing demand for goods. The pig iron output in March amounted to 3,375,907 tons, at the rate of 108,900 tons per days, in contrast with 102,720 tons daily in February, according to the records of The Iron Age. The current rate of production is the highest since December, 1918. Continuing, this periodical says:

Railroad purchases of rolling stock, while not spectacular, are steadily proceeding. Each step toward financial arrangements indicates the way in which successive car orders will doubtless be placed. Thus car orders will be slowly cumulative. The New York Central in buying 8,000 freight cars and 212 passenger cars orders little more than half what was expected. The Grand Trunk bought 4,000, one-quarter of the lot to be built in Canada. The Baltimore & Ohio in inquiring for 3,100 bodies represents another case of attempting to use existing under structures. The Burlington, which is seeking $275,000 worth of machine tools, is expected shortly to close on 1,000 cars, and car builders look for early inquiries from the Pennsylvania. Very little railroad bridge work is under active consideration, and no great amount is expected in the early future.

The Iron Trade Review says:

The present expanded movement of material is cutting into the tonnages piled high in mill yards, but the latter remain of large proportions in some cases. In the Mahoning Valley 100,000 tons still await arg. and the leading sheet and tin plate maker has 60,000 tons on hand.

The scarcity of material in general continues pronounced, and is fully effective as a market factor. Railroad equipment buying, after holding back for several weeks, has come forward more actively.

COTTON PRICES SHIFT IN NERVOUS MARKET

WIDE RANGE OF TRADING

New Crop Reported Seven Weeks Backward, with Other Conditions Unfavorable.

The cotton market experienced another exciting day yesterday. At the start the market was reactionary and before the forenoon had spent itself the market was down 25 to 35 points. The decline continued until around 1 o'clock, when a turn came, and a considerable degree of strength developed. The weekly weather report was as unfavorable as expected, and when the stock market turned aggressively strong and money rates continued low, cotton suddenly started upward and did not stop its advance until within a quarter of an hour of the close. At the peak it was up 90 points for May, 77 points for July and 25 to 40 points for the more distant months. Then in the last fifteen minutes it sold off again, losing 20 to 30 points of the net gain, but still holding 50 points of the previous day's closing.

The day's swings were unusually large. For May and July the range from the low of the forenoon to the high of the afternoon was about 120 points, and for other months the swings took in 60 to 80 points. It was a market difficult to follow, but one extremely profitable for quick and fortunate traders.

The whole performance illustrated the nervousness of the present market situation. Advices from the South say the new crop is six to seven weeks backward and reports of labor conditions, farm work, the cost of seed, and so forth, all are unfavorable, or, to put it another way, are very bullish. Furthermore, these conditions seem to be getting worse, rather than better, and the trade is again talking of "50 cent cotton."

Whether any such price will be realized or not is anybody's guess, but the fact remains that spots here are now on the basis of 42½ cents, and yesterday April sold at 41½ and May at 41½ cents. These prices closely approach the records of last month, made under technical conditions, which were much more favorable for high prices than any obtaining now. In fact, considering the relative difference between present technical conditions and those of two weeks ago, yesterday's prices really should be considered quite as high as the records of March 23.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

BUTTER—Receipts yesterday were 5,843 pkgs. Fresh creamery of high quality recovered about 2c per pound from Tuesday's closing rates; medium qualities sympathized to some extent. EGGS—The receipts yesterday were 20,328 cases. Arrivals continued heavy and offerings were far beyond needs; but the market got considerable support from the West, where prices are relatively high. Much of the delayed stock is under shippers' limits, which takes it practically off the market. The tone was irregular, but trading is fairly covered by inexhaustive quotations, excepting in white eggs, of which there is large accumulation. HIS POCKET TELLS WHO OWNS CAR LINE

Motorman Knows It's a Crosstown Car When It Crosses, Estimate Board Is Told.

Cornelius M. Sheehan, Deputy Water Commissioner, who as a member of the transit committee of the Allied Board in Brooklyn investigated the various companies making up the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, edified the members of the Board of Estimate at the continuation of the traction inquiry in City Hall yesterday with a recital of his adventures while seeking evidence. He was called as a witness by Mayor Hylan, who said he thought the other members of the board ought to know something about the surface lines in Brooklyn.

Despite the withdrawal of the application for relief by Lindley M. Garrison, receiver for the B. R. T., at the direction of Federal Judge Mayer, the Board of Estimate decided to go ahead with its investigation of this system. Members of the board pointed out that the receiver's action had no bearing on the inquiry as outlined in the resolution empowering it.

Mr. Sheehan began by telling of some of the facts he found about the transfer system of the B. R. T. For instance, he said, there were two lines, the Crosstown, alleged to be operated by the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, and the Crosstown-Hicks Street, operated by the Nassau Electric Railroad Company, which were different only in that one turned off at Hicks Street instead of Montague Street. Mr. Sheehan told of what happened on a trip he made as follows:

"I waited at the Greenpoint car barn until an open car marked 'Crosstown Hicks' came in. I got on the car, paid my fare and asked for a transfer. I was handed by the conductor, who put his hand in his right-hand pants pocket, a transfer marked 'Brooklyn City Railroad,' which would have transferred me to any of the Brooklyn City lines. I objected and said I wanted a transfer to the Crosstown Hicks.

What the Motorman Knew.

"After considerable discussion with the conductor he appealed to the motorman to know whether it was a crosstown car, and the motorman said, 'How the hell do I know till we cross?'

"And he turned off on Atlantic Avenue. So the conductor then put his hand in his left-hand pocket and gave me a Nassau Electric transfer. If the conductor put his hand in his right-hand pocket to give you a transfer he was an employe of the Brooklyn City Railroad; if he put his hand in his left-hand pocket he was an employe of the Nassau Electric Railroad.

"The satire of that can be better understood if you take a trip down to Coney Island on a Reid Avenue car. It starts in a subway owned by the City of New York, leased to the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company, and trackage rights have been let to the Brooklyn, Queens County & Suburban Railroad. Queens County & Suburban Railroad, under the same conditions, where you turn on to the track of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, leased to the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company, trackage rights having been let to the Brooklyn, Queens County & Suburban.

"You go for one block to Utica Avenue, where you turn on to the tracks of the Atlantic Avenue Railroad Company, leased to the Brooklyn, Queens County & Suburban Railroad and run as far as Church Avenue, where you turn on to the tracks of the Nassau Electric Railroad Company, trackage rights having been let to the Brooklyn, Queens County & Suburban.

"You continue through as far as Gravesend Avenue, where you turn on to the tracks of the South Brooklyn Railroad Company.

Ownership of Car Shifts.

"By a trick of the imagination and a fiction of law the car becomes for the time being the property of the South Brooklyn Railroad Company, and the motorman and conductor become the employes of the South Brooklyn Railroad Company. The franchise for this company was given to the South Brooklyn Railroad Company and terminal company, acquired by a foreclosure by the Prospect Park & Coney Island Railroad Company, leased to the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company for ninety-nine years, and assigned March 1, 1907, to the South Brooklyn Railroad Company. This company does not own a single passenger car and has no conductors or motormen hired by that company for the operation of passenger cars.

"The wheels of the car upon which you ride are marked 'Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company.' The sides of the car are marked 'Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.' The ends of the car are marked 'Transit Development Company.' The motormen and conductors wear the badge of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, and the juice is supplied by the Transit Development Company.

"How many pockets do these conductors have in their pants?" William J. Flynn, Acting Borough President of the Bronx, wanted to know.

"I can't answer that," the witness replied, "but I can tell you a lot of other interesting things. I might call the attention of the board to the fact that the B. R. T. wants the city to recognize them as one company in the appointment of inspectors despite the fact that they represent to the public that the system is operated by different companies."

The opening of the hearing yesterday was marked by a heated discussion between Borough President Henry H. Curran of Manhattan and Borough President Edward Riegelman of Brooklyn over the employment of a shorthand reporter to take down the testimony.

"Somebody has come to you and you are trying to make some kind of political advantage out of it," finally said Mr. Riegelman. "As the Mayor says, any kind of cheap stuff appeals to you."

The hearing will be continued next Wednesday morning.

Mayor Hylan yesterday sent telegrams to Speaker Sweet, the majority and minority leaders in the Senate and Assembly and members of the Judiciary Committee, urging that a public hearing be given on the Jenks increased fare bills.

Regarding the protest meeting against the Jenks bill to be held in Cooper Union tonight, the Mayor said:

"These bills are designed to give the traction companies increased car fares and are in effect the same as the notorious Carson-Martin bill that was defeated by such a narrow margin at the last session of the Legislature after the expenditure by Senator Thompson of the existence of a $500,000 traction bribery fund. The Jenks bill, it has been estimated, will take between $65,000,000 and $100,000,000 out of the pockets of the taxpayers of New York City.

"It seems to me a colossal piece of impertinence that any effort should be made to jam such bills through the Legislature at this time, while the Board of Estimate and Apportionment is still holding public hearings on the question of whether or not the traction companies are entitled to increased fares. The traction companies evidently feel that they have made a bad case before the Board of Estimate and that the Legislature is their last hope.

"These Jenks bills should be defeated, and the question of increased fares should be left where it belongs, with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the body which made the contracts with the railway companies.

"I hope to see a large representation of taxpayers present at the Cooper Union meeting tomorrow night. A public hearing will be held in Albany on Tuesday next on these bills."

BENSON ASKS ABOUT A STEEL 'BOYCOTT'

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Admiral W. S. Benson, Chairman of the Shipping Board, asked two subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation today if they intended to discriminate against the American Merchant Marine, including Shipping Board vessels, by using ships of other nations to convey steel cargoes out of Pacific coast ports.

The United States Steel Products Company and the Illinois Steel Corporation, both of whom have offices at 30 Church Street, New York, are alleged to have issued instructions to their agents to decline to book export steel on vessels the operators of which cannot produce through bills of lading with ocean rates omitted.

The Railroad bill, enacted last February, under which the railroads were returned to private ownership, carried a provision that all rail carriers issuing through bills of lading for export freight moving on American registered vessels must name in such bills of lading the charges, both by rail and water.

Telegrams sent today by Admiral Benson to the two steel companies follow:

"Understand you will book no more export business via Pacific coast with any water carrier which cannot produce through bills of lading with ocean rates omitted. In this connection see your telegram of Feb. 6, signed Bentley, addressed Spens, U. S. Railway Administration, Washington.

"Paragraph 4, Section 25, Transportation act, 1920, makes it mandatory upon all carriers issuing through bills of lading for export freight moving via American registered vessels to name in such bills of lading both the rail and the water rate. This mandate applies to all American vessels operating from either Atlantic or Pacific ports, but does not apply with regard to foreign vessels.

"Is it your purpose to discriminate against American vessels, inclusive of Shipping Board ships, in favor of foreign ships, or will you, under the circumstances, withdraw the instructions? Please reply by wire."

Operators of American Shipping Board ships are led to believe that freight brokers controlling enormous quantities of export freight contemplate following the example of the United States Steel Corporation. With American ships eliminated, the only ships available for this export movement are the ships of Great Britain and Japan.

MORE BRITISH GOLD HERE.

Carmania Brings $9,800,000, Fourth Shipment Since March 15.

The Cunarder Carmania arrived last night from Liverpool with seventeen tons of gold bullion, amounting to $9,800,000, which is the fourth consignment of gold for J. P. Morgan & Co., since March 15, in payment by the British Treasury of war loans in the United States and South America. The liner anchored at the Quarantine station last night.

One of the passengers is Sir William Wiseman, financial agent for the British Government during the war, who comes on a special mission for the Foreign Office. Another passenger is Major Evelyn Wrench, who is bringing over $6,000, the contribution from the Overseas Fund in England toward a monument in New York or Washington in memory of the 375 men of the Dover Mine Sweeping and Drifting Patrol which did such heroic work in the war.

HUGHES TO DEFEND MINERS.

Charles Evans Hughes has been retained as chief counsel for forty-three officials of the United Mine Workers of America now under indictment in the Indianapolis Federal Courts for conspiracy with soft coal operators to raise the price of coal.

CLOTHIERS IN LARGE DOWNTOWN LEASE

FOR A 100-YEAR TERM

Important commercial leases were closed yesterday involving valuable properties in the downtown section. Weber & Heilbroner, clothiers and furnishers, leased for a period of almost 100 years the valuable plot owned by George Ehret at the northeast corner of Nassau and John Streets. This property, which has a frontage on Nassau Street of 100 feet and on John Street of 80 feet, is at present occupied by seven buildings that were erected about the time of the civil war and it is Weber & Heilbroner's intention when they acquire possession on May 1, 1921, to tear them down and improve the site with a modern office building, in which they themselves will occupy a considerable amount of space. Just how high the new structure will be will depend upon building conditions next year.

The deal was negotiated by Manning & Trunk for the United Cigar Stores Company, who have held a lease on the property for several years. Weber & Heilbroner now have a branch at Maiden Lane and Nassau Street in the property acquired by the Lawyers Mortgage Company for their new building. The abandonment of this store to make room for the building operation encourages them to carry out a plan that they have had in mind for some time to establish in the immediate neighborhood one of their largest clothing and furnishing stores.

This is the third large property that Weber & Heilbroner have taken within the last six months. The one on Fulton Street in Brooklyn will be open for business in June and the one on Broad Street, Newark, will be open about Oct. 1. This is the second large John Street deal closed by Manning & Trunk this year, as they recently sold to the Exchange Buffet Corporation 17 to 23 John Street, a plot of more than 10,000 square feet.

L. Tanenbaum Strauss & Co. leased for a long term of years for the 255 Fifth Avenue Company the store and basement in the new building being erected at 253-257 Fifth Avenue to Traub, Lewis & Co., importers of veilings and nettings. This is the second large concern in this line locating in this vicinity, E. & Z. Van Raalte having leased space in the new building a block to the north.

George R. Read & Co. with Charles B. Walker leased to the Sonora Phonograph Corporation the entire four floors of 15 Warren Street; the lease is for a long term of years.

Pease & Elliman leased for the National Association Building Corporation, of which Judson S. Todd is President, a large amount of space in 19-31 West Forty-third Street to Pettigrew & Meyer.

The Rialto Luggage Company leased for a long term from Feingold & Gold the store and basement at 220 West Forty-second Street. Lewis L. Rosenthal Company was the broker.

NEW BANKING LEASES.

Foreign Institutions Take Large Downtown Office Space.

George R. Read & Co. have leased the ground floor of the Liberty Street front of the Singer Building, containing over 4,000 square feet and formerly occupied by the United States Shipping Board, to the New York Branch of the Banco Nacional Ultramarino, Ltd. (National Overseas Bank) of Lisbon, Portugal, and have also secured a renewal of the lease on these premises for the bank from the Singer Sewing Machine Company for a long term of years.

This is the first branch to be opened in North America by this bank, which has over sixty branches in various parts of the world and is one of the largest of the European banks. Its total deposits are over $374,000,000 and its capital and surplus considerably over $100,000,000.

This bank has conducted an international banking business for fifty-six years, having been established in 1864.

No Broadway Block Deal.

Lucius H. Beers, attorney for the estate of Amos F. Eno, which owns the greater portion of the block bounded by Broadway, Seventh Avenue, Fifty-second and Fifty-third Streets, denied last night the report which was current in real estate circles that a theatrical syndicate had leased or bought the block for a big improvement.

The Iceland Skating Rink covers a portion of the site. Mr. Beers said that the lease which these interests now hold has been renewed for one year, which was the only new development in connection with the property.

Downing Street Property Resold.

The Charles F. Noyes Company resold for the Globe-Wernicke Company 49 and 51 Downing Street, a four-story stable on a plot 39.6 by 90. The premises were purchased by August Costa, who will occupy. The property was valued at $50,000 and was sold to the Globe-Wernicke Company through the same brokers a few months ago. It was resold only because of the expansion of the Globe-Wernicke Company's business, making it necessary for them to secure larger garage premises.

$150,000 Washington Place Sale.

The Bradford estate sold to Benjamin Menschel the eight-story fireproof store and loft building at 21 Washington Place, northeast corner of Greene Street, on a lot fronting 25 feet on the place and 100 feet on the street. The property was held at $150,000 and had been in the possession of the selling family since 1853. All of the leases on the property will have expired by next February. Recently Mr. Menschel purchased the former Hotel Earlington at 49-55 West Twenty-seventh Street, every structure occupied during the war by the War Camp Community. It occupies a plot 100 by 100 adjoining the northeast corner of Sixth Avenue.

PRIVATE HOUSE SALES.

Buyers for Occupancy Feature in Demand.

The Ruland & Whiting-Benjamin Corporation sold for Dr. Dyer Byard the four-story dwelling 155 East Seventieth Street to a client for occupancy.

L. J. Phillips & Co. sold for Mrs. E. P. Migel to a client for occupancy the northwest corner of West End Avenue and Ninetieth Street, a five-story American basement dwelling, on lot 32 by 40, known as 621 West End Avenue. The house was free and clear of mortgage and sold for all cash.

Pease & Elliman sold for H. H. Neuberger to a client for occupancy the four-story 20-foot dwelling at 55 East Seventy-fourth Street, between Park and Madison Avenues.

Duff & Brown Co. sold for Margaret Kelly 430 Convent Avenue, a three-story dwelling, on a lot 16.5 by 75. Cross & Brown Co. represented the buyer.

John S. Mulgrew purchased from Herman Levy the four-story dwelling, 18 by 102.2, at 56 East Seventy-fifth Street, through William B. May & Co.

Samuel Krulewitch sold to Irving Daubert 79 West 118th Street, a three-story house 20 by 100. The broker was Benjamin Bernstein.

Brown-Wheelock Company sold for Mrs. Katherine K. Rhoades 102 East Thirty-fifth Street, an English basement private house, 16 by 98.9.

Ames & Co., in conjunction with Pepe & Bro., sold the three-story dwelling at 74 West Twelfth Street, on lot 19.3 by 103.3, to L. A. Schelling.

Frederick Zittel & Sons, in conjunction with Mrs. E. L. Landon, resold for S. Solomon 28 West Eighty-seventh Street, a four-story dwelling, on lot 20 by 102.2, to the tenant.

Bronx Sales.

The North County Development Company sold to a client of Williamson & Bryan the five-story apartment house on a plot 25 by 118 at 1,522 Washington Avenue.

O'Reilly & Dahn sold for Anna Maurer to a client 1,350 Ogden Avenue, a five-story new law apartment on a plot 89 by 100. The property was held at $150,000.

Cahn & Cahn bought 248 East 198th Street from Michael Leahy, a two-story two-family frame dwelling on a lot 25 by 100. George Janss was the broker.

Madison Avenue Deal.

The Leak Realty Company sold to the Stephen Realty Company, Milton M. Dryfoos, President, the five and six story buildings, on lot 22 by 100, at 413 Madison Avenue, and 29½ East Forty-eighth Street, northeast corner of those thoroughfares. It is the intention of the new owner to remodel the property for business use and have it ready for occupancy by Oct. 1. The transaction, which included the purchase of existing leases on the buildings, was negotiated by Herbert Baum.

Denies Harlem Deal.

Sylvester L. Brush denies that an option has been given to purchase the group of twelve buildings in the southwest corner of 128th Street and Lenox Avenue.

WILL PAY HIGH RENTAL.

A new high rental mark for inside street lots in the Fifth Avenue section will be established when the old four-story house at 3 West Forty-sixth Street, on a lot with a twenty-five foot frontage, is taken over by J. M. Giddings & Co. Negotiations have practically been completed by Pell & Tibbett, brokers, for the leasing of this property for a term of twenty-one years with renewals privilege at a net rental of $16,000 a year. The property is owned by the estate of Harry F. Morse. It will be used as an addition to the Giddings Building at 564 to 568 Fifth Avenue, which it abuts.

It is understood that sketches for the conversion of the property are being worked out by Warren & Wetmore. Immediately east of it is the former residence property, now under occupancy, of Thorley, the florist, which the shoe concern of I. Miller & Co. recently leased at the record rate of $80,000 net per annum from Elmer E. Smathers as the site of a twelve-story business structure for their occupancy. The Miller firm was recently reported to have leased the Morse house for a similar period at $15,000 a year, but this deal was not closed.

Other Manhattan Sales.

MY HOME

is big enough for 6 families besides my own.

Realizing the demand for suitable living quarters at a fair rental, I recently purchased a beautiful modern, private dwelling in a most superb location, overlooking Charles M. Schwab's mansion at Riverside Drive and 74th St.

I am going to make the house all over and wish to make long-term leases with financially responsible and desirable individuals. Each tenant, if accepted by me, will be able to carry out his own idea. This will mean two or more rooms, gas and electricity services; baths and open fireplaces.

Rentals will be based not upon what I can force some one to pay, but what is fair and just.

PRICES OF COLLARS TO BE INVESTIGATED

BUTCHER CAUSES PROTEST

Has Bought Two Apartment Houses with His Profits an Indignant Consumer Writes.

Members of the "Flying Squadron" of the Department of Justice said yesterday that they were disappointed by the character and number of complaints of profiteering received from the public and would begin today to work along new lines. They will continue to invite complaints, but complainants are asked to be more explicit and to sign their names to all communications as a guarantee of good faith.

Beginning this morning haberdashery shops will be a particular object of investigation. Especial attention will be paid to the price of collars, which it is said, has risen out of all proportion to the advance in the wholesale price. Collars that formerly cost 12½ cents each at retail now cost 25 cents each.

"It seems absurd to give names of profiteers because virtually every storekeeper, particularly in congested neighborhoods where many poor families reside, openly flaunts his exorbitant demands for his wares."

The writer, however, does give a list of places he alleges are profiteering. About 200 complaints have been received in less than a week, and all are receiving attention.

Two letters were received yesterday relative to the price of coal at New Rochelle. One man said he was charged $18.50 a ton, and another said he had to pay $12.95. The agents considered the prices excessive, and further inquiry will be made. Ice, it was reported from New Rochelle and Pelham Manor, has gone up to 10 cents a hundred.

One writer complains because a butcher has made enough profit out of his business to buy two apartment houses. "I am glad that I don't have to live in one of his houses, judging from the prices he asks for meat," the writer says.

A complaint was received yesterday against a Fifth Avenue dealer for charging $225 for a fur coat that, it was asserted, was not worth more than $100. The letter from the young woman says:

"Two months ago I bought a fur coat for $225. It is only rabbit skin, and I've learned since that I paid $125 too much for it. Besides being cheated in the price, it is not wearing. Although I have only worn it a few times the collar and cuffs are all curled up, and the skins are torn across the shoulder. It looks almost too shabby to wear. The dealer told me when I bought it I would get at least three years' wear out of it, and that if I was not satisfied with it he would buy it back from me.

"I went in to see him last Friday and reminded him of the above statement, asking him to take it back and take out for the wear I've given it, but he would not. He merely offered to mend the rent in the back and take the kink out of the collar and cuffs. I bought it at what I thought was a reliable Fifth Avenue shop."

SHOPLIFTER GETS 60 DAYS.

Woman Who Concealed Her Name Proves to be a Professional.

"The little old lady of the Tombs Prison," who had refused to give her pedigree when arraigned several days ago on a charge of shoplifting, and who had aroused the interest of welfare workers by declaring she would go to prison before disgracing her family and the memory of her soldier son, who died in France, was identified yesterday as Mrs. Helen Coulson of Toronto, Canada, a professional shoplifter. The justices in Special Sessions then sentenced her to sixty days in the Workhouse.

Miss Mary Mangin, a probation officer, told the court that her investigation of the case, which included a record of Mrs. Coulson from the Canadian authorities, showed the Mrs. Coulson had served a term for shoplifting in the Mercer Reformatory at Toronto, and that she had been a go-between with ashe women in thefts in department stores there. Mrs. Coulson, who is 64 years old, a widow, did lose her son in France, as she said, and she is in receipt of a pension from the Canadian Government.

COMBINE FOR FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS

COMMITTEE TO BE NAMED

Occupational Training for Girls and Women to be Extended—Will Improve Home Conditions.

The pooling of intelligence, experience and equipment by all the organizations fighting tuberculosis or conducting after-care in this city, is part of the pretentious program of the newly-formed Associated Tuberculosis Auxiliaries which will carry on an intensive educational campaign, make a survey of the city and establish auxiliaries in every existing clinic. These were some of the things outlined yesterday at a meeting of the auxiliaries in the Academy of Medicine in West Forty-third Street to arouse interest in the new movement and obtain volunteers for the survey and clinical work.

Dr. T. M. Lloyd, Vice Chairman of the auxiliaries in the Brooklyn district, presided. The speakers were Dr. James Alexander Miller, who talked on "Auxiliaries and the Clinics"; Dr. V. Nessen, Assistant Director of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases of the Health Department, on "Auxiliaries and the Health Department"; Fred P. Pratt, "The Need of Auxiliaries in Brooklyn"; Fred B. Stein, "Will New York Accept Its Opportunity?" and Dr. John S. Billings, Director of the New York Tuberculosis Association, on "The Future of the Auxiliary."

The speakers dwelt upon the ultimate good that would come when the work of all the organizations was co-ordinated and duplication of effort had disappeared and a standardization of methods both in the handling of cases and in after-care. This unification, it was announced, would be brought about through a committee of representatives from each tuberculosis organization. This committee is to be headed by a man of executive ability rather than a knowledge of tuberculosis. A report that Henry P. Davison would be asked to head the new committee could not be confirmed. Mr. Davison is now in Geneva attending the International Red Cross Conference.

Dr. Billings summed up some of the things the auxiliaries plan to do. "First," he said, "an auxiliary should be established for every one of the thirty clinics of the Association of Tuberculosis Clinics. This is self-evident.

"Second, the experience of the various auxiliaries should be drawn on for information as to the best methods of establishing and conducting auxiliaries. Then, the splendid work already done by some auxiliaries along the lines of occupational training for girls and women in the form of sewing, cooking and other classes, should be widely extended.

"Therapeutic training as done in some of the clinics of the Department of Health, by means of posture and calisthenic classes among the children, is of very great value, and the work should be standardized and the way made easy for other auxiliaries to work along the same lines.

"If we are ever to wipe out tuberculosis in our city, it will be through the children and not by curing them of tuberculosis, but preventing their getting it. This can be accomplished by improving the home conditions, by keeping the children away from the sick person, by improving the general health of the children through better food, exercise, fresh air and sunlight; by having the children examined at frequent intervals to detect the first signs of a beginning tuberculosis; by sending them to fresh air schools. All such work offers a splendid opportunity to the auxiliaries."

Dances Net $17,000 for Smith Fund

It was announced yesterday by those in charge of the Smith College drive, which is seeking a fund of $4,000,000 to increase Faculty salaries, that at the "play dances" given by Ruth Cramer and Janet Jackson at the Fiton Theatre Tuesday afternoon $17,000 was raised for the fund.

"Like a Mighty Army Moves The Church of God"

THE army that stands still is really retreating. The Master's command was a forward command, "Go ye into all the World."

Out of the war the churches emerged with a new sense of the urgency of that command.

"We must move forward all along the line," they said, and each denomination planned its own "Forward Movement" to deepen the spiritual life of its members and equip itself with money and power.

Then came the greater thought, "It is not enough for us to go forward. We must be sure that there is no duplication of effort; that cooperation prevails; that every man and dollar does its utmost in service.

So the Interchurch World Movement was formed—a clearing house through which thirty denominations without sacrificing their identity in any way—can cooperate in the service of Jesus Christ.

FOR MORE than a year trained experts have been at work making a scientific survey of the whole world, and of America county by county.

The churches, for the first time in their history, have the full facts.

They know where America is overchurched and where underchurched.

They know exactly how they can cooperate in the foreign mission fields to produce the largest results in international education, international health and international good-will.

No business man can study that survey without being impressed by the accuracy and courage with which the task has been approached.

ON THE basis of the survey, the cooperating denominations will unite in a simultaneous financial campaign in the week of April 25th.

The amounts asked for are large in the aggregate; they are small when divided among the church members of the nation—smaller still when you count the whole number of men and women who love America.

The average contribution to the church today is less than three cents per member per day. Think of it. Yet if each person who loves and believes in America will increase his contribution by only a few dollars, the whole amount will be easily subscribed.

Will you do your share for a better America and a better world? Your chance to help is coming in the week of April 25th.
